How to GET WELL When SICK, and How to KEEP Well When Once in Health, are Questions of VITAL IMPORTANCE.

Millions of Dollars Have Been Expended to Educate Men in the Divine Art of Healing, While Millions of People Are Today Dragging Out a Miserable Existence in Consequence of Sickness and Disease Caused by the Violations of Nature's Laws.

WHAT IS MAGNETON?

THE MAGNETON APPLIANCES are adapted to different parts of the body, each garment containing a series of powerful permanent magnets encased in waterproof lining, and covered similar to ordinary underclothing.

The great secret of their success in curing all diseases lies in the molecular changes produced by the action of the magnets upon the ferric atoms always present in the blood and upon the nerve fluids, ramifying from the medulla oblongata over and through all the nerve tissues, thus producing that magnetic condition of the blood and nerves necessary to perfect health.

The application of a series of magnetic currents alters the molecular condition of the soft iron in the blood, and converts each atom into a series of magnets, whenever and wherever such iron particles pass within the area of attraction of the magnets in the garments, and in the same manner acts upon the nerve fluids.

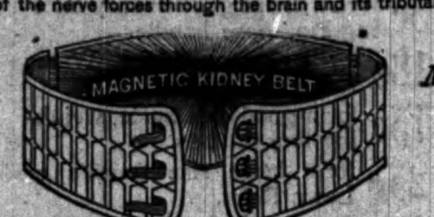
There are thousands of persons who possess sufficient magnetism to magnetize the blood of an invalid and produce perfect health, and it is upon the same principle that these garments effect their purpose. The effect is the same, differing only in degree, there being in the garment a constant application, whereas in manipulation it is only intermittent.

It is the absence of magnetism in the human system that causes most of the "ills that flesh is heir to."

The MAGNETON system is essentially a nerve cure, and there is no malady but must succumb to its influence, although in some instances may take as many months to effect a change as it does hours in other cases.

The elimination of disease is by the action of the nerve forces through the brain and its tributary channels.

A Valuable Discovery for Supplying Magnetism to the Human System



Magnetism Utilized as Never Before for Healing the Sick.

THIS MAGNETIC BELT IS WARRANTED TO CURE

(Or Money Refunded) the following Diseases Without Medicine:

Pains in the back, hips, head, or limbs, nervous debility, lumbago, general debility, rheumatism, paralysis, neuralgia, sciatica, diseases of the kidneys, spinal diseases, torpid liver, gout, asthma, heart disease, dyspepsia, constipation, erysipelas, indigestion, hernia or rupture, catarrh, piles, epilepsy, dumb ague, etc.

Whenever any debility occurs, from whatever cause, the continuous stream of Magnetism permeating through the parts must restore them to healthy action. There is no mistake about this appliance.

Price of Belt with Magnetic Insoles, $10. Sent by express, C. O. D., or on receipt of price. In ordering send measure of waist and size of shoe usually worn. Remittance can be made in currency, sent in letter at our risk.

We positively assert that our Magnetic Belt and insoles will effect what we claim, and we offer to refund money when they fail to do all we claim, after a fair trial.

In placing the MAGNETON before the people of this country we bring forward testimonials from eminent gentlemen who have used our Magnetic Appliances, and the publication of these names gives every one an opportunity of writing to these gentlemen for proof of our statements. For conclusive evidence of the effects of our Magnetic Appliances we furnish, on application at our office, a list of reliable citizens, residents of Chicago, who have thoroughly tested the MAGNETON, and whom we are at liberty to refer at any time. It is not our purpose to publish long lists of testimonials. To the sick and afflicted we offer positive relief and cure! Before experimenting with our appliances we expect careful investigation and inquiry. We will furnish the names and addresses of hundreds of reliable people who have been cured by wearing our Magneton Appliances, and it is very easy for all to convince themselves of the curative value of the Magneton, as we refer to the most estimable ladies and gentlemen of our own city for proof of all we publish.

A FEW TESTIMONIALS.

CHICAGO TESTIMONIALS.

F. E. Morse, Agent and Attorney at Chicago for the E. N. Welch Manufacturing Company and Welch, Spring & Co., Clock Manufacturers, No. 60 Washington-st., Chicago, Dec. 16, 1882—Dear Sir: I understand that yourself and wife are now and have been using the garments manufactured by the Magneton Appliance Company. Is this so? If so, what is your opinion of them? Yours truly, A. P. CONNOLLY, of The Inter Ocean.

So strongly impressed am I of their curative and restorative properties that, could I not obtain others, our Appliances could not be purchased for money. Yours respectfully, F. E. MORSE, 60 Washington.

Chicago, Dec. 16, 1882.

The above testimonial was obtained in order to answer the many inquiries sent The Inter Ocean Company regarding the virtues of our Magnetic Garments. We can give thousands upon thousands of names who will indorse the above testimonial.

Rheumatic Pain Relieved.

Office of W. C. Hickox & Co., General Western Agents for the Improved Cincinnati Safe and Lock Co.'s Safes, Sargent and Yale Time Locks, 85 Washington-st., Chicago, March 16, 1883.—The Magneton Appliance Co., 218 State-st.—Gentlemen: After squandering hundreds of dollars trying to obtain relief from rheumatism, from which I had been suffering for some months, I was induced to try one of your Magnetic Jackets and Insoles, and can say I am free from pain. No money would induce me to part with it if unable to get another. Yours truly, W. C. HICKOX.

Magneton vs. Hot Springs.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 24, 1883.—To Whom It May Concern: Up to within four months ago I have spent upwards of $1,500 in trying to cure myself of rheumatism. I have made trips to the Hot Springs and different resorts throughout the country, all of which furnished me no relief. Four months ago I purchased a Belt, Lung Protector, and Insoles from the Magneton Appliance Company, and have not had any rheumatism since wearing the appliances, which is the first time in five years I have been free from it. Yours truly, J. P. PUTNAM, Conductor I. C. R. R.

P. S.—Mr. Putnam is conductor on the Illinois Central Railroad, which position he has filled the past fifteen years.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 7, 1883.—MAGNETON APPLIANCE CO., CHICAGO, ILL.—Gentlemen: I am prompted to make this public acknowledgment of the wonderful merits and curative properties of your Magnetic Belt from the great relief and benefit obtained by using one for the past year. If any class of people suffer from kidney disease it is railroad engineers, occasioned by the continual jar of the engine. I have suffered many years with kidney and liver disease, rheumatism, and great exhaustion and nervousness. Now I feel like a new man, so great is the change in my health. I doctored with some of the best physicians during those years, who dosed and drugged but did not cure me, but I am free to state that your Magnetic Belt is the best and cheapest curative agent in America. I feel like a new being in every respect, and I shall use my influence in behalf of your admirable Appliances. I wish every railroad engineer in America that is troubled as I have been would try your Belt. Yours truly, H. L. SEAVER, Engineer Illinois Central R. R. Residence, 1229 Indiana-av.

The above testimonials are but one of a thousand as to the wonderful results derived from wearing the Magneton. For confirmation of this ask any of your friends (who are now wearing the "Magneton" Garments) among the following names:

CONSTIPATION.—Our Belt will cure this complaint, and correct all morbid conditions of the bowels in a few days' time; however incredible this may seem it is true to the letter, and we can refer to one thousand persons who have been cured of this distressing morbid condition. The Belt sets up a vital action at once, which increases peristaltic action of the bowels, and causes natural, healthful evacuations daily. The Belt never fails to cure constipation of the bowels.

The above cut represents our Belt, containing nearly one hundred permanently charged magnets, and especially adapted to cases of nervous debility, loss of vitality, etc. Should you be thus afflicted, we say to you in all earnestness and truthfulness you should lose no time in arresting the deadly monster.

This Appliance imparts directly to the weakened parts a steady stream of magnetism, flowing through the weakened organs, and giving STRENGTH, VIGOR, and VITALITY to every organ of the whole system, soon restoring health, strength, and manhood. It operates equally as effectively in cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Paralysis.

WARRANTED.

TRY ONE.

TO THE LADIES: If you are afflicted with rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous exhaustion, dyspepsia, or with disease of the liver, kidneys, headache, or cold feet, swollen or weak ankles, or swollen feet, an Abdominal Belt and a pair of Magnetic Foot Batteries have no superior in the relief and cure of all these complaints. They carry a powerful magnetic force to the seat of the disease.

For lame back, weakness of the spine, incidental hemorrhage or flooding, and change of life, this is the best appliance and curative agent known.

Our Magnetic Supporters are pleasant to wear, and may be worn by all ages at all times, and in all conditions, WITHOUT POSSIBILITY OF ILL EFFECTS, and will positively cure any of the peculiar diseases to which females are subject. Failing to produce a perfect cure, the proprietors will REFUND THE MONEY paid for the treatment. If you have a sallow complexion, constant or intermittent headaches, backache, restlessness, loss of appetite, suppressions of monthly flow, or irregularities thereof, accompanied by headaches, nervousness, hysterics, and similar symptoms, our Belt will positively restore you to health. If you have a sensation of heat and throbbing in the back, frequent fainting spells, painful or scalding sensation in urinating, reddish or white deposits in urine, hot and dry skin, the Supporter will give immediate and lasting relief.

For all forms of female difficulties it is unsurpassed by anything before invented, both as a curative agent and as a source of power and vitalization.

Price of Belt with Magnetic Foot Batteries, $10. Sent by express C. O. D., with examination allowed, or by mail on receipt of price. In ordering send measure of waist and size of shoe. Remittances can be made in currency, in letter at our risk.

Kidney Trouble, Displacements, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Aching Bones, Numbness, Cold Feet and Limbs.

CONWAY, Iowa, May 29, 1883.—I have been afflicted over a dozen years with seemingly all the ills woman is heir to, and a Magnetic Abdominal Supporter, Mits and Insoles, worn less than one week, have given me entire relief from my sufferings, and better strength than any remedy I have ever tried. I can most cheerfully recommend them to ladies. MRS. E. DOCKSTADER.

Dyspepsia, Displacement, Constipation, Neuralgia, Deficient Circulation in Limbs and Feet.

BEDFORD, Iowa, June 5, 1883.—For the encouragement of ladies afflicted with chronic diseases, hitherto considered incurable, I take real pleasure in saying that Magnetic Appliances have proved invaluable to me, used for troubles dating back to girlhood. They have in five weeks been more effective than any and every other remedy I ever tried. Ladies will not regret trying them. MRS. ELIZA STEPHENS.

Each of the garments contain a powerful magnetic battery, the currents of which pass readily through any other clothing over which they may be placed, and, as they are not required to be worn next to the skin, they are always free from danger and difficulties inhering in all forms of electric belts, galvanic chains, bands, or discs. Thousands of persons today are rendered helpless, their sufferings brought about wholly by wearing such appliances. All such appliances can be known, as they are obliged to be recharged or cleaned daily with acids or vinegar.

Persons living at a distance, who cannot consult us in person, should give a clear statement of their difficulties by letter, and we will designate the kind and quality of Appliances required in each individual case, upon a guarantee to effect a permanent cure when possible, or the full amount paid will be refunded. Or any person ordering any of the above Appliances and are not perfectly satisfied with the results obtained after six months' trial can return them, and the full amount paid will be refunded.

We refer to the Chicago Daily Papers as regards our integrity to keep good our guarantee.

NOTE.—Send one dollar in postage-stamps or currency (in letter at our risk), with size of shoe usually worn, and try a pair of our Magnetic Insoles, and be convinced of the power residing in our Magnetic Appliances. Positively no cold feet where they are worn, or money refunded.

HOW TO OBTAIN THESE APPLIANCES.—Go to your druggist and ask for them. If they have not got them, write at once to the proprietors, inclosing the price in money, and they will be sent to you at once by mail, postpaid.

Send stamp for the "NEW DEPARTURE IN MEDICAL TREATMENT WITHOUT MEDICINE," with thousands of testimonials.

Dyspepsia, Displacement, Constipation, Efficient Circulation in Limbs, Aching Bones, Backache, Kidney Trouble.

CONWAY, Ia., June 27, 1883.—For the benefit of other ladies who have been afflicted as I have been from girlhood, I cheerfully state the almost incredible benefits derived from a Magnetic Abdominal Belt, Mit, and Insoles in one week's time. There is a great improvement in my kidney trouble, and growing better every day. My aches and pains are all gone. I have no more cold feet. There is an improvement in eyesight alone worth the price of the Appliances, to say nothing of my increased strength and freedom from those everlasting tired feelings. MRS. J. M. MOSER.

P. S.—Constipation very much better.

A Bed-Ridden Invalid.

AFTON, Ia., Nov. 22, 1883.—For fourteen years I have been afflicted with constipation in its worst form, severe pains in head, heart, and arms. My arm has been so weak for several years I could not put my clothing on alone. I also had weak back, indigestion, piles, cold feet, and general debility. No tongue can tell my suffering. Have been confined to my bed a good part of the time. One month ago I got an outfit of Magnetic Appliances, used them according to directions, and feel so much better in all my troubles that I now can dress myself. Have been entirely relieved of constipation, and believe I will soon recover my health. ELIZABETH BOLINGER.

Good for Babies.

Nov. 27, 1883.—My confidence in Magnetic Appliances, from a lengthy trial, is unbounded. I have lost three babies in succession by bad nursing, and this sad experience makes me prize the Appliances beyond words to express, because of their unexpected effect upon my present baby, whose health is the marvel of all who knew of my former misfortunes. I have taken no medicine since wearing them. Nervous mothers with fretful, troublesome babies will find them a capital investment. MRS. J. W. MOSER.

A Great Sufferer Testifies.

VALPARAISO, Ia., Dec. 14, '83.—Magnetic Appliance Co., Chicago, Ill.—GENTLEMEN: I am an old resident of Valparaiso, Porter County, Ind. Previous to a few months ago I had been a great sufferer with neuralgia in my lungs, heart, sciatica, and indeed all over me. A lady friend called on me and very kindly offered me the use of her Magnetic Vest to try its effects on me. I did not have it on but a few hours before the character of the pain was entirely changed. I at once ordered a vest from you, and have worn it since, and I have not had an attack since wearing it. I shall continue to wear the vest and insoles. Before using your appliances I could hardly walk, but I have walked more in the past few weeks than I have in twenty months before. You may know the confidence I have in your Appliances when I tell you I have purchased for my own family three vests, two belts, two friction mits, one sleeping cap, one office cap, and eight pairs of insoles, and no money could purchase mine if I could not replace them. Yours respectfully, MRS. M. E. BROWN.

I am fully acquainted with Mrs. Brown's statement, and know that it is every word true. J. V. HERVIOTT, M. D.

To the honest skeptic we submit the proposition that if we were humbugging the public we would not go to such pains and expense to publish the names and addresses of our victims. Ask them if our claims for Magnetic Appliances are not true.

Do not hesitate to order any of our Appliances that you desire (sent by express C. O. D. and return charges, with privilege of examination), and if not found as represented return them at our expense.

Our patrons are invariably our friends, and are among the most cultivated and genteel people. The enjoined names are given regardless of any opinion entertained of our Magnetic Garments, as we know full well that to wear them is to recommend them.

MILWAUKEE MATTERS.

The Romantic History of Miss Ella Wheeler's Courtship and Marriage.

An Important Meeting of the Officers of the Wisconsin National Guard.

Subscriptions for the Monument to the Catholic Victims of the Newhall Fire—Brief Notes.

THE WHEELER ROMANCE.

A POETESS' LOVE.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 3.—[Special.]—The social circles of this city and State have not recovered from the surprise incident to the fact that an Eastern man has come in, and, without asking the public's leave or making any public announcement of his intention, carried away as his bride Wisconsin's favorit poetess. Miss Wheeler's almost every movement for the last ten years has been chronicled so faithfully that this last act—that of marrying—without the newspapers finding out anything about it in advance is all the more the cause of surprise. And behind it all there is a pleasant romance as interesting as the fact of the marriage itself and sufficiently complete to fill the requirements of even a poetess' experience. At the time of the reunion of the Army of the Cumberland in this city, in the great crowd of strangers who happened to be here was Mr. Robert M. Wilcox, a wealthy and rising manufacturer from Connecticut. He had read much of Miss Wheeler's poetry, and much of the newspaper gossip concerning her, and had a strong desire to see her. It so happened that she was in the city at the time, having been invited to contribute a poem to the program incidental to the great reception tendered the veterans at the Exposition Building. She was pointed out to Mr. Wilcox, and, although he was not introduced, he conceived a strong liking for her. On his return home he wrote her a letter. It was a manly epistle, which interested her deeply. A pleasant correspondence followed, resulting in a meeting several months later. It proved a clear case of mutual love at the very first. Mr. Wilcox came West from time to time, and with each visit the attachment grew closer until an engagement ensued. It was arranged that the wedding should take place next September, to be followed by a trip to the West Indies. But Mr. Wilcox's home and business, away down in Connecticut, were too far away to allow of frequent visits, and, as there seemed to be no good reason to delay matters, the date of the wedding was changed to May 1. Mr. Wilcox owns property on the island off Connecticut where it is said that the famous pirate Kidd took the bride whom he stole from her New York lover; and, close beside the noted cave known as "Kidd's Punchbowl," a beautiful summer-house will be built for Mrs. Wilcox. There are several scores of young men in this State who are of opinion that Wilcox is only another Kidd. Miss Wheeler spent her early life in obscurity and comparative want. Her unremitting labors have served to make the life of her aged parents easier; and, now that she goes to a home of wealth and prospective happiness, the people of this State, who have not only admired but honored her, are glad that her days of privation are ended. Mr. Wilcox is a gentleman of fine culture, whose wide reading, travel, and experience with the world will be an aid to his wife's future literary work.

BOYS IN BLUE.

THE NATIONAL GUARD AND GRAND ARMY.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 3.—[Special.]—The meeting of National Guard officers at the Plankinton House this week was one of the most important and significant events in connection with the history of the military companies of Milwaukee. The State of Wisconsin has in the person of its Adjutant-General, C. P. Chapman, of Madison, one of the ablest military men connected with the National Guard of any State in the Union. Col. King, of Governor Rusk's staff, has few, if any, superiors in the country, as a tactician. He was Gen. Upton's trusted assistant in the work of compiling the accepted tactics, served many years in the army, and was for several years Professor of Military Tactics at the University of Wisconsin. Maj. Mower, the new commander of the Fourth Battalion, is a worthy associate of Chapman and King.

Col. Charles King has been attached to the editorial staff of the Sunday Telegraph, and will have charge of a new department of the paper devoted entirely to National Guard matters. The paper now has three soldier editors—Gen. Watrous, Maj. Mower, and Col. King—all of whom served with distinction in the army, and all of whom are now officers of the Wisconsin National Guard.

The first officer to report to Maj. Mowes after receiving Adjutant-General Chapman's order consolidating the local military companies into a battalion was Capt. Coogan, commanding the Sheridan Guard. He and his company are always at the front when any duty is to be done. The company now number ninety-three men rank and file.

Tomorrow the Robert Chivas Post of the Grand Army of the Republic and its friends, about 600 strong, will go to Chicago by special train to see the "Battle of Gettysburg."

The officers of the Fourth Battalion will hereafter have weekly meetings for instruction in the manual of the sword.

Capt. Francis Birchardt, commanding the Kosciusko Guard, is still at the Hot Springs, detained by ill-health.

The following notice, signed by Gen. E. S. Bragg, President, and Col. J. A. Watrous, Secretary, will be issued Monday:

Veterans of the Iron Brigade: The fourth annual reunion of the Iron Brigade Association will be held at Lancaster, Wis., Aug. 28, 1884, the twenty-second anniversary of the battle of Gainesville. Every member of the old brigade is earnestly invited to report at Lancaster as soon as the 27th, and to go prepared to have as good a time as we had at La Crosse last year.

THE LICENSE QUESTION.

POSITION OF THE SALOONKEEPERS.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 3.—[Special.]—None of the saloonkeepers have as yet secured their bonds preparatory to the taking out of licenses for the coming year, and it is probable that the decision of the City Attorney declaring that the saloonkeepers must take out such bonds will be fought in the courts. It is the opinion of some lawyers of prominence that the courts will not sustain Luscombe's decision, and to make a test case some saloonkeeper will probably take legal steps toward forcing the Mayor to issue him a license without the giving of bonds. The German papers take the grounds that the Mayor cannot compel the saloonkeepers to give bonds, as the charter gives the Common Council the right to say what rules shall govern the issuance of licenses.

MINOR MATTERS.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

H. H. Thiele's new comic opera "Amaryllis; or Mammon and Gammon," contain elements of popularity which will gain a place beside the works of composers of greater fame. The libretto is from the pen of Mr. H. B. Smith, of Chicago.

The subscription to the fund for the proposed monument to the memory of the Catholic victims of the Newhall House disaster have been closed, and the committee having the matter in charge will now proceed to select a design. The list of subscribers to the fund includes people of all denominations, and it is a noteworthy fact that some of the most liberal subscribers were Jews.

The Very Rev. A. Zeinnger, rector and Professor of Natural Philosophy and Chemistry at St. Francis Seminary, started this week for a four-months' trip in Europe. On the eve of his departure he was presented with an address by the students, expressive of kindly feelings and good wishes. Next week the Rev. Fathers Fagan, of Bay View, Fairbanks, of this city, and Keenan, of Fond du Lac, will start for Europe.

The latest announcement in social circles is the engagement and approaching marriage of Mr. Wakely T. Bull, a prominent and wealthy member of the firm of The J. I. Case Company of Racine, Wis., to Miss Jeannie A. Mower, sister of Maj. S. C. Mower, of the Sunday Telegraph, and step-daughter of Gen. H. C. Hobart, of Milwaukee. The wedding ceremony will take place early during the coming summer at St. James' Church.

The Board of Public Works this morning opened bids for building 200 feet of docking at the North Point Pumping-Works. But two bids were received. C. S. Brown's proposal was $10 per foot without filling and $9 per cord for 100 cubic feet for stone filling. C. H. Starke's bid was $11.75 for the former and $8.50 for the latter. Both proposals exceed the appropriation, and the board may decide to readvertise for proposals. The contract for building a section of pipe sewer on Tenth avenue and Walker street was today awarded to James Markey at $1.40 per lineal foot. John C. T. Brand was awarded the contract for doing similar work on Arlington place at $1.30 per foot.

DEMOCRATIC CHURCHMEN.

They Object to Their Pastor Accepting the Hospitality of a Republican.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 3.—[Special.]—A quarrel of long standing in which the vestry of the St. Phillips [Episcopal] Church was understood to be arrayed against Bishop Beckwith has just been ended by the removal of the Rev. R. C. Foute to San Francisco. The occasion was seized upon as opportune for electing what was understood to be the Bishop's ticket for the vestry, but the ticket was defeated by the old body. In looking about for a new rector the vestry pitched upon the Rev. J. G. Armstrong, rector of the Monumental Church in Richmond, Va., and at one time occupant of a pulpit in Missouri. When Mr. Armstrong made a trial visit to Atlanta he was entertained by ex-Gov. Bullock. Many of Bishop Beckwith's adherents, although invited to call on him, failed to do so. He has accepted the call to St. Phillips' at a good salary and will be in the city again the 14th inst. In connection with this second visit there is a big sensation. Mr. Armstrong's previous acceptance of courtesies from ex-Gov. Bullock was distasteful to the Democratic membership of the church. The Governor has invited Mr. Armstrong a second time to be his guest, and the invitation has been accepted. The churchmen of the Jeffersonian style declare that "this will never do." The question now is how to break up the visit to Bullock. The latest plan suggested is for the vestry to invite the new clergyman to be the official guest of their body, the belief being entertained that Gov. Bullock would retire his claims in that event. This plan, it is safe to say, will not be accepted by Gov. Bullock. He will entertain his guest royally, and the reverend gentleman will find his soup as temptingly flavored at the Governor's board as at the most Democratic table in the land.

JOLIET JOTTINGS.

Citizens Favor High License—The State Saengerfest—Robbery—Notes.

JOLIET, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—Believing the real interests of this city are at stake in the amount of license to be charged for saloon business the coming year the Citizens' Committee have called a meeting at the courthouse Monday evening to consider what means can be adopted to prevent the low-license members of the City Council from carrying into effect their cut-and-dried plan of reducing the $1,000 license. Lively times are expected at the first meeting of the new Council.

Joliet may well be proud of having secured this year the State Sängerfest, which will be held in this city June 22, 23, and 24. It will attract thousands here, and will doubtless eclipse in magnitude any of the musical festivals ever held in the State outside of Chicago. Among the participants, aside from the active members, there will be twenty-two societies from different parts of the State. There will be 400 voices in the grand chorus.

Alexander Oaks, Superintendent of one of the shoe departments at the prison, was robbed of his watch and chain by three footpads near the St. Nicholas Hotel last night. The crooks were captured at the Alton depot this morning.

Thomas R. Blair, for many years one of the most efficient keepers at the penitentiary, has resigned his position to enter the grocery firm of J. G. Patterson & Sons.

Two strangers hired a horse and buggy from McFadden's stable Wednesday which they failed to return. They were captured near the Indiana line, and are now in jail charged with stealing the rig.

I. R. Ashley, wife, and daughter have returned from a winter in Florida.

Bradford Leach, a brother of L. Leach, of this city, met his death at the hands of an insane farm laborer last week at La Prairie, Kas.

THE NOURMAHAL.

Launching of Astor's Steam Yacht—A Luxuriously Appointed Craft.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 3.—[Special.]—The Nourmahal, the largest steam yacht in the world, built for William Astor, of New York, at a cost of $300,000, was launched on the Delaware today in the presence of 2,000 spectators. The vessel was built for a pleasure trip round the world, and before midsummer will start with her owner for the Mediterranean. Her dimensions are: Length of deck, 233 feet; extreme breadth, 30 feet; depth, 18. The Nourmahal's engines will be 1,400 horse-power, greater in proportion to her size than those of the Alaska, Oregon, and City of Rome, the fleetest steamships afloat. Her cabin is finished in solid mahogany, tapestry, and velvet, and each stateroom is provided with book-shelves, a secretary, and hot and cold water baths. The couches are unusually wide, and are lined with satin. She will carry at sea about 150 tons of coal, twenty-five tons of ice, and 2,500 gallons of fresh water. The house on deck will be finished in mahogany in Queen Anne style, with seats for lounging or observation. The quarters for the officers and men will be spacious and handsomely fitted and finished. There will be room for ten seamen and ten firemen. In speed the Nourmahal is expected to leave far behind Jay Gould's yacht, the Atalanta, which was built on the Delaware by a rival shipbuilder last summer. She will be bark-rigged and will carry about 7,000 square feet of canvas. The christening today was performed by Mrs. N. R. Benson Jr., a lady high in social circles and an intimate friend of the Astors. The yacht will be ready for sea early in July.

SEEKING HOMES ON THE RED RIVER.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 3.—[Special.]—During the period from the middle of January to May 1 the Land Department of the Manitoba Railroad Company has received 8,000 letters of inquiry relating to lands in the great Red River Valley and in the Devil's Lake country. This number is three times greater than that of last year in the same months. The letters were almost exclusively from people in the United States. The majority indicated a purpose to move into the Northwest as soon as the circumstances of the writers would admit of their migrating. Many of them stated that after personal examination of other localities they are satisfied that the Northwest offers better inducements than any other part of the United States now open to settlement.

THE KENTUCKY ASYLUM TROUBLES.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 3.—[Special.]—The investigation by a legislative committee of the troubles between the Board of Commissioners and the Superintendent of the Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum situated here having resulted in the sustaining of the Superintendent in his office, the old members of the board, after officially carrying through several bills they desired paid, met in conclave and drew up a formal resolution of resignation to be forwarded to the Governor of the State. It declares that under the changed administration and their consequent inability to correct abuses they are unwilling longer to bear the responsibility or undertake to discharge the duties of Commissioners. This leaves only three Commissioners (lately appointed) in office.

TRANSFUSION OF BLOOD.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 3.—[Special.]—At the Homeopathic Hospital today the operation of the transfusion of blood for the relief of a case of consumption was performed. The patient is a Swede, 28 years of age. Two ounces of blood were drawn from a vein in the arm of a healthy Norwegian girl into a bowl placed in a dish of water heated to a temperature of 100°. A little salt was added, the blood being constantly stirred to prevent coagulation. It was then slowly transfused to the veins of the sick man, about one hour being required for the work. This evening the patient is materially better and has signs of a returning appetite.

WOMAN'S RIGHT TO PRACTICE LAW.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 3.—Judge Thayer today delivered an opinion in the Court of Common Pleas, No. 4, admitting Mrs. Carrie B. Kilgore to practice. Every other Common Pleas Court has refused her admission, although exceptional action was taken some time ago by the Orphans' Court, where the lady is a practitioner. Judge Arnold dissents from the opinion of his colleagues, Thayer and Elcock. The court took the ground that its action was sustained by common-law right, which the Legislature had not interfered with by statute.

FITZGERALD won the six days' walking match at New York yesterday. He walked 610 miles, making the best time on record. He left the track at 9 o'clock. Rowell, his principal competitor, left the track when he had completed his 602d mile.

THE Chicago produce markets were all stronger Saturday, with only light trading, except in wheat, which was a subject of good buying, and closed 2⅛ cents above Friday's latest prices. Corn closed ⅝ cent higher, oats 1⅛ cents higher, pork 20 cents higher, lard 5 cents higher, and meats 7½ cents higher. The shipments of the week exceeded the receipts by 870,000 bushels of wheat and 1,490,000 bushels of corn, but this includes grain loaded into vessels during the winter.

THE steamship Alaska, which is expected in New York this morning, will bring the members of the Siamese Embassy, who during their visit to this country will be the guests of the National Congress. Admiral Rogers will receive them.

THE Farmers' Union of High Bluffs, Manitoba, passed resolutions yesterday complaining of the action of the Dominion Government in their behalf and that "nothing short of free trade or secession will satisfy the people of Manitoba." It is clear that matters are becoming serious.

THE Rev. J. G. Armstrong, who has accepted the call to St. Philip's Episcopal Church at Atlanta, Ga., on a recent visit to that city dined with ex-Gov. Bullock, who is a Republican. This has given umbrage to the Democratic Trustees and members of St. Philip's, and there is trouble ahead.

UP to the present 2,594 licenses to sell whisky have been issued to Chicago saloon-keepers, against 595 licenses to sell beer and ale alone. The total receipts at the City Treasury from licenses have been $522,569, which is calculated will be about one-third of the city revenue from that source.

YESTERDAY the Nourmahal, the largest steam-yacht in the world, was launched in the Delaware at Philadelphia. The craft was built for Mr. William Astor, of New York, and is most magnificently appointed. Its deck is 232 feet long and thirty-two feet wide. Mr. Astor proposes to make a cruise around the world in it.

NOTWITHSTANDING the recent action of the Market Committee of the Board of Trade in taking into their own hands the issuing of market reports, the "bucket-shops" seem to flourish. Quotations are made in these places every minute, and matters go on as usual. The managers claim that the action of the Board of Trade has not interfered with them materially.

A SINGULAR operation for the cure of consumption was performed at the Minneapolis (Minn.) Homeopathic Hospital yesterday. A consumptive Swede, aged 28, had two ounces of blood from the arm of a healthy Norwegian girl poured into his veins. The patient grew somewhat stronger, and evinced desire for food. The result of the experiment is looked for with considerable interest.

FOREST fires have broken out in the mountain woodland districts of Clearfield, Lycoming, and Tioga Counties, Pennsylvania. Large tracts of valuable timber-land and many saw-mills have been destroyed. The Village of Brisbin has been reduced to ashes. Many valuable herds of cattle have perished. The losses mount up in the millions. Forest fires have also broken out among the Catskill and Shawangunk Mountains in New York State.

THERE were somewhat serious riots yesterday at Buffalo growing out of the employment by the boat lines and transportation companies of Italians to do their loading and unloading. The members of the 'Longshoremen's Union were the aggressors. They attacked the Italian quarter of the city and threatened to destroy the buildings of the companies. There were no casualties yesterday, but it is expected that the riots will be renewed. The union men are getting desperate.

THE NEW LONDON.

The Municipal bill for London has passed its first reading without a word of opposition from any quarter, and is therefore certain to mature into a law and go into operation, according to its own provisions, May 1, 1885. It will work a wonderful transformation. The "City" of London bears to the whole area known as London the relation of the core to the apple. If the First and Second Wards of Chicago were under a municipal government and the other wards were managed by town boards or vestries, and yet part of the municipal area, we should have a parallel to London. Its general division has always been London within the walls and London without, while the city proper—the portion confined within the ancient Roman wall—consists of an area of about 380 acres, with a population of 50,526, as taken by the night census. It is the business heart of London, the very centre of the restless, surging life of the great metropolis.

By the operation of the Municipal bill this centre, this little core, will be changed and no longer will claim the exclusive title of the City of London. All metropolitan London will claim that appellation—an immense area, containing 122 square miles of houses, 4,000,000 of people, and, as the London Spectator says, "the wealth of any five European Capitals, a London more populous than most provinces and richer than many nations." This vast area is to be divided into thirty-nine districts, each district having Councilors in proportion to its population and ratable value, who will be elected by the householders. The city—that is, the little core—is made an exception, and is assigned, owing to its great wealth and, as the Spectator rather sarcastically remarks, "to its exceptional emptiness of people," the right of seating thirty Councilors by statute. This Council will have all the ancient powers of the corporation itself, combined with the present powers of the Commission of Sewers, the School Board, and the Metropolitan Board of Works, whose principal duties comprise the control over the streets and building lines, the maintenance of the fire department and drainage, the regulation of gas-lighting, the care of parks and commons, and the enforcement of the Water, Tramways, Petroleum, Artisans' Dwellings, Contagious Diseases, and other acts. The powers of the Vestries also are assigned to it. In fact, it is a complete absorption of the powers of all these separate forms of government and administration with one municipal body, which will take not only all their powers but their property, debts, taxes, privileges, and a revenue estimated at $40,000,000 per annum. Besides this, the bill provides for the buying up of the gas and water companies, the control of the liquor-license system, the absorption of the School Board, the control of public vehicles, and the administration of the poor laws. Its authority is immense as well as its responsibilities, and it is expected that the men who will be elected to it will be men of first-rate ability and of higher positions than those who have served in the Vestries or District Boards. Upon this point the Spectator says:

> This is the central principle of the bill, which cannot be given up, and beside which everything else is a mere detail, liable to debate and to possible alteration from experience. London is organized by the bill into a whole, and provided with a living representative Council, which can tax it, and speak for it, and improve it, and be to the external world, it. The huge aggregate of atoms becomes an entity, a living, visible being; and for the first time since the days of Elizabeth there will be a London, conscious and separate, able to use its almost limitless resources, to give coherent expression to the voice of its multitudes, and to occupy the place in the world that naturally belongs to a city which is the centre of its commerce, the focus or receiving-room of its news, and the strong-room of its reserve capital. No statesman ever centralized the politics of a nation as the silent action of English safety, English continuity, and English fidelity to pecuniary obligations has centralized the trade of the world in London, where a rise in the rate of discount checks business in Shanghai, and stops bargains just about to be completed in Chicago and Calcutta. The grand city, the like of which has never been since Rome, even if De Quincey's view of Rome be true, from being dead is made alive, and we at least have no fear that its representative body will not be powerful enough or attractive enough to strong men, or sufficiently well watched by the world. There are fears of that kind, we know, but they are vain. The Municipal Council of London, its actions, its disputes, its devices, will be studied like any National Assembly, and will soon be seen to offer a new road to celebrity, a new ladder to those who hope to administer the State, a new Almoner to those who would gladly give their wealth to an organized "London," but who will not pitch it into the cesspool full of mean and formless authorities in which London has hitherto been submerged.

To be the Mayor of such a city as the new London will be an honor indeed as compared with being the Lord-Mayor of the present little corporation, whose most cumbrous duties have been the reception of illustrious personages, the presiding over the Corporation's fat banquets, and the disbursing of the charities of the Mansion House. The Mayor of the new London with his Council will control an enormous patronage and wield a tremendous power. It will be a power within a power, but the inner power almost equal to the outer—a Council almost as strong as a Parliament. It remains to be seen how the experiment will work in time of emergency, popular excitement, or official corruptions, which will be sure to creep into such a complex organization.

CHICAGO A BUSY COMMUNITY.

Readers of the daily journals can scarcely have failed to be impressed with the gloomy views of the business world during the last few months. The general correctness of these views is not to be disputed, and prudence indorses the policy of looking commercial depression squarely in the face and adapting individual affairs to prevailing and threatened conditions. But the people of Chicago may congratulate themselves on comparative immunity from the depression which has been settling down on the country at large. At all events, it is entirely fair and conservative to state that there is no large community on the continent which to-day has so many signs of activity, prosperity, and progress as the City of Chicago. The demoralization of Wall street and its dependencies, due to the reaction from overspeculation; the dearth in the manufacturing districts—the natural result of a morbid competition and a limited market which a protective tariff has entailed; the concomitant alarm which has been communicated to the business interest generally; the contraction of enterprise which always follows an impairment of confidence—these and the other conditions of commercial and industrial depression have affected Chicago less than any of her sister cities. This statement is made in no spirit of boasting and certainly with no purpose to reflect upon any other community, but as a matter of fact of the utmost importance to the people of Chicago and calculated to inspire new confidence in its commercial destiny.

Within a radius of fifteen miles from the Court-House there are nearly or fully 700,000 people whose interests are bound up in Chicago's prosperity. Whether the family lives inside the city limits or in any one of the numerous and populous suburban towns and villages which have grown up so rapidly, its support depends upon Chicago. Among all these people there are the same signs of energy and enterprise which have been characteristic of Chicago people during the last twenty-five years, and which neither the great fire of 1871 nor the universal panic of 1873 could suppress. A winter season of exceptional duration and rigor has just closed, but in Chicago it has not been marked by any unusual degree of poverty and suffering. People able and willing to work have rarely failed to find employment. A large amount of building has been going on and still more is projected, awaiting only the new supply of common brick to be prosecuted with vigor. Careful judges estimate that the population of Chicago will be enlarged by at least 50,000 people during the year 1884. These cohorts bring with them new ambition, new hopes, new energy. They must be provided with homes and occupations. New houses are necessary for their domiciles; new factories, stores, and offices for their business. The increased demand for real estate by men who have money to invest and the signs of building enterprise on all sides are evidences of the confidence which capital has in the continued growth and prosperity of this city.

During the summer months, when most of the large cities will be largely deserted and stagnation will be more notable than ever, Chicago will swarm with human beings from all parts of the country, drawn here by the numerous conventions and popular gatherings which have selected it as the most desirable meeting-place, and with a mass of people who want to combine the pleasures and comforts of city life with the cool breezes of a summer-resort. Chicago keeps open house in summer. Its social and business season is not regulated by the solstices. Its streets are as crowded and its denizens are as industrious and pushing at one time of year as another. There is always a hum of busy excitement. There is something stimulating in the rush of activity. No stranger visits Chicago without being impressed by it. He may complain about the grimy atmosphere, the dirty streets, the inconvenience of a torn-up condition of things, but he goes away (unless he makes up his mind to remain permanently) with an overpowering sense of the vigor and enterprise of the community. That this should be the case at the very time laments of business stagnation and apprehensions of increased depression are heard on all sides is eminently characteristic of Chicago.

The prospect for business is very much better than it was a few months ago. The reports from the crop districts are favorable. Prices have been adapted to the prevailing conditions. Exchanges will be facilitated by the common agreement upon new rates. The transportation companies will seek business by conforming to the new order of things rather than risk a further decline in stocks by passing their dividends. Money is and will be plenty in the banks and in the hands of capitalists eager to invest and loan it at low interest for legitimate enterprise. The shopkeepers may confidently expect a fair patronage. Labor will find more encouragement here than elsewhere. People will be more liberally inclined in their expenditures than in communities where the business aspect is dull and discouraging. If the general gloom shall continue Chicago will be a bright spot in the horizon, and there will be a well-grounded hope of prosperity among the people according to their various conditions.

DEARBORN PARK.

The movement to secure from the Government the privilege of erecting a Public-Library building on the block of ground known as Dearborn Park has taken on new activity, and it is reported from Washington that there is an excellent prospect of obtaining the necessary legislation. There is no doubt that this would be the wisest disposition to make of the ground in question. It is of no benefit to the people of Chicago for park purposes. It is located in a corner of the city now surrounded by business blocks. The wide avenue at one side, with the vast expanse of the lake, will always give that part of the city better air than any other business locality has. The block of ground is not large enough to serve for any project of adornment. The Government long since abandoned all claim to it, and the city has no use for it which would be of so much advantage as the accommodation of the Public Library, which is now assuming immense proportions and has no permanent home. The bill introduced and now pending before the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives is as follows:

> That the terms, conditions, and provisions of the dedication to public use of the grounds in that part of the City of Chicago, Ill., known as the Fort Dearborn Addition to Chicago, subdivided and platted under authority of the Secretary of War in the year 1839, be so modified and amended as to permit the Board of Directors of the Chicago Public Library to erect and maintain in and upon so much of said grounds as are known as Dearborn Park, situate in Chicago, Ill., and bounded upon the north by Randolph street, on the east by Michigan avenue, on the south by Washington street, and on the west by Dearborn place, such buildings as may be required for the actual use of the Chicago Public Library, and for no other use whatsoever; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be held to deprive the owners of contiguous lots of such valid claims to compensation as they may have by reason of the change of dedication or use herein authorized, nor shall anything herein contained be held to affect the title to any part of said public grounds in any manner.

There is reason to believe that this bill will be favorably reported by the committee, and that it can be passed through both Houses without any trouble unless some parasite interest shall seek to attach itself to the scheme. If the ground be asked exclusively for Public-Library purposes, and if Congress be satisfied that the people of Chicago want it devoted to that use, Congress will give it freely. But if, as before, when the project was brought to the attention of Congress, the affair shall be complicated by other schemes for an art gallery, a museum, or some visionary scheme, the bill will fail. Congress will always be willing to authorize the occupation of Dearborn Park for any commendable public purpose the Chicago people agree upon—and none could be more desirable than to make it the permanent home of the Public Library—but Congress will always refuse to turn it over to any private interests even though they come forward as quasi public applicants or under the pretense of advancing art and culture. The site is in every way admirable and convenient for the Public Library, and if the gentlemen who have the matter in hand be left unembarrassed they will probably succeed in securing it; but if some feeble association or some scheming individuals think they can get a foothold there at the same time under cover of the Public Library they will only succeed in killing the whole project. Chicago would be delighted to have the Public Library located in Dearborn Park, but would be averse to converting it to any other use at the present time.

THE MAY FESTIVAL.

The omens for the forthcoming festival, which commences in this city the 27th inst. and continues until the 31st, at the Exposition Building, are all encouraging. As our readers have been informed, the Chicago Festival is part of a grand scheme of concerts and festivals which commenced in Boston April 14 and will close at Buffalo during the latter part of June, the whole number being fifty-nine. Of these, sixteen have already been given, as follows: Six in Boston, three in New York, three in Philadelphia, one in Richmond, one in Washington, and two in Baltimore. As the orchestra and soloists are the same in all the concerts, the success which has greeted them in these places may be taken as a test of the local success here, from the musical standpoint at least, and with Chicago's proverbially lavish patronage of entertainments of this kind we are warranted in the assumption that in point of attendance and enthusiasm this city will not be behind.

In Boston, where the festival was exclusively devoted to Wagner's music, the solo parts being mainly intrusted to the three great artists, Mme. Materna, Herr Scaria, and Herr Winkelmann, who are most prominently identified with "the music of the future," the success was something unprecedented; and in New York, under the same conditions and with substantially the same programs, the interest constantly increased, and the closing concert witnessed something like a perfect furor. The series of concerts was pronounced brilliant beyond all precedent. In Richmond, which since the War has not been considered a very favorable place for music, every seat in the large hall was sold, and the Virginians expressed their delight by repeated recalls and genuine Southern enthusiasm. In Washington, so eager was the desire to attend the concert that seats sold at a heavy premium. In Baltimore the rush was tremendous, for there it was a double attraction, the Thomas concerts being reënforced by two additional concerts of a local character under Asgar Hamerik's direction, at which his great oratorio, "The Christian Trilogy," was brought out, a work which is destined to make a noise in the world. In Philadelphia, the management was unfortunate in antagonizing a local festival under Mr. Gilchrist's direction which is to take place next week, with the result that the attendance was not so large as it had been in the other cities, but with this exception, due to local causes, the tour of Mr. Thomas, his orchestra and soloists, has been one succession of musical victories of the most brilliant description.

This augurs well for Chicago, and it adds to the chances of musical success here that a large part of the music to be given is comprised in the previous programs before reaching here. Thus we may assume that the orchestra and many of the soloists are rehearsing for Chicago. Our series of programs differs in one respect, however. While Wagner will be well represented by selections from "Tannhäuser," "Lohengrin," "Die Walküre," "Siegfried," "Parsifal," the "Götterdämmerung," and the "Meistersinger," other great composers have not been neglected. Berlioz will be represented by his "Messe des Morts," or requiem for the dead; Gounod, by his latest sacred work, the "Redemption Trilogy"; Hadyn, by "The Creation"; and Händel, by his majestic "Dettingen Te Deum." The orchestra will have an opportunity to display its superb quality in three great symphonies, the G minor of Mozart, the "Eroica" of Beethoven, and the Ninth of Schubert, besides many smaller numbers. The closing matinée will have a superb miscellaneous program in which the solo artists will take part, besides Mr. Tomlins' large choir of children, whose singing will be one of the prominent features of the festival. The three Wagner artists will be heard in a rich profusion of this master's music, as well as in other selections, while the admirers of Mme. Christine Nilsson will hear her at her best, as she opens the festival with "The Creation" and closes it with "The Redemption," besides appearing with Mme. Materna in the selections from "Lohengrin," in which she will take her old part of Elsa.

The sale of season seats for the festival will commence tomorrow morning at the box-office of the Central Music-Hall, and the sale of single tickets a week later at the same place. It is due to the efforts of the managers of this festival that their arduous labors for its success should be crowned with a generous patronage, and to the chorus, which is composed of our own people, that its equally hard work should be recognized. The work of this festival is a work for music, solely for music's sake. If anything is made from it, it goes into a fund for future festivals. As there is no element of gain or speculation in it, and as no one is enriched by it, it is an event in which the whole city should take a lively interest. If our musical people will pay out an exorbitant sum of money which goes into the pockets of greedy and unscrupulous operatic speculators, they ought not to hesitate in their patronage of a festival which has the highest aims in view, freed from any sordid considerations of gain.

THE AMERICANIZING OF ENGLAND.

A recent article in the London Saturday Review, which has a wide reputation for being a close observer of men and things in this world of ours, has attracted much attention in England as well as in this country, for the reason that it declares, and presents the evidence of the faith that is in it, that English institutions are rapidly becoming Americanized. In other words, England is annexing our ways, ideas, and habits just as Canada has. Our Kanuck neighbors have dropped many of their English attachments, including the "h," and have taken our form of currency, our decimal system, our free-school system to a large extent, our statutes wherever they are applicable, our methods of transportation, our modern improvements, and in a great degree our modes of dress and our forms of speech and accents, and all these England is coming to and can't help herself.

There is no reason to doubt the correctness of the Saturday Review's statement that England is being Americanized, for it is in the line of inevitable laws and international precedents. Even should very conservative and aristocratic Englishmen deny it, as they probably will, it does not affect the broad truth of the statement. Where the intellectual powers of the people of two nations are the same and their knowledge and intellectual activities can be measured on the same standards, more especially when those people are one by blood, race, language, and literature, they will be attracted toward each other according to the mass. Indeed, the Irish part of the British nation doesn't even try to resist being Americanized, but yield to the overpowering influence of this Continental Republic with alacrity and pleasure.

In the matter of literary production at present England excels America, but this is only one form of intellectual activity which is characteristic of old, long-established, and well-settled peoples where there are large leisure classes, and is not the real test. In nearly all other directions the intellectual development and activity of the Americans lead the British. The population of Great Britain is only 35,000,000, while our population is 56,000,000. We are much the greater Power, and as time runs on the disproportion in national greatness will continue to increase in our favor. A decade hence she will only number half our population. Knowledge is power, and the American possesses as much of it as the Briton, man for man, and being nearly twice as numerous we are twice as powerful. We therefore meet her on the same plane of intellectual ability, with a surplus of twenty millions of active-brained people in our favor, and by the natural law of gravitation the smaller is drawn towards the larger and overmastered by it.

Another cause may be found in the rapid growth of wealth in this country. American opportunities in this direction are as yet limitless, while Britain is substantially finished. Britain is like a little well-cultivated farm, all inclosed and ornamented. There is little room for new experiments, and there is no chance of finding any new treasure-troves or bonanzas. We are still inclosing new land. Our country is a continent instead of an island, with boundless room for expansion and growth, and opportunities for investment of new accumulations of wealth.

The United States has money to loan, and is already beginning to develop the resources of her neighbors in Mexico and in the northwestern provinces of Canada, and this tendency will rapidly expand.

On all these lines the attraction is strongest in our direction. With equal intellectual activity, with no limit to growth and productive experiments, with vast resources yet to be developed that must still further enhance power and influence, with greater fertility of invention and with a wider grasp on the industrial sciences, with the disappearance of English commercial and financial superiority, joined with a great and constantly increasing overplus of population, there is no reason why England should not become Americanized and yield to the influences of the greater Power.

The drift of these influences is unmistakably shown by the fact that we are not becoming Anglicized. The action of a few beardless and effeminate dudes of the one sex and a few idle and silly samples of the other in New York and Boston, who ape English habits, whiskers, and drawl, of course need not be taken into accout, as their actions are of no more importance than themselves. Were there no other reason for this gravitation a potent influence would be found in the steady, resistless growth of English people and institutions towards republican ideas, and principles, and tendencies such as determine the character of our own institutions. In effect, Britain is being unofficially annexed to this country, and the Americanization will accelerate year by year, however hard the Briton may try to resist it.

A SUB-COMMITTEE of the Committee on Elections of the House has decided to report in favor of the unseating of Peelle (Republican), member for the Indianapolis district, and giving the seat to English (Democrat), son of the Democratic candidate for Vice-President in 1880. The ground on which it is proposed to seat English is that the "face of the returns" showed he received a majority, but the returns in the case were doctored by a Democratic Election Commissioner who has since acknowledged on the witness-stand that he was paid for examining the poll-lists. The adoption of the sub-committee's report will be vigorously contested. It is believed the gamblers of Indianapolis who made bets on the election are much interested in the outcome of the case.

MR. SHAW, member of Parliament for Cork County, whom Mr. Parnell supplanted as leader of the Irish parliamentary party, in an interview yesterday expressed himself as well satisfied with Mr. Parnell's support of the Franchise bill, although he felt that its effect would be to wipe out the moderate Home-Rule party with which he has been identified. He criticises Mr. Parnell's hostility to the Government's measures for the improvement of the Irish Land act, though he fails to state what these measures are, and denounces Mr. Parnell's course in this respect as visionary and unbusinesslike. Mr. Shaw, who was once a Methodist clergyman, is thought to represent the element of the Roman Catholic Church and most of the priesthood and hierarchy hostile to Parnell.

MR. SHAW, the leader of the Irish moderate Home-Rule members of Parliament, says that he has positive information that Mr. Gladstone will announce in a few weeks that his Government is willing to advance $25,000,000 to be used as loans to Irish farmers for the purpose of purchasing their holdings in fee simple. This fund will be managed by two prominent Irishmen. Mr. Shaw anticipates that Mr. Parnell will oppose the plan on the ground that this is a bad time for Irish tenants to purchase, and that if they wait they can deal with their landlords on more favorable terms. He thinks, however, when the scheme is fully developed Mr. Parnell will not deem it wise to offer any opposition to it.

THERE has seldom been perpetrated in this city a greater outrage on a ward than the seating of Burke as Alderman from the Fifth Ward by the Chicago Common Council Friday night. It is practically admitted that Hillock got a majority of the votes cast. His friends claim, and they give good reasons in support of their claim, that Hillock on an honest count had a majority of nearly 1,000, but by the doctoring of the returns in some precincts, where all the judges of election were Burke's own nominees, it was made to appear that Hillock's majority was only about 100 or so. Burke admitted the night of election that he was defeated, but some of his friends, more cunning and desperate if less unscrupulous, urged him to put a bold face on it, and that he might be made to appear as the successful candidate if one of the large precincts held back the count. This was done, and the majority of 100 was reduced to two. Burke's friends' work was clumsy and their efforts would have been wholly unavailing but for the utter rascality of the gang in the Common Council to which Burke belongs. They wanted their "pal" retained in the ranks. "The face of the returns," about which they prated so much in the first part of Friday's session, showed Hillock elected by a majority of two. That would not do, and so "the face of the returns" was changed to make it appear that he was not, and the gang are happy and Burke remains one of them. There is a good prospect, however, that some of the rascals concerned in the fraud will find lodgings in the penitentiary before many months.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 1.—The champion Pension bill of this Congress has been matured, and will be reported to the House in a few days. So great has been the pressure upon Congress by means of petitions, claim agents, and hopes of party advantage, that different committees have been trying to obtain the advantage gained from reporting bills. Now comes the Invalid Pension Committee with a scheme that surpasses them all. It has unanimously agreed upon a plan to give all the soldiers of the late War who are now suffering from disability, no matter whether incurred in the army or not, and have no pension at present, $8 per month. The same is granted to widows of soldiers who have died since the War, provided it is probable that they were injured in the service, and every veteran, sick or well, when he reaches the age of 62, is entitled to the same monthly stipend. In making this extremely liberal provision, which, it is estimated, will require some $40,000,000 extra each year, the majority of the committee thought it well to stop.

The Republicans, however, thought it would be good policy to go a length further. They proposed to add a section giving to every soldier not otherwise pensioned and without regard to the question whether they were disabled, who was confined sixty days or more in Rebel prisons, a pension of $8 per month and a bounty of $2 per day for all the time they were in the enemy's hands, which would add ten millions a year more to the bill. If it passes it will settle the question what to do with the surplus revenue, as there will be none, and taxes can be no farther reduced. The demagogues care nothing for the taxpayers.

A WASHINGTON dispatch says: The adoption, almost without division, of a motion made by Morrison to close general debate on the Tariff bill next Tuesday gives evidence that a crucial test vote will be reached some time next week. Randall served notice that he would want an hour to unload a speech and McKinley that at the proper time he would vote to strike out the enacting clause. Although the Morrison wing, who want a horizontal reform, are much more encouraged touching the outlook from their standpoint, there is yet the best of reasons for the prediction that the enacting clause will be stricken from the bill by a close vote. Should, however, there be a failure in this line of tactics a compromise bill will doubtless be the result, looking say to a horizontal reduction of 10 or 15 per cent on customs duties and the abolition of all taxes on tobacco and fruit brandies. Such a bill, however, it is thought will not pass the Senate.

THE public debt, less the cash in the Treasury, is $5,232,075 smaller than it was April 1. The fiscal operations of the Government during the ten months since June 30, 1883, will be most clearly comprehended by a simple comparison of its receipts with its expenditures. In the ten months it received from customs, from internal-revenue taxes, and from miscellaneous sources $289,206,866. In the same time it paid out $203,578,089. The excess being $85,608,777. Has not the time yet arrived for repealing taxes levied to carry on the war against the Rebels?

THE heading of an article in yesterday's TRIBUNE—viz.: "High License in New York"—should of course read "in Illinois." The Legislature of New York is considering a bill similar to the Harper bill, and the heading to an article about it got misplaced over the Illinois license article. It is curious what errors will creep into a newspaper in the haste of sending it to press.

O'DONOVAN-ROSSA has not yet been heard from in reference to the Toronto dynamite plot. Perhaps he thinks it is too small an affair and will not touch anything less than an earthquake for the future.

FLOWER, Tammany's candidate for the Presidency, was a tinker at one time. The "boys" say he will never do on that account—in fact, that he is not worth a tinker's swear word.

QUERY: Is there anything in the American heavens above or in the American earth below that Mr. Eaton of Connecticut considers constitutional?

MR. DANA refers to Frank Hurd of Ohio as a "crank." This comes of Mr. Hurd's differing from Dana's Whig-Protectionist ideas.

MR. ABRAM S. HEWITT, according to the Atlanta Constitution, is too sensitive to survive the annoyances of a Presidential term. He is hasty in forming an opinion and equally quick to see his error. This keeps him floundering in a maze of explanations all the time.

LAKESIDE MUSINGS.

In one of our Indian languages the word "woman" is rendered "kewshojewjew." Why the first three syllables were used is not clear.

"I see by the papers that the dark horse is expected to win at the Chicago Convention. I purchased a bottle of hair-dye this morning."—R. B. Hayes.

Henry Ward Beecher says that pie and civilization go hand in hand. If Mr. Beecher is correct civilization should procure a bottle of pain-killer at once.

Private Dalzell has come to the defense of Fred Douglass for marrying a white woman. Mr. Douglass will now begin to realize the gravity of the step he has taken.

While her arms were in the suds the other day a Rockland (Me.) woman received the welcome news that she had inherited a fortune of about $15,000. The milliners of Rockland are to be congratulated.

Mr. Keene went to New York five years ago with the expressed intention of "cleaning out Gould." Mr. Keene is now understood to be looking for the address of the Indian who tried to lassoo the railroad-train.

In Siam the women are agitating the question of their rights. They have gone so far as to petition the King that their husbands shall not pledge them for gambling debts. The spectacle of lovely woman being swept away in the maelstrom of a jack-pot or exposed to the vicissitudes of a four flush is indeed a sad one.

She came, with sweet, bewitching smile,
With not a word to say,
Walked up and pinned upon our vest
A button-hole bouquet.
Oh! it was fresh—'twas beautiful—
As sweet as it could be;
No lovelier, nor sweeter, though,
Was that bouquet than she.

It lived, though but a little while,
Then withered on our breast;
We laid the little gift away
Between two leaves to rest.
Its beauty never will die out,
Its fragrance may be gone,
But it shall live in memory of
The girl who pinned it on.

—Henry Watterson.

"Kiss me again."

Sibyl Sartoris spoke these words in a grave, calm manner that betokened the serious import in which she held them, and as Herbert Mortimer bent tenderly forward and pressed his lips softly to hers she looked up to him in the shy, cat-on-the-back-fence fashion that had so witched him in the golden-hued days of courtship—those days when all the world seemed filled with sunshine, when every breeze spoke in whispers of his love for the beautiful girl, and the cloudless skies seemed only to reflect the deeper azure of her eyes.

There was no tint of deception in the pure nature of this girl, and her every act was the result of reflection, often profound. Brought up in Boston, she had all her life been accustomed to put to its best use the power of discernment which a thoughtful mind gave her. Surrounded as she was by the mystic influences of Emerson, the Concord School of Philosophy, and several large warehouses where mackerel were sold, it is small wonder that when, standing on the threshold of womanhood, she beheld suitors for her heart and hand approach; she had analyzed with critical care the hopes and fears of each—had subjected the character of every wooer to the fine scrutiny of a mind that, seated cross-legged on the starry summit of psychological research, looked upon man as only vivified protoplasm, and the deepest emotions of the heart as merely the manifestations of a too active nerve centre.

Herbert knew this. He knew that this girl—the rounded curves of whose figure and the dewy sweetness of whose lips would have made an anchorite leave his job without a pang—had no [illegible] of passion in her nature. And so when he had complied—oh, so gladly—with her request, there rushed from out the banquet halls of his imagination where they had so long been unwelcome guests the obsessed ghosts of Doubt and Apprehension. He knew now that Sybyl loved him with a love that would never falter or fail—a love that, securely built upon a foundation of respect and admiration, was now crowned with the large, roomy, mansard roof of a deathless, never-changing passion. Her words proved it. Never before had she even so much as hinted at a kiss, and when he had sought to take one she had submitted to his caresses more as a dutiful wife than an ardent lover. But now all was changed, and it was she who sought the bliss that a large, well-regulated, three-story-and-basement kiss alone can give. The thought was ecstacy.

"You love me better to-day, Sibyl," he said, "than you did yesterday. Is it not so, darling?"

"No," she answers, standing there calm and pulseless as a clam at high tide.

"Then why," he says, "did you ask me to kiss you?"

"Because," Sibyl replies, "I desired to ascertain whether or not you had been drinking Medford rum."—From "His Icy Bride," by [illegible].

PERSONALS.

The will of Aaron Somers, an old Connecticut farmer who died last week in Bridgeport, directs that his property shall go "to the worthy poor, deserving, white American Protestant Democratic widows and orphans in Bridgeport until all is expended." His estate is valued at $10,000.

Noting the suspension of the Greenock Advertiser, a paper started in 1802, an English newspaper says the most notable incident in its history was its rejection of one of the finest poems of Campbell, sent by the youthful author of "The Pleasures of Hope," for insertion in the poet's corner. The editor put in a notice to the poet that his attempt was not "up to the mark" of the Advertiser.

Charles Endicott, a descendant of the famous Gov. Endicott, having made plenty of money in Michigan, has returned to New Hampshire to build in Shelbourn a curious dwelling. The structure will be of cobble stones, forming walls two feet thick. The design is patterned after colonial forms, and not the least peculiar of the builder's notions is that the outer stones are to be moss-covered.

J. P. Dumas, the famous French chemist, who recently died, used often to be called on by Americans who wanted to pay their respects to "the great novelist." They would be received with smiling courtesy by the amiable scientist, who would gently undeceive his visitor when congratulated on having written "Le Demi-Monde" and "L'Etrangère." "The books that are sent to Alexandre Dumas often come to me, and mine go to him," he remarked one day to a visitor, "and I am sure that I get the best of it, as his books are very amusing and mine are apt to be the reverse."

At a recent meeting of the London Horticultural Society certificates for three sorts of orchids were awarded to Sir Trevor Lawrence, M. P. Sir Trevor's father was a famous surgeon, whose wife climbed successfully the heights of fashion by force of flowers. Exquisite specimens of the rarest plants presented to the Queen led to royal recognition, while in course of time all the fashionable world thronged to Mrs. Lawrence's residence near London, where in the course of the summer she gave brilliant breakfasts and threw open her matchless conservatories. She died before her husband was created a Baronet, and after her death the conservatories were not kept up.

A correspondent of the Charleston News, writing from Cheraw, S. C., April 26, says: "Very little is now said about the Cash shooting affair. The matter is looked upon as old and uninteresting. It is the universal belief of the people here that Boggan Cash is still secreted near Cash's Depot. I have heard several stories here which, if true, certainly prove that young Cash has never left his hiding-place, but is still on his father's land. Two gentlemen who were in Cheraw Wednesday told a merchant here that they had seen young Boggan Cash the day before in the yard of his father's old residence near Cash's Depot. Another gentleman informed me that orders for provisions written in Boggan Cash's handwriting were frequently received at Society Hill."

The widow of Marshal Suchet, Duke of Albufera, died in Paris the other day at the age of 90-odd years. She was married when Joseph Bonaparte was King of Spain, and received from him as a wedding gift one of the splendid hotels next to the British Embassy in Paris. In the military correspondence of Napoleon I. we find the following letter dated Paris, Dec. 5, 1811, and addressed to Berthier: "My Cousin—Write to Marshal Suchet to complain that his wife carries on a correspondence with Mme. de Saligny, in which she speaks of what happens in the army—that these details should not occur in a letter of a lady, who ought to be acquainted neither with the number of troops nor their movements, who should speak merely of her health, and that is all." It is curious to think of the Duchess d'Albufera surviving this for seventy-three years.

Men Who Mean Well.

In the great out-door world men hold the sceptre. Within the household women are supreme. And in the position of wives and mothers even the possession of wealth does not wholly exempt them from work and worry. But some bear a heavier load than others—the anxieties for tomorrow added to the labor and toil of today.

The average husband and father doesn't understand nor appreciate this. He eats, drinks, sleeps, and attends to his business, and takes it for granted that the women of his household will do the same. Are they sick? He doesn't know, nor seem to care, except when he is asked to call a physician. Then he he thinks the whole business is a bore and a nuisance. He is not a hard-hearted man necessarily, but merely thick-headed or thoughtless—probably the latter mostly. The women run up-stairs, down-stairs, and everywhere—doing that "woman's work," which is "never done"—and is it any wonder they break down and get sick? That back-ache, that pain in the chest, that other ailment or weakness—is it any wonder your wife has it? Not at all. The wonder is that she wasn't dead long ago.

Why don't you act on the "ounce of prevention" principle? A box of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS in the house will save money and suffering. These plasters are the best, the most modern, the most scientific, the most effective. For all the troubles of the kidneys, liver, stomach, for local rheumatism, neuralgia, and all pains and aches of the body, they are superior to all others. Unlike the dull, slow-acting plasters with which no doubt you have often felt disgusted and impatient, Benson's are prompt and will relieve serious cases in from three to twenty-four hours. No others will accomplish this, or anything approaching it.

Get a box and give it to your women folks to use when they have need to do so. It is the most economical thing you can do.

The word Capcine is cut in the genuine. Look for it.

HEALTHY DIGESTION! CLEAR COMPLEXION! BRIGHT EYES!

Round form, an elastic step, and last, but not least, a happy state of mind, is the dearest wish of dyspeptics, and the weak generally. No other tonic is so well calculated to bring about these results as AREND'S BEEF, IRON, and WINE, with CINCHONA. It promptly invigorates the brain and nervous system, excites the activity of the assimilating and secretory glands, thereby purifying and improving the quality of the blood.

Beware of imitations. No other preparation of same or similar name is of the same composition or possesses the same medicinal qualities. Not sold to the trade, but to consumers only.

CANCER.

The development of the treatment of cancer with Swift's Specific seems so wonderful that all so afflicted should write us.

Cancer for Fourteen Years.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., March 14, 1884.

I have for fourteen years been a sufferer from a running sore on my face that everybody called cancer. I have used over $300 worth of medicine and found no relief. About four months ago I bought one bottle of Swift's Specific from Dr. H. E. Heinitsh, and since have bought five others, have taken it, and they have cured me sound and well! My face is as free from a sore as anybody's, and my health is perfectly restored. I feel like forty years had been lifted off my head. Yours thankfully ELIZA TINSLEY.

Mr. B. F. Burns, Hope, Ark., says, under date of Jan. 22, 1884: "I have taken five bottles of Swift's Specific for a sore on my temple—said to be a cancer. I have been wonderfully benefited and will soon be a well man."

Mr. W. R. Robison, Davisboro, Ga., writes, under date of Jan. 3, 1884: "I am getting on finely, the ulcer is gradually healing. I feel that Swift's Specific will cure the horrible cancer which has been feeding on me for over twenty years."

Treatise on blood and skin diseases mailed free.

MAY.

All nature springs to life once more;
The earth is set with many a gem;
While moving-day once more has come,
And truckman shakes off winter phlegm.

Families moving to a new neighborhood, leaving old associations, will feel more at home from having an introduction to their new neighbors. Perhaps an acquaintance with a first-class grocery-house will be welcomed above all else. To those moving within reach of No. 522 West Madison street, the popular grocers at that number, A. E. Dore & Co., are introduced. They have a bright, attractive store; their stock is large, complete, fresh, and first-class; their prices are the lowest for reliable goods; and they are noted for promptness and courteous and obliging treatment of patrons.

"What you call dat?" inquired a Kansas Jayhawker in passing Faust's Fulton market the other day on beholding a large sea turtle. On being informed that it was a sea turtle he replied: "Tartles doesn't grow dat large in Kansas."

The late decease of Mr. C. L. Woodman does not alter the condition of business at the restaurant so long known by his name at 61 Washington street, as the business will be conducted by the surviving partner, Mr. J. Musselwhite, under the name of the Woodman Restaurant and Bakery. The same prompt and excellent service will be rendered and improvements made wherever possible, hoping to receive a continuance of the public patronage.

The crystallized expression of an encounter between Mark Twain and Queen Anne is said to be the style of architecture of Mark Twain's home in Hartford, Conn.

Now you have moved or are nearly through cleaning house it is time a few thoughts were bestowed on the exterior of your homes. To facilitate this work the Forest Glen Floral Company have carefully raised millions of the most desirable bedding plants, and are ready at all times to furnish the most complete and varied assortment of plants ever seen in this city. Their store, 205 Wabash avenue, is daily replenished with plants and cut flowers fresh from their greenhouses. "Roses a specialty."

The Chinese Minister's name is "Ju," and his little daughter's name is "Mi." The Chinese alfabet contains about 60,000 letters, but it is evident that a good many of them have very little to do.

An event long looked for is the parasol opening this week at the "Bee-Hive."

It is a custom among the French to kiss the forehead and not the lips. French girls evidently do not use bandoline.

Almost every lady will now be busy preparing articles for summer wear, and to assist all in this and make their labor as light and easy as possible we would advise the use of the Merrick Thread Co.'s ready-wound bobbins for sewing-machine shuttles. These meritorious articles have become of such value to all using sewing-machines that nearly all dry-goods merchants keep them in stock. The Six-Cord Merrick Spool Thread is unexcelled by any in the world and is an American production. Try it.

No public man in the United States has such an elaborate set of scrap-books as ex-President Hayes. He began the collection when he was a young lawyer in Cincinnati.

Willow Spring, the well-known picnic grounds, is being refitted and equipped with several new improvements, and no pains are being spared to make it the finest within the reach of Chicago. For arrangements call on Edmanson Bros., 154 Dearborn street, Chicago.

The new restaurant at 25 Washington street, in the rear of Marshall Field & Co.'s, although only opened about a month ago, enlarged the size of its dining-room last week to accommodate its increasing patronage. Upon making inquiries at numerous grocery stores relative to the amount of bread sold the last week and what make was most popular, it was the universal answer that there had been a very large quantity sold and the demand was mostly for Bremner's "Eureka Bread," stamped "D. F. B.," as it was acknowledged to be the best in the market, and kept fresh and sweet longer than any other brand.

Oleomargarine is meeting with attacks everywhere. It must learn to suffer. It learned to be strong long ago.

This new resort will supply the finest wines, liquors, and cigars in their handsomely-fitted and elegant establishment.

THE ELDER BOOTH.

[illegible] Legally United to the Mother of His Children Until After Their Birth.

[illegible] Hitherto Unwritten Chapter in the History of the Great Tragedian.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 24.—[Special Correspondence.]—The many contradictory statements which appear from time to time in the [illegible] prints as to events in the private life of Junius Brutus Booth the elder have led [illegible] correspondent to make a careful search of the records of the [illegible] courts for accurate information. These records, which have never before been presented to the public eye, may be summed up as follows: Feb. 27, 1851. Mary Christine Adelaide Booth filed a bill for divorce from Junius Brutus Booth in the Baltimore County Court, accompanied by a certificate of her marriage to the respondent May 8, 1815, at St. George's Church, London. The bill alleged that in January, 1821, while they were living together as husband and wife in London, Mr. Booth deserted her and came to the United States with a woman with whom he had been living as his wife during the thirty years preceding, and by whom he had a large family of children. The 26th of March, 1851, a month after the filing of the bill, Mr. Booth made answer admitting the facts alleged in the bill to be true, and the 18th of April, three weeks later, the decree of absolute divorce was granted as prayed. An entry among the marriage records of the court shows that Junius Brutus Booth and Mary Ann Holmes obtained a license to be married May 10, 1851, three weeks after the divorce. Mr. Booth died at Louisville, Ky., Dec. 2, 1852.

THE BILL.

The bill for divorce is as follows:

To the Honorable the Judges of the Baltimore County Court, sitting as a Court of Equity: Humbly complaining, showeth unto your Honors, your oratrix, Mary Christine Adelaide Booth, of the City of Baltimore, that the 8th day of May, 1815, your oratrix was lawfully married in the City of London, in the Kingdom of Great Britain, to Junius Brutus Booth, then a citizen and subject of said Kingdom of Great Britain, but who has since become and is now a citizen of the United States of America, and is now and for many years past has been a resident of the City of Baltimore, and that your oratrix now is and for more than two years past has been a resident of the City of Baltimore, Md.; your oratrix further shows to your Honors that the said Junius Brutus Booth and your oratrix lived together as husband and wife for several years in the City of London, during which time she bore to her said husband a daughter who died in her infancy, and a son, now living, who is named Richard J. Booth; that in or about the month of January, 1821, the said Junius Brutus Booth, without any intimation whatever to your oratrix of his intention or any justifiable cause whatever, abandoned your oratrix and came to the United States, where he has since remained, and that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly from the month of January, 1821, to that date, being for more than twenty-nine years; and your oratrix alleges that said abandonment is deliberate and final, and that the separation of said Junius Brutus Booth and your oratrix is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

Your oratrix further shows to your Honors that the said Junius Brutus Booth left the Kingdom of Great Britain and came to the United States as aforesaid in company with a woman with whom he has been in the habit of adulterous intercourse from that time to the present, and that he has lived for many years past in the City of Baltimore with said woman, and does now treat and recognize said woman as his wife, and that he has a large family of children; and your oratrix asks leave to state that in charging this fact she is impelled alone by the necessity for the vindication of her own rights.

In tender consideration whereof, and for as much as your oratrix is remediless in the premises save by the aid and interposition of your Honorable court, may it please your honors to order and decree that your oratrix shall be divorced a vinculo matrimonii from her said husband, Junius Brutus Booth.

WM. P. MAULSBY,
E. G. KILBOURN,
Solicitors for the complainant.

February 27, 1851.

Accompanying the bill was the following certificate:

Marriages solemnized in the Parish of St. George, Bloomsbury, in the County of Middlesex, in 1815. Junius Booth, of this parish, and Adelaide Delannoy, of this parish, were married in this church by banns this 8th day of May, 1815, by me, Nathaniel Forth, B. A., curate.

This marriage was solemnized between us, Junius Booth and Adelaide Delannoy, in the presence of Tho. Blyth and John Harrison.

BOOTH'S ADMISSION.

The 26th of March, 1851, Mr. John Glen, solicitor for the respondent, filed the following:

The answer of Junius Brutus Booth to the bill of Mary Christine Adelaide Booth. This respondent admits the facts stated in said bill to be true, and assents to a decree as prayed.

The 18th of April, 1851, it was adjudged and ordered by the court, Judge John C. Legrand, "that the complainant be and she is hereby declared divorced from the defendant a vinculo matrimonii, the costs to be paid by the defendant."

Among the marriage records of the Superior Court is the following entry: "May 10, 1851, Junius Brutus Booth and Mary Ann Holmes."

THE DEAD ACTOR'S EFFECTS.

Junius Brutus Booth died at Louisville, Ky., Dec. 2, 1852, while on his way homeward from California, where he had completed a highly-successful engagement. He left no will. Letters of administration on the estate were granted by the Orphans' Court of Baltimore City Dec. 23, 1852, to Mary Ann Booth. A statement of the property filed at this time gives its value at $[illegible].

Exceptions to the account were filed by Richard Junius Booth, the son of the former wife, alleging that certain property of the deceased actor had not been accounted for by the administratrix. The articles named were the professional wardrobe of Mr. Booth, his library, a piano, and cash on hand. Mrs. Booth made answer that the stage wardrobe of her husband was never of any great value, and that during the latter years of his life she herself had with her own hand prepared his costumes. At the time of his departure for California she had provided him with a wardrobe of some extent, but that all of it that ever was returned was contained in two trunks forwarded by Adams Express. These were regarded by the appraisers as personal apparel not to be accounted for as a part of the estate of the deceased. As to money earned in the California engagement, Mrs. Booth said that engagement might have been remunerative, but that Mr. Booth had been robbed in the journey across the Continent, and had not even money to defray his expenses. A gentleman from Texas named Mr. [illegible], a total stranger to Mr. Booth, observing his distress, supplied him with the necessary funds to complete his journey. The piano and all the books except the family Bible were included in the account. The answer was so complete and manifested so earnest a desire to make a clear statement that the exceptions were withdrawn. The statement to the Orphans' Court did not include Mr. Booth's Harford County homestead.

Mary Christine Adelaide Delannoy Booth continued to live in Baltimore until March 9, 1858, when she died, aged 66 years. She was buried in the Old Cathedral Cemetery, in the northwestern part of Baltimore City, now fallen into disuse. The inscription on the plain headstone is as follows:

> Jesus, Mary, Joseph,
> Pray for the soul of > Mary Christine Adelaide
> Delannoy,
> Wife of > Junius Brutus Booth, Tragedian.
> She died in Baltimore,
> March the 9th, 1858,
> Aged 66 years.
> It is a holy and wholesome thought
> To pray for the dead.
> May she rest in peace.

Her son inherited neither the gifts nor the [illegible] of his father. He followed his mother's faith and took to the church. He was a teacher in one of the notable Catholic institutions here—in the old St. Mary's Seminary on Pennsylvania avenue, now the Sulpician Seminary. He went by his mother's maiden name, Delannoy. Both he and his mother had a sad life, and came to this country to establish the legitimacy of their relationship to the actor, which had been questioned. Their struggle was a hard one, and he kept the wolf from the door by teaching. He had little resemblance to his father, except in the rather melancholy turn which occasionally distinguished the latter. He was a pious and studious man and inclined to the life of a recluse. He was not a mourner at the burial of his father, and always felt that a shadow had been cast over his life by the secrecy which enveloped the circumstances of his childhood.

Mrs. Mary Ann Booth still lives, an aged lady, at Long Branch, N. J., and is constantly attended by her daughter Rosalie, who never married. The other survivors of the ten children of Mrs. Booth are Edwin, the tragedian, Joseph, and Asia, the wife of John S. Clark, the comedian, of London. The family lot of the Booths in Greenmount Cemetery, Baltimore, is marked by a tall granite shaft, and in it rest the remains of the great tragedian and his son John Wilkes Booth.

COMMERCIAL NATIONAL BANK.

Their Idea of Absolute Security—A Detailed Description of How Great Values Are Guarded in the New Building They Have Just Occupied.

Two burglar-proof vault entrances, the largest and heaviest in the world, represent this famous company. They are supplied with all of Hall's latest patents. The doors are made so as to prevent the introduction of nitro-glycerine or powder by Hall's cog-wheel pressure-bar. The plates are all made out of five-ply steel and iron, welded together and secured with Hall's conical screw-plugs, made of the same material and tempered absolutely drill-proof. These screw-plugs prevent the stripping of the plates, and are fastened on the inside by being countersunk into a squarehead. The corners are solid bent angles, and the joints are so arranged that no two plates come together, all overlapping each other, and where plates join they are closely and securely dovetailed into each other. With these patents of Mr. Hall's the walls of these vault entrances are made as secure as though they were a solid mass, and each plate being tempered by itself gives the greater security against the drill. These massive doors alone weigh about nine tons apiece, and are swung on Hall's patent traverse hinge, which pulls the door straight out from the jams, thus insuring a perfectly air-tight fit.

The outer doors, secured by heavy round bolts, work in massive wrought-iron frames extending all round the doors, and secured thereto by Hall's patent conical frame bolts, passing through all plates of the doors, and secured into the frames by reverse-threaded screw bolts, counter-sunk therein. These bolts are all threaded, and fit into corresponding threads in cone-shaped holes. Thus the frames and the bolt works are as secure as the walls against stripping with the hydraulic jack, which is a modern and formidable tool in the hands of burglars. The bolt work is so arranged that the bolts are thrown out on all sides at the same time. The connection of the bolt work and lock is operated by Hall's patent built-in discs, that are built into the door while the same is being constructed, and are as secure against the drill as the walls. They cannot be punched in by the sledge, nor pulled out by the hydraulic jack. These doors, six in number, are each secured by Hall's best double bank combination locks, and so made that each can be used separately or together, and when the bolts are thrown and the lock locked, they are so arranged that there is no connection to either the bolt or the lock from the outside. All is disconnected, and no pressure can be brought to bear either on the time lock, the combination lock, or the bolt work.

This work was awarded to the Hall Safe & Lock Company, Chicago office No. 67 Washington street, simply upon its merits, as the bank said they would make it a matter of security instead of price. The work was subjected to a test satisfactory to the committee, and everything was done by the Commercial Safety Deposit Company to have their security first-class in every respect. Contracts of this kind are always awarded to the Hall Safe & Lock Company, and they have now in this country their work in fifty-two of the largest safe-deposit vaults, and also have just taken contracts from the Prairie State Loan & Trust Company and the Dime Savings Bank for a complete depository for each of them. Their work is sold purely upon its reputation, as there has never been one of Hall's burglar-proof safes robbed of a dollar by burglars.

G. W. BOHANON—BUDD DOBLE.

These signs appear in the windows of the new elegant warerooms 461 and 463 Wabash avenue. But back of these is quite a history worthy of notice. Mr. Bohanon has been identified with the industry of carriage-building for nearly thirty years on West Madison street, during which time he has established many valuable and widely-extended business connections and attained a reputation among the highest for light work, his sulky being in use on nearly every track in the country. Budd Doble is probably more widely known by reputation than any other man of his profession. His wonderful skill in developing speed was in the handling of Goldsmith Maid, the admiration of the world. His judgment and taste also partakes of the construction of all light and stylish vehicles. Their show-rooms are filled with a well-appointed display of fine carriages (light and heavy) of their own production, and also from the celebrated Charles S. Caffrey manufactory; also harness and turf goods. Their friends all over the country will remember this place of business.

DIAMOND PALACE.

A diamond is the most precious thing on earth. It is a delight to see the precious gems in this little palace. Really to buy a diamond is only to give paper money for gold. Diamonds are always salable as gold or silver. Messrs. Hirchberger & Co., 119 East Madison street, always give exactly what you purchase and tell you exactly what it is. They have an honest reputation. A written guarantee is given with every article sold, and goods are all marked in plain figures. They also loan money on diamonds. They have lately taken the stock of a retired pawnbroker, which will be sold at half its value.

WERNO & LUETKE, MERCHANT TAILORS,

have two stores, one at 33 North Clark street and one at 78 South Halsted, where they offer a large and well-selected stock of foreign and domestic woolens at very low prices. New styles, elegant goods, and a good fit guaranteed.

MUSICAL SCIENCE.

Considerable interest has been manifested by our leading pianists and the musical profession in general in two inventions that have been exhibited in Chicago during the past few weeks, and the opinion seems to prevails that these inventions now place any upright piano in which they may be used on a par with the best concert grand. One patent consists of a grand action, and a movable keyboard for the producing of softer tones and finer musical effects. The other is an ingenious arrangement that removes the strain of the strings from the bridge and sounding-board and practically suspends them between brass bearings that can never vary. It has been demonstrated by experts that a piano in which this latter invention is used will have the same quality of tone after twenty years of use that it has when it leaves the factory. Hallet, Davis & Co. are the owners of both of these patents, and will use them exclusively on pianos of their own manufacture. Musicians or others who are interested in the advancement of musical science can test the practical value of these improvements at the warerooms of W. W. Kimball Co., corner State and Adams streets.

Bad Blood

is inclined to come to the surface in the spring because of the effort made by good old mother Nature to throw it off. If Nature does not have help at this time the poison may go back to the system and produce all manner of ills; but by the aid of Swift's Specific the bad blood is all driven out through the pores of the skin, and permanently relieves the trouble. This remedy is a purely vegetable and harmless preparation, but so powerful an antidote to blood poison that it finds and roots it all out. Do not be deceived by Mercury and Potash mixtures, which drive in the poison, only to come out again in a worse form.

I have cured permanently Blood Taint in the third generation by the use of Swift's Specific, after I had most signally failed with Mercury and Potash. F. A. TOOMER, M. D., Perry, Ga.

Letter from Cyrus W. Field Jr.

8 EAST FIFTY-SIXTH STREET, NEW YORK, May 2, 1883.—Several times this winter I have suffered from severe colds on my lungs. Each time I have applied ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, and in every instance I have been quickly relieved by applying one across my chest and one on my back. My friends, through my advice, have tried the experiment and also found it most successful. I feel that I can recommend them most highly to any one who may see fit to try them.

"Allcock's" is the only genuine porous plaster; buy no other, and you will not be cheated.

A New Use for Cork.

The wonderful success of the American make of "LINOLEUM" floor cloth is fully deserved. It is a beautiful covering, unexcelled for elegance in designs and colorings. Especially suitable for all classes of dwellings, dining rooms, halls, churches, and hospitals. Inferior foreign imitations, by various names, are on the market, but the superiority of the American make is beyond controversy. The genuine cloth has the Walton Trade Mark and word "LINOLEUM" on the back of every square yard. All carpet dealers keep it.

THE BUFFALO STRIKERS.

A Night of Alarm and Half-Suppressed Rioting—Police Precautions.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 3.—[Special.]—The city is in a state of feverish excitement tonight. The labor troubles have assumed a very serious aspect, and at the present writing fears are entertained that before morning the disturbance will culminate in a riot. All day the streets and byways leading to the principal steamboat docks were thronged with the striking 'longshoremen and their friends. They congregated in knots wherever the police were scarce and bitterly denounced transportation managers, "pinafores," and last, but not least, the dusky Italians. When dispersed at one point they gathered at another, and there seemed to be no limit to the number of recruits that constantly arrived to swell the crowds. The music began in earnest at 10:30 o'clock. Two Italians were crossing the Lloyd-street bridge near the Quay when four or five 'longshoremen attacked them. In a twinkling the "lazzaroni" were knocked down and undergoing a savage kicking. When the police arrived they were nearly dead. Their assailants escaped in the crowd which swarmed to the spot. A strong force of police was immediately ordered to clear the streets between the terrace and the docks. The crowd was finally driven out to Commercial street on a run. There must have been at least 2,000 thus routed.

When the excitement had in a measure subsided the streets in the neighborhood of the Union Steamboat Company's property were easily kept clear, but great crowds gathered at the foot of Main street and in the streets and alleys of the Italian quarter. Alarmed at the turn affairs had taking, the transportation managers served notice on the Sheriff that they would hold the county, as well as the city responsible for any damage to life or property from the men now menacing them, and for all loss from delays in the conduct of their business occasioned by their acts. Early this afternoon the Police Commissioners began swearing in specials, and at the same time the Police Superintendent issued an order that all saloons in the lower district should be closed at 7 o'clock. At dark 100 specials went on duty in the upper portion of the city, and the entire force of regulars was posted so as to be available at a moment's warning. One hundred regulars are now at Station No. 1 waiting for the word to march. Scores of hoodlums have been arrested since dark for attempting to incite the crowd to violence by their taunts and jeers. At this hour—11 o'clock—much anxiety is felt regarding the outcome of the trouble. Crowds are moving about closely watched by the police.

COMPLIMENTARY.

Unexpected but Appreciated.

DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL SCIENCE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, WHITEWATER, WIS.—C. E. Andrews & Co., Milwaukee, Wis.: Gentlemen—I notice in Tuesday's Chicago Tribune a communication from you in regard to the Pearl Baking Powder. I beg leave to say that the Pearl, as well as many other brands of different manufacturers, was last spring analyzed in the laboratory of this institution and found to contain no alum or other harmful substances. The sample used was purchased in open market; the analysis was made in the interest of the truth, and not of your firm or any other, and this communication is simply for justice, and if it has any weight it will be from its disinterestedness. Yours respectfully,

... OCEAN DISASTER.

... Loss at Sea of the Passenger Steamer State of Florida.

... on Board Believed to Have Been Rescued by a Sailing Vessel.

... of the Shipwrecked—A Dynamite Story—Interviews with the Managers.

THE GLASGOW MANAGER.

STILL HOPEFUL.

GLASGOW, May 3.—[Special Cable.]—The ... manager of the State Line, on being ... by your correspondent this evening ... the reported loss of the steamship ... Florida, indignantly repelled the con... which he said had been too hurriedly ..., that the ship had gone down. He ... that while the Florida was not a "grey-hound" she was a good, stout ship, ... condition, well found, having ... and other stores on board in plenty, ... her Captain was both careful and capable. ... two life-boats which the Devon found in ... 47 north and longitude 34 west were ... only empty in the sense of not containing ... belongings, but were also without oars or ... of any kind. There was no ice in the vicinity ... The boats showed no evidence of having ... capsized or otherwise badly knocked ... on the contrary, their condition would ... a sea-faring man to believe that they had ... deliberately abandoned.

THE UNKNOWN SAILING VESSEL.

The manager states that he is confident for ... reasons that the occupants of these ... have been saved. For instance, the re... of the City of Rome, which April 23 spoke ... sailing vessel going west whose nationality ... unknown, but which was supposed to be ... English, and which signaled so nonchalantly ... aboard shipwrecked crew; state ——," ... of the signaling having been lost by ..., is considered by the Glasgow people as ... conclusive proof that the worst to be ... is that, although the vessel itself may ... have been lost, the crew and possibly many of ... the passengers have been saved. Nautical ex... perts, the manager said, assert that these facts ... the condition of the boats when found ... that, if the ship foundered, many lives ... been saved, and that it is only a question ... a very short time to hear from the survivors. The unknown ship must soon arrive at some ... port.

DYNAMITE.

He had heard the rumors of dynamite, but ... was not aware that detectives were awaiting the arrival of the Florida in order to arrest ... It was just possible that an explosion had occurred; there were other fiends besides dynamiters—Thomassen, for instance, ... caused the explosion at Bremerhaven ... years ago, whose only object in sacrificing property and human life was money—and ... manager reluctantly acknowledged that the State of Florida was insufficiently insured.

AT NEW YORK.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT.

NEW YORK, May 3.—[Special.]—The news of the picking up of the lifeboats of the State of Florida caused intense excitement in this city. Many persons called at the office of the steamship company to inquire about friends and relatives who had taken passage in the vessel. To all Mr. Austin Baldwin gave the unsatisfactory answer that he had not heard anything about the fate of the steamer, and did not expect to hear anything, at least during the day. He hoped, however, that the sailing vessel that passed the City of Rome and signaled the words, "Shipwrecked crew State ——," had been able to rescue the passengers and crew of the steamer in case she was lost. ... Baldwin ... to give the ... of the passengers, or even the names of those who made inquiries at the office, or the names of the passengers about whom inquiries had been made, as he did not wish, he said, to be overwhelmed by crowds seeking information. He received several telegrams from different States and from the Far West inquiring about the fate of many of the passengers.

THE CABIN PASSENGERS.

[illegible]

... apostle of dynamite, "and I don't believe that the loss of the steamer, if she is lost, was caused by dynamite."

"Do you send over much dynamite to England?"

"We haven't sent over any of late, and we did not ship any by the State of Florida," Mr. Rossa said. "Neither do we need to send over any more men from this city. There are plenty of men in Ireland who do the work, and do it well."

Patrick Joyce, Mr. Rossa's lieutenant, was going down into the street. "How many dynamiters and how much dynamite did you have on board the State of Florida?" asked the reporter.

"Well, I declare, you are about the sixteenth person who has asked me that question today," said Mr. Joyce. "We did not have a particle of dynamite on board. We do not send any over now. Do you think that we would place the lives of so many innocent passengers in jeopardy? I wonder who started the report that we had dynamite on board? But I am not surprised to hear it. After the charge that we had caused the recent earthquake in England by dynamite I shall not wonder at any absurd rumor."

GIVEN UP AS LOST.

Mr. Baldwin, the agent of the State Line here, stated at a late hour this evening that he had received no further information in regard to the State of Florida, but he thought there could be no doubt but she had been lost. The chances were that nearly all, if not all, the passengers and crew had been saved. The fact that the two boats which were picked up contained no gear indicated that this had been taken out by some persons. Had the occupants of the boats been washed overboard some of the gear would certainly have been left. Everything in the report concerning the boats indicated that their occupants had been picked up by some vessels. The boats themselves had doubtless been turned adrift because they were too large to hoist on board the rescuing vessels. The two large boats of the Florida would hold fifty persons each. Mr. Baldwin did not think that dynamite had anything to do with the loss of the Florida. Everything which went on board her had been carefully examined.

THE CARGO.

The cargo of the State of Florida was a miscellaneous one, and consisted of 7,483 sacks of flour, 25,885 bushels of corn in bulk, 2,779 bushels of corn in bags, 9,965 bushels of wheat in bulk, 4,845 bushels of wheat in bags, 202 boxes of bacon, thirty-seven tierces of beef and barreled hams, fifty tierces of lard, together with large quantities of sugar, apples, tobacco, butter, and rubber.

THE VESSEL.

The State of Florida was built of iron, and was launched in May, 1875. The Florida was regarded as the best steamship of the State Line, with the exception of their new vessel, the State of Nebraska. She measured 4,000 tons gross and 3,155 tons net register. Her dimensions were: Length, 371½ feet; breadth of beam, 38½ feet; and depth of hold, 28¾ feet. The hull was provided with five bulkheads, making in all six watertight compartments. The vessel was fully insured in English companies, the names of which are not known to her agents, who are unwilling to make any estimate as to her value. She was laid up for over a month previous to her last departure from Glasgow, and was then thoroughly overhauled. She was regarded as a very staunch vessel.

THE FIRST REPORTS.

MEAGRE INTELLIGENCE.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Austin, Baldwin & Co., agents of the State Line steamships, this morning received a dispatch from Glasgow as follows:

Steamer Devon, New York for Bristol, picked up, April 27, two life-boats of the steamer State of Florida without occupants or gear. A sailing-vessel, bound west, signaled the steamer City of Rome April 23, latitude 47°, longitude 34°. She had the shipwrecked crew of a State Line steamer on board.

The City of Rome arrived at Liverpool April 27 from New York.

THE SIGNALS.

LONDON, May 3.—The steamer City of Rome makes the following statements in regard to the signals of the sailing vessel spoken April 23: The first signal was "shipwrecked crew"; then followed two other signals, first supposed to be "State," and presumed to refer to the State of Florida.

DYNAMITE.

GLASGOW, May 3.—The manager of the State Line believes that there was an accidental explosion of dynamite on the State of Florida. It is believed that there were dynamiters among the passengers.

IN CHICAGO.

WHERE THE WESTERN PASSENGERS CAME FROM.

Nine of the passengers of the steamship Florida are accredited to Chicago, but inquiry at the office of the State Line of steamers shows none belong here. Thomas Williamson and Abraham Williamson purchased tickets the 4th of April for Stavanger, Norway, being, as they said, on their way home. Andrew Tarus, who is also mentioned in the dispatch, was booked the 10th of April for Glasgow, for second-class passage, and was evidently a stranger in the city. The six members of the Taylor family came from some point West, and bought tickets to Belfast.

JUNE WHEAT.

Alleged Details of the Corner as Managed by a Toledo Firm.

TOLEDO, O., May 3.—[Special.]—No little stir has been caused here today in grain circles by the details given of the corner in June wheat in New York run by the branch of the grain commission house of Milmine & Bodman of this city. The members of the firm were seen on 'Change, and were rather inclined to make light of the affair. Said Mr. Milmine: "We do not understand that there is a corner on wheat in New York. We think the market is very largely oversold, but to what extent we cannot say. The sellers there have either to settle their contracts or furnish wheat to fill them. So far as we are concerned we have no interest whatever in the market, not even to the extent of a bushel, aside from business transactions with our customers. We cannot understand why there should be any feeling on the part of gentlemen in New York over our transactions there, as it is a fact that wheat is not relatively higher in New York than in Western markets."

To another party he said: "There is nothing in it as far as we are concerned as principals. We have no wheat futures, and do not speculate in them. We merely bought and sold what our customers directed us to. In this case the margins had been put up and plenty of money supplied. The situation is merely this: New York parties have oversold the market and must buy the wheat back again before the expiration of their contracts or furnish the wheat. Of course the deal is a big one—big enough to worry them considerably if pushed. But I don't understand that there is any disposition to push anybody. As we understand it, there are other parties interested in this deal besides our customers."

The views of other members obtained did not take such a placid view of the situation. Said one: "It is true that the New York market has been cornered, and cornered big, by these same Toledo parties. Milmine & Bodman have more June wheat coming to them than the whole visible supply of wheat coming forward. What will they do? They can't help buying from them and selling to them, too. When the time comes around for settlement the parties on the other side of the deal will have to carry out their contracts, deliver the wheat, or put up the price asked, or go down. You will see June wheat go to $1.25 yet."

Another and more conservative dealer expressed himself as follows: "My opinion of New York has always been that it has been a bear market, and that they have got a little Western element there that infuses life into the business, so that when New-Yorkers try to break the market the Western element has stepped in and taken their property, and are holding it for what it is worth, and will make the most out of it to sustain the market for our farmers, and compel foreigners to pay a fair equivalent to our producers for their labor. If the New-Yorkers squirm they must understand that if the United States will not protect values they will take at prices below what it is worth, and it is commendable on the part of citizens of the United States to sustain prices."

THE "NEWS-JOURNAL."

CINCINNATI, O., May 3.—An application for the appointment of a Receiver for the News-Journal was made before Judge Peck of the Superior Court on behalf of John H. Putnam, a creditor to the amount of $350, this afternoon. Opposition being made, the court postponed hearing till Monday.

THE ORIENTAL BANK.

A BAD FAILURE.

LONDON, May 3.—[Special Cable.]—It is now definitly announced that the Oriental Bank, which closed its doors Friday, will not resume. Its affairs are in the most desperate condition. Leading financiers had long considered the concern absolutely rotten. Its £25 shares were worth only £11 last December, and brought but £1 immediately before the suspension, which was unexpected at the time. The bank had a nominal capital of £3,000,000, of which, however, but £1,000,000 had been called in. The capital stock was subscribed for principally by East Indian merchants, who were lured by the prospectus statements that the corporation's lead-mining interests in Mauritius were of so rich a nature that stockholders would never be called on for any more than their original assessment. The Mauritius lead-mine speculations proved disastrous, and the East Indians have now their share of the £3,000,000 liabilities to liquidate.

LONDON, May 3.—Large crowds are collected about the Oriental Bank and much excitement prevails. The bank shares are quoted at a discount of 85 per cent.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Laidlaw & Co., correspondents of the Oriental Bank of London, England, state that very little American exchange is involved in the failure of the Oriental. The California Bank transferred its business to the Rothschilds a year ago.

HENRY LABOUCHERE.

HIS VIEWS ON THE ARREST OF O'KELLY.

LONDON, May 3.—[Special Cable.]—One of the most difficult of London's celebrities with whom to obtain an interview for publication is Mr. Henry Labouchère, the versatile editor of Truth and Radical member for Northampton. Mr. Labouchère has always claimed that his duty to his readers requires that he should reserve whatever ideas he has for publication in the columns of Truth, and, although he has lately announced himself as a believer in the personal interview as a legitimate form of newspaper enterprise, he has persistently rebuffed all attempts to put him in the pillory as an interviewee. The feat of making him talk was, however, successfully performed today by your correspondent, who knew that if Mr. Labouchère would consent to talk upon the subject of the O'Kelly episode he would be pretty certain to have something to say that would be of interest and importance. Last Thursday night Mr. Labouchère propounded a question to the Government in the House of Commons as to the authority under which Mr. James O'Kelly, M. P., the Soudan correspondent of the Daily News, had been arrested and turned back on his way to El Mahdi, where he was to seek an interview with the False Prophet in the interest of his paper. The Dublin newspaper—United Ireland—of the same date published the statement that O'Kelly had been arrested at the instance of Clifford Lloyd, whose ire the correspondent had excited by some hostile criticisms in the Bosphore Egyptien. Mr. Labouchère's question was squarely met by the Government, Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice, Under Foreign Secretary, promptly admitting that the British and not the Egyptian Government had caused the detention of O'Kelly, stating that it had had ample reasons for so doing and claiming that it had in no way exceeded its powers by this action. Mr. Labouchère did not press his question beyond this point, and the discussion was dropped.

TO OBLIGE PARNELL.

This evening he was encountered by your correspondent at the Reform Club, and was asked:

"What was your object in seeking to break a lance with the Government over the O'Kelly matter?"

Mr. Labouchère sought to evade a direct reply by asking: "Well, why shouldn't I try to get justice for my friends or the Daily News? To be sure, its politics is not exactly mine, but it is a contemporary, and journalists should stand by each other."

"Then your interest in the matter was simply the result of professional and neighborly feeling?"

"Bless your heart, no: I had no interest in the matter whatever, and haven't yet, as far as my personal feelings are concerned. To tell the truth, it was Parnell who asked me to question the Government, and I didn't mind obliging him."

O'KELLY'S PLEDGE.

"Do you think that Mr. O'Kelly had any intention of becoming an adviser to the Mahdi or of assisting his plots against Egypt?"

"As to that, I only know that before he left here O'Kelly solemnly pledged himself to the Daily News people that he would take no side in the contest, and, further, that he would not even admit any political coloring in his dispatches. Still, O'Kelly is a typical Irishman, and it may be that he has been unable to resist the impulse which seems to be inherent in all his race to organize an agitation."

"What do you think of the policy of the Government in stopping O'Kelly's journey to the Mahdi?"

"I think it is simply idiotic. Why, surely the Government ought to be delighted if all the Parnellites were to take it into their heads to go to El Obeid. It is not at all probable that any of them would return."

CLIFFORD LLOYD.

"What do you think of Clifford Lloyd's reported action in causing the arrest of O'Kelly?"

"Lloyd has come a cropper this time. It was childish in him to complain of the criticisms of such a paper as the Bosphore Egyptien, and now that his hand is shown in the matter he has earned nothing but ridicule by his action."

AN ANTI-PARNELLITE.

THE POSITION TAKEN BY MR. SHAW.

LONDON, May 3.—[Special Cable.]—William Shaw, moderate Home-Ruler, member of Parliament for Cork, is attracting attention by the intelligence he is displaying in organizing an opposition party to the Parnellites from among the Irish members. Mr. Shaw is one of the few members of the Home-Rule party who is in a position to support the Government on Irish measures without subjecting himself to the suspicion or charge of being bribed by offers of office. He is independent as a gentleman, and his loyalty to Ireland cannot be questioned. He is a Protestant, but is one of the most advanced members of the House in liberal religious opinion. It is understood that he is the author of the Brooks bill, at present before Parliament, having for its object the removal of the present ineligibility of Roman Catholic Peers to the vice-royalty of Ireland. Until recently Roman Catholics were disbarred by law from holding the Crown, the Lord Chancellorship of Ireland, and the Irish vice-royalty. The disability concerning the Chancellorship has been removed, principally through the efforts of Protestant Irishmen like Mr. Shaw. He and his Protestant-Irish colleagues are now bending their energies to secure for Catholic Irishmen the privilege of holding the Lieutenant-Governorship of Ireland.

Mr. Shaw is credited with the statement that it is his belief that English Protestantism is becoming liberalized so rapidly that by the time any heir apparent to the Crown of England finds it encumbent on his conscience to join the Church of Rome he will find that he can do so without jeopardizing his royal rights. Because of his peculiar strength among the Catholics and Protestants of Ireland Mr. Shaw is looked upon as a dangerous leader against Parnellism, because Parnell, although a member of the Established Church, is largely distrusted by the Irish Protestants, while the Catholics seem to trust him as a matter of expediency.

AN INTERVIEW.

Being asked by your correspondent this evening for a statement of his reasons for leading the Home-Rule opposition to Mr. Parnell, Mr. Shaw replied: "I oppose Mr. Parnell's opposition to the Government plans for the relief of the Irish peasantry from their land troubles because I believe that in this policy the Government is as nearly right as it can afford just now to be, and that Parnellism is entirely wrong."

"Don't you oppose Parnellism entirely?"

"No; I am a strong supporter of Mr. Parnell in his assistance to the Government on the Franchise bill. The enlargement of the British franchise is a necessity, and so is the extension of the enlarged franchise to Ireland. Because of this I most cordially approve Mr. Parnell in his support of this measure. The moderate Home Rulers, or most of them, oppose enlarging the Irish vote, and the success of the Franchise bill, in my opinion, will almost annihilate the moderate Home-Rule party in Ireland by replacing its representatives in the Commons with Nationalists. Still, justice demands that the genuine desire of the Irish people should be heeded, and hence I am in favor of an enlargement of the Irish franchise. But I will oppose with all my power Mr. Parnell's interference with the Government's Irish land policy."

Being asked if he had any special reasons for this resolution, Mr. Shaw replied: "Mr. Parnell on this subject is visionary and unbusiness-like. The Government is not in a position to give the Irish people all they should get, perhaps, but means to give them all it can, without doing too violent injustice to the landlords. Now, Mr. Parnell insists that the hungry Irish shall refuse to take any bread unless they are offered the whole loaf. I know that scores of Irish landlords would be glad to get rid of their holdings in Ireland, provided they could secure but moderate compensation. The Government proposes gradually to place the lands of the country in the hands of the peasantry, by advancing them the means of purchase on long terms of payment, at extremely moderate interest, enforcing a low official valuation of the purchases. Mr. Parnell means to defeat this plan by insisting that the valuation is too high, and that the whole scheme is one framed in the interest of the landlords for the purpose of enabling them to effect sales. His policy seems to imply that the Home rule agitation is so successful that the Irish landlords, unless assisted by the Government, would part with their lands for less compensation than the one the Government proposes to decide fair. Now the valuation proposed by the Government is generally so far below that of the landlords that Parnell's idea seems chimerical."

Continuing, Mr. Shaw said: "I have the most positive knowledge that the Government will announce within the next fortnight a new and important proposal for the extension of Irish peasant land proprietorship. In this Mr. Gladstone will name two leading Irishmen who will be asked to serve on the commission to be created for carrying out the plan. This plan will place at the disposal of the commission $25,000,000, to be lent out in small sums at low interest and long terms to Irish peasants who desire to purchase their present holdings at official valuation, which the Government will force as low as possible. This is wonderful liberality, and the step, if carried out, will do more to place Ireland in the hands of the Irish and secure genuine home rule in Ireland than all the political fuss which any number of leagues could make in a century. But Mr. Parnell proposes to oppose this. He gives no reason beyond saying that the measure is tantamount to an official act of relief for Irish landlords. He contends that the landlords will be glad to secure the prices which will be brought by the sales at the official valuations. But he fails to show how the peasants can be enabled to buy their holdings in any other or cheaper way, unless the Government actually confiscates the land and gives it to them. The trouble with this sort of Parnellism is that it contains too much politics and too little common sense."

"Do you believe Mr. Parnell's opposition will succeed?"

"I think it will fail. I suspect that he will not dare to openly oppose this new proposal. It may be that he is only threatening to oppose in order to force a political deal in some other matter. However, the Parnellites are now parleying with the Government over the matter, and a conference upon the subject has been arranged for next week between all the Irish members. I hope Parnell will be forced at this conference to support the Government's proposition."

A DYING MAN'S STORY.

SELF-ACCUSED OF PERJURY.

LONDON, May 3.—[Special Cable.]—A startling story of subornation of perjury comes today from Ireland. Patrick Slattery, a prominent Fenian and an ex-suspect of Derrynokilla Feakle, County Clare, died today after making under oath a confession to the effect that he had sent two innocent men to penal servitude for life. While the parish priest was receiving the dying man's confession he became convinced that Slattery was keeping back some important fact, and entreated him to make a full confession. Slattery then asked that a magistrate be sent for, and two Justices, Messrs. Crothy and Purcell, were summoned. When they had arrived Slattery confessed that he had been suborned by one Markham to swear falsely against two brothers, Patrick and Michael Delahunty, who were convicted at the Cork winter assizes in 1883 of shooting a farmer named Donnellan, living at Killbarron Feakle, in September, 1882. In consequence mainly of Slattery's testimony the Delahuntys were convicted of assault with intent to kill, and were sentenced to penal servitude for life. The general belief in the vicinity at the time was that the Delahuntys were innocent, and that their conviction was the result of deliberate perjury. Slattery added that Police-Sergeant O'Halloran had also been instrumental with Markham in instigating him to swear falsely, and before he died he swore to and signed the deposition, which was then attested by the two magistrates and forwarded to Earl Spencer, the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland.

THE DYNAMITERS

ON TRIAL.

BIRMINGHAM, May 3.—Daly, Egan, and MacDonnell were arraigned in the Police Court today on the charge of treason-felony. Daly was defiant and MacDonnell was dejected. Daly asked why he was brought to Birmingham to be tried again after his committal Thursday to await the Chester Assizes. The prosecution replied that after the charge was prepared against him at Liverpool enough evidence was brought to light to justify his removal to Birmingham on graver charges. The prisoners are closely guarded. Detectives surrounded them in the court-room and others were posted outside. They seemed to keenly feel their position, especially Egan, who listened to the evidence with close attention. When the detectives described how they had been tracking Egan and Daly since October the two exchanged significant glances. It appeared from the evidence that prior to the recent meetings in Birmingham Town-Hall, addressed by the Marquis of Salisbury and Joseph Chamberlain, letters were received by the authorities containing threats that dynamite-bombs would be thrown under the speaker's platform. Special precautions were taken to guard against this. Daly was arrested shortly before the Birmingham election campaign of Randolph Churchill and Col. Burnaby. It is believed that the bombs found in his possession were intended to be exploded among the campaign gatherings.

The prisoners were remanded for a week.

Evidence was adduced showing that the prisoners had been in correspondence with one another several years, also that Daly and Egan were frequently traveling together with Daly's brother Edmund. Egan knew Daly as MacDonald during his early career. The correspondence of Egan with J. Desmond and James Barnett of London, John Morgan of Kidderminster, and J. Stanton of Walsall was placed in evidence.

DANGEROUS BAGGAGE.

LONDON, May 3.—The proprietor of a ship tavern in the vicinity of the Strand seized the effects of an absconding lodger and discovered a box containing twelve pounds of dynamite cartridges and gun cotton. The lodger is well known. The police are searching for him. The cartridges are such as are used in toy pistols.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

A FICTION ON CANVAS.

LONDON, May 3.—[Special Cable.]—Queen Victoria's foibles have again been successfully worked upon, this time by the rising young artist, Mr. R. Caton Woodville. Mr. Woodville's principal contribution to the Royal Academy Exhibition this year is an alleged historical battle-piece, entitled "Tel-el-Kebir," in which the Duke of Connaught is represented as gallantly charging a host of Egyptians at the head of his brigade, and amid a perfect hailstorm of shot and exploding shells. It is true that Prince Arthur had the nominal command of the First Brigade of the British expedition of 1882 against Arabi Pasha which won its final victory at Tel-el-Kebir. It is also true that Gen. Wolseley, in his official dispatches, reported that the Duke of Connaught "behaved nobly," but all contemporary records of the battle would be searched in vain for any such example of reckless daring as is portrayed in Mr. Woodville's stirring picture. However, it serves to cherish the delusion of her Majesty as to the heroism of her darling son, and the painting has been purchased for a round sum, and is to be added to the royal picture-gallery at Windsor Castle.

A HIGH PRICE.

Sir Frederick Leighton's life-size picture, entitled "Iphegenia and Cymon," is valued by the artist at £5,000, although the time occupied in its production was barely two months.

THE LATE DUKE.

Sir Theodore Martin, the biographer of the Prince Consort, and the literary man-of-all-work of the Queen, is collecting material for a life of the late Duke of Albany.

THE GERMAN LIBERALS.

The German Liberals are meeting with great success in their work of unifying their party throughout the Empire. Today at Stuttgart a national conference of the party was held for the purpose of arranging a final plan for the conduct of the coming campaign for the election of members to the Reichstag. Three hundred and forty delegates, representing all the Northern sections of the Empire, attended. Among the resolutions adopted was the following:

Resolved, That the National Liberals of North Germany unite in one movement for the creation of a great National Liberal German party, to embrace the entire Empire, and having for its object the uniting of the whole German people in the pursuit of patriotic liberalism.

A NEW STEAMER.

The new steamship America, of the National Line, has arrived in Liverpool to take her place in the company's fleet. Her trial trips on the Clyde proved satisfactory. The America is 430 feet long, 51 feet broad, registers 6,000 tons, and has a guaranteed speed of 18 knots per hour.

GUARDING SUAKIN.

It is announced that the Government has decided to station an ironclad at Suakin permanently for the protection of the city against possible future attacks by Osman Digma.

MATRIMONIAL RUMORS.

The recent princely marriage at Darmstadt has started a crop of matrimonial rumors, the most important of which is an unconfirmed report that the Grand Duke Louis IV. of Hesse is about to contract a morganatic marriage. Louis IV. is 47 years old, is the father of Princess Victoria, who was married last Wednesday to Prince Louis of Battenberg, and has been a widower since the death of Princess Alice, the second daughter of Queen Victoria, in 1878. The rumor of the Grand Duke's morganatic intentions is generally discredited in London, where it is known that he has made a formal proposal for the hand of Princess Beatrice, the Queen's only unmarried daughter. It is also stated on good authority that this proposal has been accepted by the Queen and Princess Beatrice, subject to the passage by Parliament of the bill legalizing marriages between widowers and their deceased wives' sisters. A strong color of probability is given to this statement by the fact that the Queen's influence has been steadily exerted in favor of this measure, and that it has always received the votes of all the royal Princes in the House of Lords.

THE MANCHESTER SHIP-CANAL.

The struggle between the City of Manchester to secure at an expense of £6,000,000 sterling a ship-canal from Liverpool to Manchester and the City of Liverpool to prevent the construction will enter upon its sixth week before the committee of the House of Lords Monday next. The expenses of the contest have so far amounted to $1,000,000 in lawyers' fees alone. The people of Liverpool secured the testimony of Capt. James B. Eads as an expert, and his statements in opposition to the project have been so convincing that they are looked upon by many as being invaluable, and likely to lead to the defeat of the Manchester scheme.

A COMBINATION AGAINST NIHILISTS.

It is announced from Vienna that the Austrian Government has received an invitation from Russia to join in a proposed confederation of European Governments for the suppression of revolutionism. The confederation is proposed on the same lines as that which it was recently reported Switzerland declined Bismarck's invitation to enter. That bound the confederates to refuse all harbor to social refugees and to surrender suspects to the complaining Powers. It was calculated that if all the European Powers joined in such an association the extreme forms of Socialism, such as anarchism, would soon be crushed out by legal prosecutions and the inability of revolutionists to find harbor or basis of operations. It is stated that Austria will reply favorably to Russia's proposition.

THEATRICAL.

Lawrence Barrett, despite the generally kind words of the critics, has played to starvation business at the Lyceum Theatre during the last week.

Lotta continues her London season one week longer than Minnie Palmer, but has attracted much smaller audiences.

Minnie Palmer closes her season at the Strand Theatre the 31st of May, and it was her intention to take a fortnight's holiday before beginning her provincial tour the 16th of June, but she is being urged by Manager John Hollingshead, of the Gaiety Theatre, to play the part of Phoebe in "Billie Taylor" during that fortnight. Miss Palmer seems to have rapidly acquired wealth by her London engagement, and has insured her jewelry for $35,000. She has also purchased a cottage in St. Johns Wood, and declares her intention of making it her home every summer hereafter. She expects to open in New York the second week in September.

Mr. Henry E. Abbey sent a cablegram to Mr. Henry F. Gillig last Wednesday, the day that Mr. Irving and Miss Terry sailed from New York, asking that a reception be arranged for them at Liverpool. Mr. John L. Toole and other theatrical celebrities entered heartily into the plan, and arranged to have a special train convey the welcoming party from London to Liverpool next Saturday night. This arrangement has now, however, been abandoned, owing to the uncertainty as to the date of the vessel's arrival, and the welcome to Mr. Irving will probably take the form of a banquet in London.

Mr. Henry E. Abbey has secured the lease of the Lyceum Theatre for next season, and will manage it without the assistance of Mr. Gunn. The season will be opened by Miss Mary Anderson, who will be followed by Mr. Lawrence Barrett.

Mr. Henry Wellcome has hired Prince's Hall, Piccadilly, for a reception and banquet to Mr. Frank Lincoln.

CABLE NOTES.

At Havana, Cuba, there were thirteen deaths from yellow-fever for the week ended Friday.

James Russell Lowell, the American Minister to England, will deliver an address before the Wordsworth Society next week.

The London Athenæum declares that the exhibition at the Royal Academy does not attain the level reached by former exhibitions. "The most powerful supporters of the Academy," it says, "have not done themselves justice. The younger men have failed to realize the hopes which were entertained in their behalf. Some of the best instead of showing progress have retrograded."

SOUTH-SIDE TRANSIT.

The Chicago & Lake Calumet Company and the Attitude of Hyde Park Property-Owners.

At a meeting of the Hyde Park Board of Trustees last evening D. L. Shorey, attorney for the Chicago & Lake Calumet Railway Company submitted a statement which was substantially as follows:

There had been for some time a demand and necessity for rapid transit and satisfactory access to the territory lying on each side of Cottage Grove avenue. Parties interested had unsuccessfully tried to induce the existing railroads to supply the demand. Therefore a few of the property-owners organized the new company, and asked that it be given permission, upon reasonable conditions, to construct a railroad from the West Side of the village along the side of the Stock-Yards tracks, and also upon Cottage Grove avenue from Forty-first to Seventy-first street, not desiring to go further south at present, as a route had not been selected. A petition had been signed by a majority of the owners of the frontage on Cottage Grove avenue, also by the owners of adjacent lands, asking that the request be granted.

The petition was referred to the Judiciary Committee—Messrs. Follansbee, Peirce, and Mason.

Ald. Shorey said that the matter was, perhaps, of such importance that immediate consideration should be given it. It was of more importance as regards the development of Hyde Park than any project proposed for some time past. He would therefore suggest that a time be set for its consideration, if the board should consider it of enough importance to warrant a special meeting.

President Follansbee remarked that it would be well for the company at that time to have ready such an ordinance as it should desire granted, as the whole subject might as well be considered. "We can then consider, first, whether we will grant any right of way; and, second, whether we will grant a right of way to you, disposing of both questions at once."

A special meeting of the board was called for Thursday at 7 o'clock p. m., in the Village Hall, at which time the order of business will be the consideration of the petition.

Mr. Roset stated to a TRIBUNE reporter that the frontage between Forty-first and Seventy-first streets was 39,600 feet; that the company had obtained the consent of property-owners representing a frontage of 22,000 feet on Cottage Grove avenue, a majority, with over 1,000 feet to spare, and the consent of property-owners representing 102,000 feet of other property to be benefited.

While the Chicago & Lake Calumet Railway Company claims to have obtained the consent of property-owners controlling more than one-half of the frontage between Forty-first and Seventy-first streets, there is also a spirit of determined opposition to the use of Cottage Grove avenue by the company. A preliminary meeting of property-owners was held in opposition to the project at the residence of Mr. J. H. Eastborn, No. 4320 Cottage Grove avenue, at which a large representation of the property-owners affected was present. It was the sense of the meeting that the occupation of Cottage Grove avenue should be opposed to the bitter end, and that concerted action should be taken in the matter. The following committee to carry out this purpose was appointed: Messrs. Steel, Stinson, Jennison, Garlick, Urbanus, Davis, Barker, Fowler, Johnson, De Berry, and Hanahan. The meeting adjourned to Tuesday evening at the same place.

A TRIBUNE reporter talked with several of the property-owners on Cottage Grove avenue, who are determined in their opposition. The grounds for their action are in effect as follows: "Cottage Grove avenue is already obstructed by a dummy track, and an additional double-track as proposed would ruin it utterly. It would not only greatly depreciate the value of the residence property along the street, but entirely spoil the only through business street in the Village of Hyde Park. If there is any benefit in the project at all it is to the outlying region south of Forty-seventh street, where there are few residents, while the territory between Forty-first and Forty-seventh streets is quite thickly settled. During the week an agent of the company visited a large property-owner and endeavored to obtain his consent. He would have nothing to do with it, and the agent thereupon snapped his fingers in his face, saying that it made no difference to the company, it was certain to get the right of way. It is bad enough to greatly decrease the value of a man's property without insulting him in addition. The public-be-d—d spirit is strong in the company, its one opinion, and it scares us small property-owners. We are afraid that the company will be successful and gain the consent of a majority of the property-owners along the whole avenue by hook or crook, and it will come hard on us whose earthly possessions are pretty much summed up in a small house and lot on Cottage Grove avenue. We think, too, that the action of the South Park Commissioners in petitioning the Hyde Park Village Board of Trustees to grant the company a right-of-way was out of place. We regard the South Park Commissioners as merely trustees of the public and in no way entitled to an opinion or right of petition in such case. The real property-owners are the ones whose rights and interests should be considered, not an irresponsible body of men whose private rights are not at stake. Even in the capacity of South Park Commissioners we think their action was ill-advised. Women and children who drive on the parkways will be in danger from the presence of a steam railway, not only on the crossings but on many of the park drives. We have about 28,000 feet represented on petitions opposing the project, and we will fight the thing to the bitter end."

A BATTLE WITH THIEVES.

Desperate Encounter Between a Sheriff's Posse and Outlaws.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 3.—[Special.]—A fight between a posse of officers and a gang of burglars is reported to have taken place this afternoon in a hollow near Manorville, Westmoreland County, and several men are said to have been killed. No definit particulars can be obtained because the telegraph office nearest the scene of the occurrence is closed. The post-office and a store at Manorville were robbed last night of about $500 worth of goods by Daniel Mitchell and Solomon and George Haines, all ex-convicts. They were observed concealing their plunder early this morning by a farmer. He notified Officer Stiveson, of Kittanning, who secured the assistance of two men and went in pursuit of them. He found them, but as they were doubly armed with heavy self-cocking revolvers and threatened to take the life of himself and his unarmed aids if he persisted in his attempt to arrest them he returned to Kittanning. This afternoon District-Attorney Buchanan led a posse of twelve men to the woods, and when they encountered the thieves a desperate fight occurred. The outlaws fired from under cover, and it is reported killed several of their assailants. This information is from a gentleman just from Kittanning, but he was unable to furnish details. There have been a great many robberies recently in Armstrong, Clarion, and Jefferson Counties, and these desperadoes are believed to be the leaders of the gang responsible for them. When Stiveson met them this morning in the woods Mitchell addressed him in this style: "Stiveson, the best thing you can do is to return home. We see you are onto us, but we don't propose to be taken. You are married and have children. If you persist in attempting to arrest us your children will be fatherless. Now mind what I say." This was emphasized by a revolver held in each hand by each of the thieves. Stiveson concluded that under the circumstances it would be wisest for him to temporarily forego his determination.

THE CROUCH MURDERS.

Third Day of Joseph Allen's Examination—Sensational Testimony as to the Papers.

JACKSON, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—The third day of the examination of Joseph Allen, charged with the murder of Jacob D. Crouch, has developed nothing of a startling nature. This morning Henry Holcomb was again placed on the stand and kept there until nearly noon. He repeated his tale of detective work, and recited how he was stopped by the three masked men, who offered him papers for a consideration and showed him documents. He recited how he got in with Allen and how he told him about the papers and where they were buried. He acted under Detective Gunn. He went to try and get Julia Reese on his own responsibility in order to find out what she knew about the murders. His arrest when Allen was taken was fictitious. He had a 38-calibre revolver when arrested, but did not know whether it was the one Foy had. He saw Foy when he went to Union City. Witness grew excited when asked by Mr. Walcott if his wife did not furnish the Mason jar the papers were found in, and whether his wife was present when Foy met his death. He made no effort to arrest the masked men, and didn't know why. He detailed his meeting with Allen, and his disguise, his visit to the Mason jail, and all efforts to get intimate with Allen. Allen told him he worked in the purifier works, and could prove an alibi the night of the murder. The witness got the jar of papers, and did the digging with his hands. They took no tools with them.

R. E. Frazer, counsel for Crouch and Holcomb, testified that he knew nothing of the Allen affair until after the papers were found, and he told Officer Murray that the men who buried those papers ought to be arrested. He prepared the complaint and Murray signed it. He advised Murray not to see the Prosecuting-Attorney or any other lawyer, and advised him to keep the matter a secret for reasons imparted to the Prosecuting-Attorney.

Ebor Murray, a police detective, was sworn. He entered the case the 1st of April. What he had done was entirely under the instructions of Wilson and Frazer. They enjoined him to keep the complaint against Allen a secret from the Prosecuting-Attorney and Sheriff. He detailed how he came in the woods at night waiting for Allen and Holcomb to come after the papers, but they did not come. He saw a man there watching the ground. He did not think he could go into the woods and find the papers from the verbal description given. The balance of his testimony referred to the arrest of Allen. The prisoner said he would see the Prosecuting Attorney.

Gilbert Wilson detailed the finding of the papers. They found the spot, Holcomb leading the way, and after trying several places Holcolm cried out, and soon pulled out the jar. Holcomb said nothing about taking tools to dig with. He did the scratching, and the jar came out easy. Holcomb went straight to the spot. It was easy to describe.

Andrew Stewart, foreman in the engine-shops, swore for the defense. He said Joseph Allen came to visit a workman four times and asked for a job, but there were no vacancies. The third time he said he was working on the Crouch case; that the man he was working with took him for a crank, and he was willing. April 10 he came again and said things had come to a crisis; that the man he was with wanted him to get papers and letters and place them on the person of Harrington, in the Mason Jail, but he didn't propose to do it. He intended to take the papers, go to Canada, write the Prosecuting Attorney, and then come back and claim the reward.

James Blularny, the man whom Allen visited, corroborated this testimony, and said Allen offered to give him $1,000 of the reward if he would follow him on the train and see the man give him the papers so as to identify him.

Detective Gunn detailed his connection with the case. He did not think he had sufficient evidence to order Allen arrested until he saw the papers. He was present when the papers were recovered. Mr. Holcomb did the manual labor. He had nothing to do with interviewing the prisoners in the Mason jail. He detailed the same and his caution for the Sheriff to search Allen on coming in and going out. He refused to state his compensation. He did not communicate with the Sheriff, Prosecuting Attorney, or counsel for the prosecution, because Capt. Crouch instructed him to communicate with Messrs. Wilson and Fraser.

The examination was adjourned until Monday, when it is thought it will be finished.

THE METHODISTS.

Session of the General Conference—The Sabbath Question—Divorce and Marriage Laws.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 3.—The Methodist Episcopal General Conference reassembled today, Bishop S. M. Morrill in the chair. The devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. Nathan Sites, of Foo Chow Conference. Bishop Bowman announced the improved condition of the health of Bishop Simpson. On motion of the Rev. Dr. Waldon, of Cincinnati Conference, Monday was fixed for hearing the address of the Bishops. On motion of the Rev. Dr. Waldon, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Trimble, of the Ohio Conference, was extended the courtesies of the platform.

The report of the Committee on Rules of Order, which was presented by the Rev. I. R. Heely, was read by the Secretary. The Rev. Dr. R. M. Hatfield, of the Rock River Conference, moved to amend so as to read that a vote shall be taken by yeas and nays on any question if the call be sustained by 100 members present, instead of fifty, as stated in the report. This was agreed to. The twenty-eighth rule of the report, bearing upon the order of voting, was recommitted. The Committee on Rules of Order offered the following, as Rule 22, which was adopted:

"A call for a vote of orders shall be made and seconded by members of the same orders."

The report of the Committee on Rules was adopted as a whole.

The Committees on Revivals and Temporal Economy were called and allowed to retire for organization.

A motion was adopted that a committee be appointed to fix the time and make the arrangements for memorial services for the Bishops and other conference officers who have died since the last meeting of the conference.

A motion was also adopted for the appointment of a committee on arrangements for the reception of fraternal delegates, and that the sessions of the conference at which fraternal delegates are received be held in the evening.

The Rev. Dr. Waldon, of the Cincinnati Conference, moved for the appointment of a committee of one minister and one layman from each general conference district and one delegate-at-large on the Sabbath question. The matter was referred to the Committee on the State of the Church. The Rev. Alfred Wheeler, of Erie Conference, moved the appointment of a similar committee on marriage and divorce, and maintained that the church should not fail to speak out in a way that will not be misunderstood. The Rev. W. H. Oten, of the Wyoming Conference, said this was one of the most important questions of the age, and the conference cannot afford to deal with it in a cavalier way. It is a shame that there should be such a cancer in the body politic as is found in Utah.

The Committee on Revival reported that they had organized by electing as Chairman the Rev. D. Dorchester, of the New England Conference, and as Secretary the Rev. John Foucher, of the Indiana Conference. The Committee on Temporal Economy reported that they had organized by electing as Chairman the Rev. Dr. C. H. Payne, of the Cincinnati Conference, and as Secretary the Rev. W. J. Paxson, of the Philadelphia Conference. After reading the names of the committees the conference adjourned until Monday.

A Walking-Match Arranged Between Georgia Editors.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 3.—[Special.]—The excitement in Georgia over the walking-match which closed in New York tonight has culminated in the arrangement of a pedestrian contest between seven well-known Georgia editors, to take place Saturday next, go-as-you-please, best time in twelve hours. The entries are: Josiah A. Carter, city editor of the Constitution; Sam W. Small, editor Sunday Record; Lido Ramsdell, editor and artist of the Georgia Cracker; R. M. Cheshire, city editor of the Daily Journal; R. C. Bruffey, police reporter of the Constitution; Charles T. Logan, correspondent Boston Herald; and G. W. Byington of the Journal. The referees, managers, and necessary appointments have all been made. Over $1,000 was put up on the contest today, and pools will be sold in all the Georgia cities on the result. The people are talking of nothing else, as the novelty of seeing these gentlemen in a genuine pedestrian match secures the widest attention. Bets tonight are $150 to $75 on Carter against the field, though one bet of $200 on Ramsdell against the field has been made. A purse of $500 has been made up for the winner.

THE WALKING MATCH.

END OF THE SIX DAYS' CONTEST IN A VICTORY FOR FITZGERALD.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Fitzgerald braced up in the early afternoon and for a couple of hours maintained his lead. He fell off again, however, about 4 p. m. and acted very groggy. After this Fitzgerald and Rowell had frequent spurts and often passed one another. The ex-Alderman had to take frequent rests during these spurts, and it looked as though he was running short of breath. Rowell stuck to the track without intermission during the afternoon. Charley Mitchell, the pugilist, was in his hut, and showed great interest in his countryman. He frequently patted Rowell on the back and whispered words of encouragement. At 4:35 tired Elson stopped at the scorer's stand for a couple of minutes resting. Little Vint came along and encouraged him to start again. Panchot and Herty frequently went off the track for rests. The latter held to the track, notwithstanding he was suffering pains that would discourage any but an extremely plucky man. Many thought he would withdraw after making 525 miles, but he was determined to stay till the end. Noremac went under his roof for a long stay in the afternoon. His right leg had not held out so well as his friends had hoped. Little Vint walked laboriously around the track during the afternoon. His right leg also troubled him.

THE FINAL STRUGGLE.

At 5 p. m. there were between 5,000 and 6,000 people in the garden. Fitzgerald made his 600th mile at 5 hours 20 minutes and 10 seconds, and it was greeted with the greatest enthusiasm. Cheer after cheer rent the air. Caps and hats were flung in the air, and handkerchiefs were waved by many people. Fitzgerald was then four miles and three laps ahead of Rowell. He took the uproar very coolly. He finished his 601st mile before retiring. He had only been out of sight six minutes when Rowell pushed out on the track. Fitzgerald heard of this and jumped up and immediately went after the Englishman.

... Arthur and the Cabinet were to have welcomed the Embassadors to this country, but are unavoidably detained at Washington, and the President has deputed Rear-Admiral C. R. P. Rodgers, Lieuts. T. B. M. Mason and T. M. Potts, and Mr. Sevellon A. Brown, Chief Clerk of the Department of State, to receive the august Orientals in his stead. As soon as the Alaska is sighted news will be sent to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where the above officers are waiting, and if practicable they will at once go down in the bay in the revenue-cutter Chandler and take off the Embassadors and convey them to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where an informal reception will be held. The Embassadors will leave at once for Washington. They return to Europe by the Oregon June 21. The purpose of the Embassy is to obtain an alteration in the commercial treaty of 1856, in which an unfortunate clause was inserted by the missionaries, who virtually dictated the treaty, as they were then the only foreigners who knew anything about the language or the people of Siam. That clause provides that the Siamese Government should place no restrictions on the employment by American citizens of Siamese subjects as servants or in any other capacity. Under a strict interpretation of the clause the servants of American citizens were permitted by former American Consuls to sell liquor in any part of the Kingdom. In order to prevent this sale of liquor under foreign protection the King has already, through his Embassadors, obtained the consent of all the treaty Powers, except the United States, to the necessary alteration of the objectionable clause.

VILLARD.

HIS INTENDED TRIP TO EUROPE POSTPONED.

NEW YORK, May 3.—[Special.]—Mr. Henry Villard has postponed indefinitely his intended trip to Europe. A gentleman cognizant of the affairs of the ex-President of the Northern Pacific said that the postponement was owing to a very material change in Mr. Villard's plans. He was to have gone abroad as the representative in England and on the Continent of the Edison electric-light enterprise. This position was to be obtained through the influence of his former backers, Drexel, Morgan & Co., who are largely interested in the Edison companies. In fact, it is said they hold the largest individual interest. It was rumored down-town yesterday that he was about to return to his old profession, that of journalism, and would shortly appear upon the editorial staff of one of the leading morning papers.

Comment at Washington on the Prospects of Leading Candidates.

The Jeffersonians Apparently Seeking for Carter Harrison's Scalp.

Joe Mackin's Candidates—A Talk with a Republican Delegate from Delaware.

AT WASHINGTON.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—A Republican Senator, speaking to several others today, said: "Have you observed the rather remarkable fact that not a single Cabinet officer has carried his State in the contests for delegations to Chicago?" Several replied that they had not thought of the point. "Well," resumed the Senator, "Folger didn't save New York by long odds, did he? Brewster lost Pennsylvania, Lincoln did nothing in Illinois, Frelinghuysen lost New Jersey, Gresham couldn't hold Indiana, Colorado has slipped entirely away from Teller, and Chandler gets the poor consolation of a divided delegation in New Hampshire."

The Star says: "Mr. Arthur is credited in all the tables with about the same numerical strength, the figures varying from 280 to 290 delegates. It is noted, however, that those votes do not very largely come from regions where the Republican party is strong, being mostly confined to the South, and representing in many cases the Federal officeholders rather than the masses. Had Mr. Frye's basis of representation been adopted Blaine would undoubtedly now have a clear majority of the delegates, for, as it is, about 300 of his 340 supporters come from the Republican States. The Blaine men lay stress on the point, and also on the fact that neither the President nor any of his Cabinet has carried his own State for the Administration."

A Massachusetts Republican said at the Capitol today that the sentiment of the recent Republican Convention of that State was against Blaine, and the purpose was to prevent him from getting any of the votes, but since the election of delegates six of them have openly declared for Blaine.

"You can mark down nineteen votes out of every twenty in the navy for Mr. Blaine," said a young naval officer. "The navy wants a vigorous foreign policy, and it wants Blaine. Had he remained Secretary of State we would have had something to do besides lounging around ...

DELAWARE.

ONE OF THE DELEGATES THINKS IT WILL GIVE BLAINE A SOLID VOTE.

Mr. George W. Massee, one of the delegates-at-large from Delaware to the National Republican Convention, is at the Leland with his wife. Mr. Massee said last evening to a representative of THE TRIBUNE: "I am on my way to Denver, and stopped over to engage quarters for myself and fellow-delegates. Our delegation has been announced as standing five for Blaine and one for Arthur, but I believe Mr. Hastings, the Wilmington delegate, although he leans to Arthur, will pay proper consideration to the sentiment of our people and vote for Blaine for two or three ballots. I feel convinced that he will pursue this course out of deference to the sentiment which controlled the convention that elected him."

In regard to the chances of carrying Delaware for the Republican nominee, Mr. Massee said they were slender. This was due to the existence of a poll-tax and the system of assessments, which excluded many voters who were negligent in the matter. It affected the colored vote to a great extent.

RAILROADS.

The Decline in East-Bound Shipments Continues Heavy and the Rates Unsatisfactory.

Facts and Fancies About the Wabash and Other Gould Roads.

East-Bound Freight Shipments Still Falling Off.

There was a decrease in shipments of flour, grain, and provisions East from this city during the last week of 9,830 tons. In spite of this decrease shipments are still about twice as large as they were for the corresponding week last year. But last year this time the rate was 25 cents per 100 pounds while now the rate is only 15 cents per 100 pounds. The decrease in shipments is explained on the ground that the prices of grain in this market have materially increased during the last week, stopping the demand in the East, and also because farmers in this section have been busy seeding and consequently were unable to bring their products to market. Rumors were current all week that some of the roads were taking business at less than the 15-cent rate. Direct charges were preferred against some of them, but upon investigation they proved that there was no truth in the charges. The officials of all the roads leading east from this city emphatically declare that they do not want any business for less than the 15-cent basis, and all seem to be anxious that the rates should be advanced to the 20-cent basis. The demand of the Baltimore & Ohio that rates should be reduced to an 11-cent basis because the Vandalia (Pennsylvania) had been cutting rates east from St. Louis was submitted by Commissioner Fink to the standing committee of the Joint Executive Committee, and it was decided not to comply with the request because the Vandalia claimed that the charges were false and that it had not cut the rates. The rule which empowered Commissioner Fink to order a reduction in rates whenever one of the roads represented on the Joint Executive Committee should make a demand for it was so changed that hereafter when a charge of cutting rates is preferred against a line Commissioner Fink should thoroughly investigate the charge and satisfy himself the rates had actually been cut before ordering a reduction.

The action of the St. Louis, Peoria, and Indianapolis roads at their meeting in New York Thursday and Friday inspired railroad officials here with the hope that harmony will be restored again in the councils of the Joint Executive Committee, and that rates will soon be restored again to the 20-cent basis. The St. Louis committee agreed to accept Commissioner Fink's plan for pooling east-bound business from St. Louis and divide the earnings, and the Peoria and Indianapolis roads ...

The revenues of the company are alleged to be inadequate to pay the interest on the outstanding bonds, and, as the indebtedness is constantly increasing, the complainant avers that he is entitled to the possession and use of the premises under the deed of trust, and that, owing to the financial embarrassment of the company, there is imminent danger that the mortgaged premises may be proceeded against by unsecured and general creditors, to the damage and prejudice of the complainant as trustee. An order for the sale of the road is also asked for, the necessary one-tenth of the holders having agreed to such a course. The time for argument on the motion has not yet been fixed.

The home team excelled both at the bat and in the field, and but for Cady's misplays—a failure to cover first base and three wild pitches when men were on bases—Chicago would have won. Good batting by Ellick, Krieg, and Briggs, with a muffed fly by McLaughlin, gave Chicago three runs in the fourth inning, one earned, and another was earned in the seventh on Schoeneck's double and Suck's single. Cady's neglect to cover first base gave Cincinnati one run in the first inning; in the second, singles by Sylvester, Harbidge, and Hawes, with a wild pitch, yielded two more; and in the fifth, after two outs, a single by O'Leary, a triple by Burns, and a muffed fly by Hengle brought in two runs, one earned. The attendance was about 600. This afternoon Cincinnati and Chicago play again.

Heavy Rains in the South.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 3.—[Special.]—Unprecedented heavy rains have prevailed here this week. Railroad connection on the Iron Mountain Route has been interfered with, but only temporarily. Crops in the lowlands have been greatly damaged, it is feared.

GALVESTON, Tex., May 3.—Specials from Northeastern and Middle Texas show an unusually heavy rainfall in those sections in the last three days in the regions about Dallas, Columbus, McKinney, Corsicana, Howe, Lampasas, Jefferson, and other widely-separated points. The rains still continue. All the streams are high, and are rising in Northeastern Texas bordering on the Indian Territory and Arkansas. Frequent washouts have occurred on the Iron Mountain and Missouri Pacific lines, occasional trains getting through bringing hundreds of belated passengers. No trains on the Missouri Pacific have left Galveston since morning. A number of points in the deluged districts report the appearance of rust in the growing wheat. The rainfall extends over many thousand square miles, being especially heavy about Galveston.

SECULAR TEXT-BOOKS IN FRENCH SCHOOLS.

Paris Correspondence New York Evening Post: The secular text-books introduced into the public schools are also the subject of infinit heart-burnings. It is not strange that Catholic parents and guardians should object to them, for in turning over the pages of these volumes they must fancy that the world is turned upside down. They find that henceforth all children who are given primary education by the State are to be taught that the French Revolution was the most glorious act of man in modern times rather than an epoch of folly and license for which France has been compelled to do penance. Some of the text-books which have been prepared with a view to adoption would be likely to meet with opposition in almost any Christian community. One of them, called 'The Manual of Secular Instruction,' by Edgar Monteil, one of the City Councilors, contains a catechism which is sufficiently striking to be partially quoted here. You may judge of its quality by the following questions and answers: Q.—"Do you recognize the existence of a superior and directing being?" A.—"Why should I? show me the need of Him. Or how could He manifest Himself?" Q.—"Is it true that Christianity in overturning ancient science and grafting itself upon the word did infinit harm to humanity?" A.—"Certainly. Christianity destroyed all that past ages had grouped together, and plunged the nations into the night of the middle ages." Q.—"Who was Jesus Christ?" A.—"A man." Q.—"Why did Jesus speak in parables?" A.—"Because that easy form of illustration allowed him the more easily to deceive the people." (sic). Then M. Monteil pays his respects to the church. Q.—"Does the church honor labor?" A.—"No, because labor was the result of the first sin." Q.—"The church being inimical to modern society, can it be useful to the cause of civilization and progress?" A.—"No." The comments of Catholic editors upon such books as this by M. Monteil form very amusing and exciting articles.

Reduction in Grain-Cargo Insurance Rates.

An order was issued by the Executive Committee of the Cargo-Insurance pool yesterday reducing the tariff on grain-cargo risks. The new card of rates went into immediate effect. The rates are nearly one-half less than the former tariff, and 10 per cent less than the cut rates of outside companies. No discrimination is made between sail and steam. The following schedule is for vessels classing A1, A1½, A2, and A2½:

From Chicago and Milwaukee—

To ports on Lake Erie	$ .40
To ports on Georgian Bay	.35
To Sarnia	.30
To ports on Lake Ontario	.75
To Ogdensburg	1.00
To Montreal	1.25

From Duluth—

To ports on Lake Erie	$ .60
To ports on Georgian Bay	.50
To Sarnia	.50
To ports on Lake Ontario	1.00
To Ogdensburg	1.25
To Montreal	1.50

These rates are net.

Lake Freights and Grain Charters.

There was a moderate inquiry for grain carriers yesterday. Freights were weak on a basis of 2 cents for corn and 2¼ cents for wheat to Buffalo. The accepted rate on corn to Collingwood is 1½ cents. One of the Western Transit Company's boats was reported to have got 2¼ cents on corn to Buffalo. Her cargo is made up of small lots. The latter fact was not reported in connection with the alleged increase in rate. The engagements were:

Later came the steamers Onoko, George T. Hope, and Tacoma, from Chicago. The propeller Portage started for Chicago early this morning, but unfortunately attempted to pass north of the breakwater, where the ice blockade is the heaviest. At dark tonight she was still fast. The steamer H. B. Packer is still outside firmly wedged among huge clampers. Her wheel has been broken and rendered useless. This morning, while backing up, her rudder struck the ice with such force that the steering-wheel flew out of the wheelsman's hand, breaking his left arm and hurting his head slightly. His name is Finn. He was brought in by a tug and sent to the Marine Hospital. The steam-barge Caldwell and barges Dobbins and Neal are also fast in the ice. The barge Bay City struck lightly on Horse-Shoe Reef, and came to just below it. She was towed in tonight by the tug Bryant. While towing out through the ice the schooner Crosthwaite collided with the steamer Onoko, which was coming in. The schooner lost her jibboom and bowsprit and the Onoko was damaged slightly forward. The dent in the Onoko's side where the Barnum struck her is hardly worth noticing. She came down all right and will not need docking.

The steamer Monteagle was launched this afternoon at Mills' yard. She is owned by M. J. Cummings and Capt. Pat Griffin, of Oswego. She is 230 feet long, thirty-five feet beam, and twenty feet hold. She has two decks and carries three spars. Her frames are iron-strapped and she has an iron arch inside the ceiling. She has a fore-and-aft compound engine, with cylinders of twenty-six and forty-eight inches and forty-two-inch stroke, and two steel boilers, each eight and a half by sixteen feet. She will be finished about June 1, and will cost, complete, $95,000. Capt. Pat Griffin will command her, and she will tow the schooners Blazing Star, Mystic Star, and White Star in the Chicago and Ogdensburg trade.

Milwaukee Marine—A Water-Logged Schooner—Grain Freights and Charters.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 3.—[Special.]—The schooner W. M. Brigham, lumber-laden from Whitehall, was towed in here today in a water-logged condition. The Brigham was caught in the heavy gale of Thursday night about thirty miles off Whitehall and sprung a bad leak, and afterwards water-logged. She lost about half her deck-load of lumber and all of her head canvas. When about forty miles off this port, between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning, she was picked up by the steam-barge George Burnham, which towed her into the bay here, and she was brought inside. The damaged vessels which ran back here during the heavy gale got away again today.

THE COUNSELMAN OFFICE BUILDING.

An Ornament to the New Board of Trade District.

[illegible]

Edmunds & Hay, and is in perfect harmony with the plan of the building and the ideas of the architects. Henry Dibblee, dealer in mantels, grates, floor and ornamental tiles, etc., whose establishment at 266 and 268 Wabash avenue is well known to the people of Chicago, contributed to this building some splendid specimens of his art. The Pioneer Fire-Proof Construction Company placed some of its most excellent work here, and walls and floors from basement to attic will never tremble under the fierce glare of the fire fiend. The hardwood finishing, painting, and glazing only adds additional lustre to the celebrity of Theo. Lottes Jr., whose artistic touch has been so conspicuous in other fine buildings of this city. The gas-fitting and plumbing was done by E. Baggot, which is all that need be said to satisfy those who are acquainted with the kind of work Mr. Baggot invariably does. One of the features in this item of the building is that no lead-pipe was used, and the sanitary ventilation, which Mr. Baggot makes a specialty, is of the most approved character.

The exposed parts of the work are elegant in appearance and perfect in operation. In this connection may be mentioned the steam-fitting by John Davis & Co., whose work will commend them to the good opinion of all who want excellent work of that kind. The plain bronze trimmings came from the store of Messrs. Orr & Lockett, of 184 Clark street, who supplied all the hardware for this as for many other of our finest buildings.

Concerning the elevator service, it is scarcely necessary to say that it was supplied by W. E. Hale & Co., whose hydraulic elevators have been found especially desirable in such high buildings. They are so smooth and steady in their rapid flight up or down that a sense of safety speedily takes the place of fear in the minds of most timid. Messrs. Mead & Coe, in the Major Block, are the agents of the building, to whom application should be made by those who would like to rent. There are a few fine offices not yet rented.

The Tenants.

Among the prominent commission merchants that are occupying this building are

from 171 and 173 Washington street, who have the suite of rooms from 23 to 27 on the second floor.

J. A. EDWARDS & CO.

This firm of commission merchants and general brokers, from 6 Chamber of Commerce, have taken Rooms 42 and 43, most convenient to the new Board of Trade building.

GEO. C. BALL & CO.,

from 159 Washington street, are another well-known firm in commission, grain, and provisions that has taken offices in this building. Their rooms are Nos. 58 and 59, fifth floor.

ALDRICH, NORTON & CO.

These favorably known commission merchants have removed from 78 La Salle street to this building, and occupy the very eligible rooms 63 and 64.

A PAINFUL MISTAKE.

Nearly Resulting in the Painless Taking Off of What Will Prove to Become One of the Landmarks of State Street.

A most remarkable occurrence took place a few days since which has caused no small amount of comment throughout the city and even bids fair to continue to be a topic of conversation, if it does not prove to be a rather expensive joke in the end, on two of our most reliable business houses. It will be remembered that during the past two or three months very extensive remodelings and refurnishings have been in progress in one of the principal stores of the street by two large and well-known manufacturing concerns—in fact the entire inside of the four-story and basement building having been elegantly and very elaborately refitted, most of it in hardwood, tiling, mirrors, etc., the immense deep and spacious plate-glass showcases had been filled with the richest, most costly silver, silver-plate ware (all beautiful specimens of one concern's own manufacture) on the one side, and an immense stock of clocks, from the lowest-priced to the most expensive and accurate jewelers' regulator (products of the other's manufactory), together with large lines of their own importations of French Cathedral gong clocks, bronzes, statuets, etc., had been tastefully arranged on the other, while the entire front of the first story had been torn out and re-[illegible]

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great

Is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best blood purifying medicine, in the world.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS.

The Bill to Amend the Anti-Chinese Act Passed by the House.

Progress of the Barefaced Attempt to Unseat Peelle of Indiana.

Financial Legislation—The Shipping Bill—Rivers and Harbors—Tariff Talk.

THE ANTI-CHINESE BILL.

AN INTERESTING DISCUSSION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—General debate on the bill to amend the anti-Chinese act was interesting owing to the enthusiasm of the Representatives from the Pacific States. Several of them made excellent speeches, which were noticeable for a better tone than the speeches on the same subject delivered in Congress three or four years ago. There was less exhibition of personal hostility to the Chinese as a race, and the arguments in favor of the bill were based on general grounds, to which even the radical humanitarians could find no very strong objections. The speeches made by Mr. Henley and Mr. Sumner, of California, and by Mr. George, of Oregon, showed that they have made a thorough study of the question, and that the demands they are now making for amendments to the original act have a reasonable foundation.

The discussion gave the friends of the laboring man an opportunity to say a good word for him. Mr. Lamb, of Indiana, undertook to place Mr. Browne, of the same State, in a false position, and Mr. Browne's reply was a specimen of eloquence such as the House seldom furnishes in a running debate. Mr. Lamb's speech had been awaited with interest, because some of the friends of the Morrison bill had asserted that he would take that opportunity [illegible]

[illegible] to his side of the House to stand by the material interests of the Pacific Coast. It was not a party measure with the people of that region. The people there were united; they looked on this measure as a matter of the very greatest importance to their advancement, prosperity, and happiness in the future.

Mr. Rice opposed the bill.

Referring to some remark of Mr. Henley's relative to the religion of the Chinese, he quoted from a letter written him by a Chinese merchant inclosing a subscription of $3,000 for the Garfield Memorial-Hospital fund. He prayed his California friends to amend the act by providing that, instead of passports, men who had subscribed to the Garfield memorial fund should present their receipts for not less than $300 before they were permitted to come to this country to view the hospital they had helped to build. Who showed best, the disciples of Confucius who, years before the Christian era, had declared "Do not do to others that which you would not wish them to do to you," or those who wear the sign of Jesus of Nazareth, though he feared they did not always exhibit the spirit of the Master in their acts?

Mr. Budd inquired whether the gentleman did not know that the Chinese had no regard for their daughters; did not even give them names, and sold them into prostitution; that they sold their wives and killed their children.

Mr. Rice replied that he had not known more than half that before. He did know there were many bad places in the world—some in China, some in San Francisco, some in New York, some in a very slight degree in Washington. Returning to the consideration of the bill he said that its heart and kernel were contained in the fifteenth amendment, which applied the provisions of the law to the Chinese who are the subjects of China or any other foreign Power. That was all there was in the bill that was not puerile and frivolous. It was the "Be—all and end—all" of the bill. It was intended to exclude the English Chinese from the United States. Where was the treaty right to do that? How long would England keep her ironclads from bombarding our cities if the United States should refuse to her subjects, Chinese though they were, the right to set foot on our shores? Did the gentlemen think the English Government of Hong Kong would sit down and grant to a Chinese sailor on an English vessel a ridiculous certificate which this bill required? Were gentlemen ready here and now to enact a law when its only provisions would either be ignored as foolish bombast by the English or would lead to war with that country? The bill was petty in its details, presumptuous in its attempts, and impossible as to its execution. This country ought to cultivate friendly relations with China in order to cultivate the advantages of trade and commerce. He adjured the House not to do that which would cover the broad Pacific with the red flags of war and conquest, but rather that which would cover it with the white sails and iron-keeled ships of commerce and weave the indissoluble bonds of friendship and amity across the ocean. Let not Congress build upon the Pacific Coast a Chinese wall, with gates opening only within and cannon frowning without, but rather let from the high turrets of Christian civilization the electric light of science and philanthropy shine across the Pacific to illumine the dark places of the old lands where the race was born.

Mr. Glascock in a brief speech defended the bill from Mr. Rice's criticisms, and expressed amazement at the misapprehension which existed in the Eastern States as to the Chinese character. Notwithstanding the assertions of the gentleman from Massachusetts there was not an amendment proposed to the law that was not based on some sound, substantial reason.

Mr. Sumner, of California, said the purpose of the bill was to perfect a law enacted two years ago, and to remedy the defects that were found to exist therein; and defended the propriety of that legislation on moral and religious grounds. He denied that this measure would not be presented if the Chinamen had votes.

Mr. Hitt opposed the measure as being repugnant to the free institutions of the country, and denounced the inquisitorial system which was adopted towards the Chinese as more insulting than even that which Russia adopted towards persons coming into her territory in times of dynamite terror.

Mr. Cassidy said the representatives of the Pacific coast in asking Congress to make the law effective were simply recording the expressed will of both great political parties of the country as expressed in their National conventions for the last eight years. No Chinaman ever came here, as other immigrants did, because they loved liberty and hated oppression.

Mr. Tully supported the bill, and said if the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Rice) would reside for a while in California he would change his views on the subject. He stated his personal experience with the Chinese to show that they cared nothing for American institutions.

Messrs. Kean and Lyman opposed the bill.

Mr. Poland spoke against the bill.

Mr. Browne, of Indiana, was opposed to the bill because it followed the same line of legislation as the original act, and violated every idea he had of human rights. The keynote to this infernal legislation was that the men were not white. He recalled a speech made by a distinguished member (referring to Mr. Cox, of New York) in which he had referred to the negro as being low, ignorant, debased, and degraded. Since the negroes had been made voters their character had undergone a change in the opinion of that gentleman, and now in church, and hall, and lecture-rooms that gentleman sought to establish the fact that the negro was the wittiest, the most social, and the cleverest person in the world. [Laughter.]

Mr. Cox, of New York, having left the Chair, replied to this last remark. He admitted that he had had some prejudices against the negro. The great Senator Morton had had them. Indiana had had them. The ablest of all the Representatives which Indiana had ever sent, Jeremiah Wilson, in the Forty-third Congress had brought in a bill and passed it, to break up the negro sable-colored Government of the District of Columbia. They had got to stealing. They stole even the spittoons from the Legislative Assembly. A Republican majority had taken away from them the right of voting. The negro was better than he used to think him. He was kind, affectionate, gentle, and he liked the Democratic party better than he used to. [Laughter.] He knew who stood by him when the Howard rascalities were developed, when the schemes connected with the Freedmen's Bank were discovered, when the Republican rogues were after his money. Therefore he (Cox) said, "All hail! Ethopia is stretching out her hands to the Democracy, and the Democracy was saying: Come on, come on, poor children of Ham. Come at last to your refuge." [Laughter.]

Mr. Cox having resumed the chair Mr. Browne asked leave to extend his remarks in the record. He wanted to supplement them by a speech made by the gentleman (Mr. Cox) in 1864 on the negro question. [Laughter.]

Messrs. Brents and Eaton favored the bill.

Mr. Skinner, of New York, said he had opposed the original act, because he believed it the most cowardly law which any Nation had ever placed upon its statute books. He opposed this bill as he had opposed its father, because it was small and narrow statesmanship, because it was meanness, because it approached to political persecution, because it was in violation of existing treaties.

Mr. King favored the bill.

Mr. Lamb said he was proud to say that no single Democrat on the floor had lifted his voice today in behalf of the pauper labor of China and against the interests of the free labor of America. He was glad the opposition came from that side of the House which pretended always to protect American laborers. He was in favor of protecting the American laborer whenever, wherever, and under whatever circumstances he could do so. If he could protect him by keeping out the pauper labor either of China or Europe, without levying a tariff, which took money out of the pocket of somebody else, so much the better for the people of America. He was not a free trader un- [illegible]

THE ENGLISH-PEELLE CASE.

SNAP JUDGMENT TAKEN IN COMMITTEE BY THE DEMOCRATS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—It is not probable that ever before in the history of contested-election cases in the House did the result depend so wholly or mainly on pecuniary considerations as seems to be the case in the contest between English and Peelle, of Indiana. The fight between them before the voters was a very lively one, and it seems that heavy wagers were laid on the result by English's friends. After the returns had come in and it was manifest that Peelle had been elected by a small majority English began a contest for the seat. It is asserted by Peelle and his friends that subsequently English went to Peelle and said that if he would induce his friends who made bets with the English men to allow the bets to be declared off he (English) would abandon the contest, but that otherwise he would be compelled to press it. Peelle declined to make any such arrangement. The contest has therefore been continued. Three or four days ago English's father, the late Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency, arrived in Washington, and during the last three days he has spent most of his time in the lobby of the House trying to whip in the Democrats to support the claims of his son. The sub-committee which has charge of the case consists of three Democrats and two Republicans. The Democrats are Messrs. Elliott, Converse, and Cook, and the Republicans are Messrs. Hart and Valentine. The latter is absent in Nebraska and Mr. Cook was not present this morning when the sub-committee, taking snap judgment—only three members being present—voted to report to the full committee in favor of English. The vote stood two to one, Messrs. Converse and Elliott, Democrats, for, and Mr. Hart, Republican, against. It is understood that Mr. Cook, the other Democratic member of the sub-committee, is against English, and consequently if all the members of the sub-committee had been present the report would have been favorable to Peelle. It is alleged that after the official count of the votes had been concluded, and the returns made under which the certificate was granted to Peelle, the defeated candidate for Sheriff secured a recount of the vote so far as that office was concerned, and that English went to one of the Democratic Commissioners and hired him to make a recount. After he had been working two days at this a Republican Commissioner discovered it, and he then began to check the Congressional vote also. The count of the Commissioner of the ballots, according to the Republican tally, showed that Peelle had received 100 more votes than the official returns for those precincts gave him. Nevertheless, the Democratic Commissioner succeeded in making up an account which showed on its face that English had received more votes than Peelle. He was called to the stand as a witness and swore to his count of the ballots. It was shown on his cross-examination that he was paid by English to make this count. It is upon this unofficial count of the votes that the two Democratic members on the sub-committee today based their finding in favor of English. The case is likely to attract a great deal of attention and provoke an acrimonious discussion when it is brought before the House.

FINANCIAL LEGISLATION.

IMPORTANT BILLS TO BE PUSHED AHEAD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Many reports have been sent to New York by parties supposed to be interested in depressing the stock markets, confidently asserting that there would be no legislation by this Congress on the various financial measures already reported from the House and Senate Committees. To ascertain the truth of these assertions, a leading firm of bankers has had its representative making careful inquiries for a day or two past, and he does not find that Congressmen share these gloomy opinions. Interviews with Messrs. Carlisle, Dingley, and Buckner today convince him that it is the intention to bring up several important measures at an early day. Mr. Carlisle is reported as having expressed his willingness to aid in the passage of bills to relieve the banks by recognizing those having such bills in charge. Mr. Dingley expects to be recognized Monday to move a suspension of the rules for the passage of his bill to invest the lawful money deposited to secure circulation, and Mr. Wilkins, of Ohio, from the Bank and Currency Committee hopes to get a vote on the McPherson bill to authorize a circulation equal to the par value of the bonds deposited when the proper time arrives—the third Monday of this month. Other measures will have an equally fair show, and no substantial opposition could be discovered by the gentlemen sent here to this class of legislation. The question, he says, is merely one of time, but the crowded condition of the calendars may interfere with the desires of those who want to secure action.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

THE MISSOURI DELEGATION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—The Missouri delegation in the House held a meeting today to protest against the action of the River and Harbor Committee in cutting down the appropriation for the Missouri River. They have been awarded by that committee a little over $500,000, while they asked for $1,000,000.

THE BILL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—The House Committee on Rivers and Harbors today finished the River and Harbor Appropriation bill, with the understanding, however, that it may be changed at the final meeting to be held Monday morning. If any change is made the members say it will be a reduction of some of the more important appropriations. The total of the bill as completed is $12,441,000. For the Mississippi from the mouth to St. Paul, $3,300,000; Missouri, from the mouth to Sioux City, $500,000, and $190,000 for the portion about Sioux City and for removing obstructions; for the Ohio, from Pittsburg to the mouth, $900,000, one-third being for the improvement of the canal at Louisville. There are no appropriations for creeks, and of the appropriations asked 105 were rejected. In the way of legislation a general provision was inserted to prevent the obstruction of navigation by bridges.

TARIFF REFORM.

MORRISON WILL STAND BY HIS BILL AND CONCEDE LITTLE IF ANYTHING TO RANDALL.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—[Special.]—During the last three days the Democrats in the House have been paying more attention to the efforts to bring about an agreement between the Morrison men and Randall men on the Tariff bill than they have to anything else. The negotiations assumed a more definit form today, and the terms proposed were discussed with much energy by members of both factions. Morrison's adherents generally are very much opposed to any concessions to the Randall wing. They declare that the Morrison bill in itself is a concession, and that to abandon any provision of it is doing more than the Randall faction has any right to demand. Mr. Converse undertook this afternoon to obtain unanimous consent to have printed in the Record his proposed amendments to the Morrison bill. Mr. Morrison promptly objected, and Mr. Converse retired to his seat in high dudgeon. This circumstance was significant, for it showed that to a late hour this afternoon the contending factions had been able to reach no compromise.

Mr. Hurd said today that he did not believe it would be expedient to consent to any modification of the bill. He remarked, however, that if Col. Morrison and his friends thought best he (Mr. Hurd) would offer no factious opposition to an amendment leaving the tariff on wool where it stands and reducing the duty on woolen manufactures 15 per cent instead of 20 per cent. To this the opponents of the bill are not disposed to consent. Their ultimatum is the restoration of the wool tariff of 1867. They feel that their interests are so interwoven with those of the woolen manufacturers that they cannot consistently agree to a proposition which the latter claim would be fatal to their own interests.

Mr. Randall was on the floor all day very busy. He appeared to be making some headway in gaining adherents to his faction, and he expressed great confidence that the motion to strike out the enacting clause will be carried. The Morrison men, on the other hand, feel confident that the motion will be defeated. They are claiming ten to twelve majority against the motion to strike out, while Mr. Randall claims twelve majority in favor of it.

There was some talk today of a scheme to recommit the Morrison bill with a view of having it amended by the committee and have the new bill made the subject of caucus deliberation before it is brought before the House. This scheme seemed to have no influential friends either among the Morrison men or the Randall men. Morrison exhibits a firm determination to stand by his bill and fight it out on this line.

MR. CONVERSE'S PROPOSED SUBSTITUTE BILL.

Representative Converse has prepared the following amendment, which he will offer as a substitute for the Morrison bill. He made an attempt in the House today to have it printed in the Record, but Morrison interposed an objection.

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert as follows:

SEC. 9. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed. This act shall take effect the 1st of July, 1884.

IN A MELTING MOOD.

Representative Mills, of Texas, says that Morrison is in a very conciliating mood and is willing to concede a great deal in order that his bill may be saved. "The spirit of conciliation is in the air," said Mills; "the party wants to pass the Tariff bill, and it seems now that we shall succeed."

THE SHIPPING BILL.

FEATURES OF THE MEASURE PENDING IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Senator Frye expects that the Senate will take final action upon his Shipping bill Tuesday and is confident that it will pass. This bill differs in many important particulars from the Dingley bill, and its exact scope does not appear to be fully understood. The first ten sections of the House, or Dingley, bill are substantially the same as the Senate bill, but the latter has many additional important features. Among them are these: The Senate bill provides for limiting the liability in the ownership of a vessel to the amount of shares of each owner. The present system deters wealthy men from owning ships, as their joint owners are liable at any time to transfer their ownership. The principle of limited liability as applied to the owning of ships is taken from the English system. It is demanded by shipbuilders and owners as necessary to aid in the restoration of American commerce. Another provision of the Senate bill provides that ships, stores, and supplies may be taken from bonded warehouses duty free, as does the English law. There is also a provision that vessels built either wholly or partly from imported materials for the foreign trade shall receive 90 per cent drawback. The provision, which is sometimes called the subsidy section, provides in general terms only that the Postmaster-General shall advertise for proposals for carrying ocean mails as he now does for carrying mails by railroads, stage, and steamboat routes. At the same time the provision of the existing law is retained so that if the Postmaster-General shall be unable to obtain fair bids he may still compel vessels to carry the mails for the sea postage, or one cent per letter. Under the present law the mail pay to vessels carrying the American flag was $40,000 last year, and to vessels carrying a foreign flag $239,000.

There is another important provision as to head-money tax. The law of 1882 imposed a tax of 50 cents on every immigrant brought to this country. The effect of it is, that immigrants who come across the St. Lawrence River in ferryboats, schooners, or tugs are required to pay 50 cents, while those who cross on the railroad bridge come in free. This bill provides for the modification of the head-money law as to emigrants from Canada and Mexico to the United States, where no fees are exacted from emigrants who come by railroads.

A BOND CALL

OF THREE PER CENTS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—The Secretary of the Treasury has called in $10,000,000 3 per cents.

The following are the original numbers of the 3 per cents called today:

Fifty dollars, No. 404 to No. 442, both inclusive; $100, No. 3,388 to No. 3,840, both inclusive, and No. 9,474 to No. 9,478, both inclusive; $500, No. 1,586 to No. 1,737, both inclusive, and No. 3,982 to No. 3,986, both inclusive; $1,000, No. 13,356 to No. 14,471, both inclusive, and No. 22,695 to No. 22,732, both inclusive; $10,000, No. 22,078 to No. 22,953, both inclusive; total, $10,000,000. The bonds are to be paid June 20, and interest will cease that day.

WHY IT WAS MADE.

The steady increase in the Treasury surplus and the belief after investigation that much of the gold export was due to speculation caused Secretary Folger to determine upon making the bond call this morning. Estimates were prepared of the surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30, which showed that it would reach $105,000,000. Of this amount there had been already $91,500,000 taken for called bonds, leaving the Secretary but $13,500,000 to dispose of. Of this he decided to use $10,000,000 for the last call, and the date for its maturity was fixed June 20. This was for the purpose of giving time for redemption before the close of the fiscal year, when the bonded debt will have been reduced $101,500,000—a very handsome showing.

NOTES OF THE SESSION.

KELLOGG'S CASE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Kellogg is reported as saying: "When I became aware that the grand jury had found a presentment against me I went to two Cabinet officers and urged them to see that the true dates were inserted in the indictment which, by the way, was not drawn up for some twenty-eight days after, and at a cost of $5,000 paid to Mr. Ker for his handiwork. My reason for making this request was that I desired to save the expense of a trial by driving the matter out of court by a demurrer. If the true date on which the transaction took place—April 19—had been put in I could have had the indictment thrown out by a simple motion without having to bring a lot of witnesses thousands of miles and retaining counsel. Even if the investigation should not result as I expect, there can be no question arising out of it affecting my seat in Congress. Not only was the transaction during a previous Congress, but I was elected in the face of the fact that the grand jury had indicted me."

THE JEANNETTE INQUIRY.

One interesting feature of the Jeannette investigation is the love and devotion displayed by Mrs. De Long. Day after day, week after week, she sits in her place at the table in the committee-room of Naval Affairs with her dead husband's diary before her, the most attentive watcher of the proceedings. Not a word or a move escapes her. She prompts her counsel, furnishes data for pertinent questions to the witnesses, and in many ways gives evidence of close study and thorough knowledge of all the important facts and incidents of that ill-fated voyage in which her brave husband gave up his life.

SPRINGER'S LATEST DISCOVERY.

Springer's committee has obtained an account-book in cipher kept by the Marshal of Pennsylvania, who is charged with having made fraudulent accounts. Springer says that he shall have those ciphers translated if he has to summon Tilden as a witness.

VANDALISM.

For several days past an artist has been employed at the Capitol repairing the damage to the various statues and works of art done by relic-hunters. On one statue a finger had to be supplied, on another a toe, and some irreverent vandal even stole a piece of the marble which represents the Father of his Country.

THE SEARCH FOR THE GREELY PARTY.

Secretary Chandler has received a telegram from Lieut. Emory, commanding the Greely relief-steamer Bear, of which the following is a copy:

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 3.—To the Secretary of the Navy, Washington: The ice conditions are considered favorable. The Dundee whalers Narwhal and Esquimaux left this week. The Polonia and Arctic sail in a few days, all bound for north water. The early departure is due to the Greely reward, which they hope to secure.

THE PRESIDENT.

The President has been compelled to decline the invitation to attend the opening of the new Produce Exchange Building at New York Tuesday next by reason of engagements previously made to receive the Siamese Embassy at the White House the afternoon of that day and the same evening to receive the members of the Medical Association. The President will, however, go to New York Wednesday on private business and remain a few days.

SECRETARY FOLGER.

Secretary Folger left Washington this evening for Geneva, N. Y., to be gone ten days.

THE MUHLENBURG STATUE.

The statue of F. A. Muhlenburg, the first Speaker of the House of Representatives, serving from 1789 to 1791, contributed by the State of Pennsylvania, was received here today to be placed in the Statuary Hall at the Capitol.

BLISS AND KER.

Today, in the Criminal Court, A. P. Jackson made a motion for a rule to be laid on George Bliss and William Ker to show cause why they should not be debarred. The motion states that they have both privately and publicly maligned, vilified, and slandered Judges and members of the bar, and have declared it to be impossible to secure an impartial trial in the District, thereby placing a stigma upon the entire body of the citizens of the District of Columbia. Judge Wylie refused to entertain the motion.

THE COPIAH ASSASIN JAILED.

HAZLEHURST, Miss., May 3.—The grand jury of the Circuit Court of Copiah County, in session since the 28th, has returned a bill for murder against the Penn brothers for killing R. B. Rial. The grand jury, all Democrats, including one colored man, found an indictment against E. B. Wheeler for murder. It may be remembered that the 6th of November, 1883, Wheeler shot and killed J. P. Matthews, a prominent Republican ex-Sheriff and Deputy Internal Revenue Collector. The case acquired National notoriety through the Senate Investigating Committee. Wheeler was arrested, and yesterday the court decided that the case was not bailable. A change of venue was also denied.

OREGON RAILWAY & NAVIGATION.

BOSTON, Mass., May 3.—The earnings of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company for March were: Gross earnings, $381,400, a decrease as compared with the corresponding month last year of $38,075; net earnings, $130,840, a decrease of $67,700. From July 1 the gross earnings have been $4,156,800, an increase over the corresponding previous period of $336,300; net earnings since the 1st of July, $1,637,900, a decrease of $48,820.

Mountains of Flame.

SCRANTON, Pa., May 3.—[Special.]—Forest fires in this region have destroyed the steam saw-mill of Gage & Clements at Maple Lake, as well as a great deal of lumber. Four dwelling-houses between Moscow and Spring Brook have also been destroyed. The flames have now attacked a large area of standing timber near Moscow, and it is probable that a vast portion will be destroyed.

ALTOONA, Pa., May 3.—The town of Brisbin, Clearfield County, was totally consumed by fire yesterday afternoon, also the large lumber-yards and the mill of Hoover, Hughes & Co. Loss estimated at from $50,000 to $200,000; fully insured.

ASHLAND, Schuylkill Co., Pa., May 3.—The danger from forest fires is believed to be over. Four farm-houses near this place were destroyed. A man named Westhoffer is supposed to have perished with his house. Forty-five to fifty square miles of timber land were burned. The damage in the burnt district is estimated at $112,000.

READING, Pa., May 3.—The Blue Mountains along the northern border of Berks County are on fire in every direction. Serious danger is apprehended. The destruction of wood land is incalculable. No farm-houses have yet burned. The people are fighting flames.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 3.—The fire is still burning, and has extended over two miles in [illegible]

[illegible] not so heavy as first reported.

EMPORIUM, Pa., May 3.—The forest fires in this section yesterday swept over at least 50,000 acres, destroying, as far as ascertained, four large mills and some thirty other buildings, besides an immense number of lumber logs. The people everywhere are fighting the fires. The heat is intense and the air is suffocating, while the smoke obscures the sun. The loss on mill property, timber, etc, amounts to $100,000. The damage to standing timber cannot be estimated.

HOUTZDALE, Pa., May 3.—The fire which destroyed the neighboring Town of Brisbin is supposed to have originated half a mile west of Hoover, Hughes & Co.'s mill, where some Hungarians set fire to the brush to clear a piece of ground for cultivation. The wind carried the flames to the sawmills, and they were quickly swept away. The progress of the fire was then very rapid through the town, and the inhabitants were compelled to fly in every direction, and in many cases without sufficient clothing. When the first alarm was received the business people placed every team at the disposal of their neighbors, and every bar-room was closed.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., May 3.—The severe wind-storm and fierce forest fires that visited Northumberland County yesterday partially ceased about midnight. Today the mountains for many miles are burning and smoking terribly. Farm fences, cordwood, railroad sills, and other valuable property are destroyed. The loss will foot up thousands of dollars. Yesterday the forest fires were the most damaging seen here within half a century.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Forest fires in the country round about fill the atmosphere here with smoke. Middletown, N. Y., reports the mountains north and west of the Shawangunks and Catskills on fire. Fires are raging on the Storm King Mountain, near Cornwall, and in the Highlands west of Haverstraw. A large tract of valuable woodland is burning about three miles from Matawan, N. J., threatening a number of residences. Farmers are fighting the flames.

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., May 3.—The little hamlet of Gilman's Depot was entirely destroyed by fire yesterday. The forests all through the vicinity had been burning for several days with great fury. The residents lost everything. Four cars of lumber standing on the switch, 1,500 cords of bark, 20,000,000 feet of lumber, one saw-mill, and four minor buildings were burned. Andrew Campbell and John Murrain were seriously burned. The total loss will amount to between $150,000 and $200,000. No insurance. Two railroad bridges were burned. A third one was saved by the employés of the railway standing in a brook and dipping the water with their hats to extinguish the flames. The rails were burned out for half a mile. One hundred and fifty men are thrown out of employment. The fire is still burning in the forests all around here and Port Jervis.

KINGSTON, N. Y., May 3.—Forest fires have been raging here all day. A large quantity of timber-land has been destroyed in the Catskills. Many of the fires are extending from West Hurley and Pine Hill.

PETERSBURG, Va., May 3.—Destructive forest fires are raging in Isle of Wight County, about forty miles from here.

MAHWAH, N. J., May 3.—The forest fires about here caused a loss of $20,000.

Gainesville, Fla., Badly Scorched.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., May 3.—[Special.]—Fire broke out in the Varnum Hotel at 3 o'clock this morning, and when discovered had enveloped the upper and rear end of the building, and in a remarkable short time the entire structure was wrapped in flames. The lodgers had a narrow escape from death, many of them rushing through the smoke on the balcony and jumping down into the streets. Several seminary cadets dropped from the balcony to the sidewalk. Several of the sleepers were not aroused until the flames were burning the door-handles, and escaped with difficulty. Mrs. Gen. Varnum was rescued from the balcony by means of a ladder. Bucket brigades were formed, but were unable to save the adjoining building, and the entire west side of the square was soon leveled. The greatest excitement prevailed, men, women, and children hurrying to and fro removing goods and furniture to the square. At one time the heat was so intense that fears were entertained for the court-house. Clerk Carlisle offered $1,000 to any person who would mount the roof. Several volunteered, and with the aid of wet blankets the fire was kept off. The flames swept away building after building. Fortunately a light wind prevailed, and the Arlington Hotel was saved after a desperate fight. At 5 o'clock every building on that side of the square was in ashes. All around the square merchants removed their goods from the stores, believing that the entire business centre would be burned. The origin of the fire is not known.

At 8 o'clock, as the guests were going to breakfast, the Arlington Hotel was discovered to be on fire, the flames bursting from the kitchen roof. The fire made such rapid headway that attention only was turned to the saving of furniture and saturating the buildings on the opposit corners. Fortunately the immense trees shielded the office of the Transit & Peninsula Railway, else the entire north side of the square would have gone in an hour. Nothing remained of the hotel.

To L. G. Dennis, of the Arlington Hotel, the loss is $25,000. His insurance is $14,000. The loss of the Varnum Hotel is $10,000 and the insurance $2,000. Endel Bros. & Berlahain, clothiers, lose very heavily. The Florida Southern Railroad office and freight-house were burned, but the loss is not known. P. Martinez, cigar dealer, loses $6,000; his insurance is $3,000. M. E. Schmedding, a photographer, loses $700; he has no insurance. Zeigler & Peifer, grocers, lose $4,000; insurance, $2,000. Chestnut & Clinton, grocers, lose $4,000; insurance, $2,250. Lawrence Davis, a baker, suffers an entire loss. Dr. G. P. Thomas loses $6,000, and no insurance. Dr. J. A. Parker, druggist, loses $1,800, and has no insurance. M. Endel & Bro. lose probably $38,000; the insurance is $11,000. F. X. Miller loses $12,000; insurance, $3,000. J. W. Dawkins, a barber, loses $100. Mrs. Brooks loses on buildings $8,000; no insurance. The following companies are losers: New York Home, New York Underwriters, Germania New York, and the Liverpool, London, and Globe.

Business is entirely suspended. There is danger of further fires. Two fire companies from Palatka arrived by special train in the afternoon and return this evening. The city will be patrolled tonight by the Gainesville Guards.

Mr. L. G. Dennis proposes to rebuild a brick hotel immediately of 200 rooms. The stores will all be rebuilt of brick. The total loss is estimated at about $140,000. About thirty-five buildings in all were destroyed.

Up to a few days ago the hotels were filled to repletion with Northern tourists, and had the fire occurred at that time a terrible loss of life would have been almost inevitable.

$40,000 Blaze in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—At 1:30 this morning fire destroyed the Detroit Steam Supply Company's Works, also the Brady Block. The total loss is about $40,000. The Supply Company lose about $2,000 on their tools and supplies, which is covered by $2,000 policy in the Niagara of New York. Loss on the Brady Block, $10,000; insured for $5,000 in the Hartford and $3,000 in the Franklin. Tenants' loss: Guy F. Hinchman & Co., ship-chandlers, $14,000, covered by $10,000 insurance, as [illegible]

[illegible] Boles' art gallery.
Blair & Churchill, millinery.
A dwelling, barn, and other outbuildings.

The loss is estimated at fully $100,000, and very little insurance. The fire is supposed to have originated in the Adkins bakery, but there are some suspicions of incendiarism.

A Large Blaze, Involving the Loss of Human Lives.

TROY, N. Y., May 3.—[Special.]—Intelligence reached the city today of a terrible calamity in the Chateaugay Iron & Ore Company's mining camp at Bradley's Pond, near Lyon Mountain, Clinton County. The place is so remote from telegraphic communication that it is difficult to ascertain full particulars, but those at hand are to the effect that during a terrific gale yesterday afternoon a fire broke out in a dwelling occupied by a miner's family, consisting of himself, wife, and two children. The strong wind fanned the flames and they quickly enveloped the frame building. The miner, catching one child in his arms, shouted to his wife to escape with the other, and he endeavored to gain the road. He was driven back by the fire, as was also his wife. The whole family perished, their charred bodies having been found among the ruins of their home. The flames spread to the iron company's store, which was heavily stocked, and that also soon fell a prey to the element. The fire next attacked an ore-separator, spread to another, and then to a third, the three buildings being entirely consumed. Residents at the camp made desperate efforts to rescue the miner's family and to save the property, but to no purpose. There were no means for bringing any considerable amount of water to bear on the flames, which the high wind kept alive until the fine structures in the path of the fire were in ashes. The loss is about $25,000.

Burned to Death.

INDEPENDENCE, Ia., May 3.—[Special.]—The farm dwelling-house of John Duffy, in Fairbank Township, Buchanan County, burned to the ground last night. Mr. Duffy and the entire family slept up-stairs, and before the fire was discovered the building was so nearly destroyed that Mr. Duffy and his wife and the two children who escaped were badly burned, and it is feared Mrs. Duffy will die from the effects of her injuries. One girl about 13 years old was burned to death.

Various Fires.

WICHITA, Kas., May 3.—[Special.]—This city is much excited over the burning of the fine Methodist Church on Lawrence avenue, which occurred at 3 o'clock this morning. The fire is supposed to be the work of incendiaries. An effort was made at the same time to fire the Presbyterian Church. The church burned was without doubt the largest frame church in Kansas, and with furniture cost about $12,000; insurance, about $10,000.

PORTLAND, Me., May 3.—Pennell's drug-store was burned this morning. Loss, $60,000.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 3.—The large and handsome residence of James McKay, at Edgewood Station, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, was entirely destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $30,000; covered by insurance.

ALMOST A RIOT.

The Buffalo 'Longshoremen Vent Their Wrath on the Greek and Italian Laborers.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 3.—The labor troubles between the Italians and 'longshoremen are beginning to assume serious proportions. The managers of the boat lines absolutely refuse in any way to recognize the 'Longshoremen's Union, while none of the men will accept work from the boat lines except by order of the union. In consequence many of the families of the 'longshoremen are suffering for want of food and the men are beginning to get desperate. This morning a gang of roughs assaulted an inoffensive Italian walking up Lloyd street with two loaves of bread tied up in a red bandanna. They knocked him down and kicked him. Officers quickly cleaned the street. A large crowd gathered at the Italian headquarters and began stoning the buildings. The crowd was ordered to move on. The command was not obeyed, and a portion of the reserve of the police force was summoned. In the meantime another mob attacked a building on State street in which were a number of Greeks, supposed by the mob to be Italians. The mob threw bricks and stones at the building, breaking the windows and injuring a number of Greeks. The Greeks fired at the mob, but no one was injured. The police dispersed the crowd, but made no arrests.

The docks were crowded with people, the Western Transit Company's dock being the especial object of attention. The Italians began the work of loading the propeller Dean Richmond, which at 1:15 p. m. moved up the creek to the Erie freight-house with the freight-handlers on board. The Mayor, Sheriff, and police authorities were in consultation today on the situation.

Modjeska's Return Engagement at the Grand and Her Repertory.

The Impression Made by Bandmann and Janisch on the Chicago Public.

Points Concerning the May Festival—Miscellaneous Dramatic and Musical Notes.

THE DRAMA.

Bandmann—Janisch

The Bandmann-Janisch engagement at McVicker's has been a pronounced failure in point of patronage, the attendance steadily growing less since the opening night. The stage management and the distribution of the minor parts have called forth severe criticism. English-speaking people took no interest in the performances, and, strange to say, the Germans maintained toward the enterprise an attitude of frigid indifference. Much speculation has been indulged in as to the causes of this coldness, and the opinion has been advanced that the Germans look exclusively to Sunday for their amusements. The fault, however, lies in a great measure in the nature of the supporting company, and in the hastily-arranged and inharmonious performances that were given. Mr. Bandmann does not seem to arouse the enthusiasm of his countrymen in Chicago, and it is not unlikely that he will shortly return to English drama. It should be said of Mme. Janisch, however, that she justified the fame which had preceded her, and that her graceful carriage, her winning manners, and, above all, her womanly and sympathetic art, ministered greatly to the enjoyment even of those whose knowledge of the German language was unfortunately limited.

Academy of Music—"The Stranglers of Paris" will be played by the company that appeared a few weeks ago at Haverly's.

Lyceum—Ida Siddons' burlesque company.

Criterion—George Holland in "Our American Cousin."

Wood's Museum—Sunday and every evening during the week will be presented "Two Loves and a Life." Monday afternoon a new play will be produced for the purpose of securing a copyright, and "Parted" will be given every afternoon during the remainder of the week. The season of opera at this house will open a week from today, when "The Chimes of Normandy" will be given. Among the principals are Agnes Hallock, Alonzo Hatch, Leonora Huntington, and Seth M. Crane. The present dramatic company will shortly be disbanded.

Chicago Museum—"The Pirates of Penzance" will be given every afternoon and "The Chimes of Normandy" every evening. The latter opera will be substituted for "The Pirates of Penzance" at the Wednesday and Saturday matinées. The attendance at the museum has been immense of late, and much interest has been excited in the crazy-quilt show, which will be continued during the coming week. This afternoon and evening "Patience" will be presented, Miss Hattie Anderson appearing in the title rôle.

Dime Museums—Curiosities and variety entertainments.

National Panorama—Battle of Gettysburg.

Notes and News.

Rehearsals will begin tomorrow for the production next Sunday night at the Grand of "Burr Oaks," a drama illustrating rural life in Illinois.

Mary Anderson began her provincial tour April 28, opening in Edinburg, Scotland, as Parthenia in "Ingomar." She had a splendid reception.

Aimée is going to star through the country next season in English. She has a new piece from the pens of Messrs. Jessop and Gill, called "Ma'amzelle," and she thinks it is going to be a hit.

Miss Millward, the pretty and talented young woman of Irving's company, who took the chief female part in "Louis XI." in this city, will be a member of the Madison Square company next season.

An ingenious theatrical mechanic has devised an electric lighted ballet. The young women will have stars in their hair, and the stage will be darkened for a moment only to be instantaneously illuminated with hundreds of girls in orbit, every point in their stage harness picked out with light.

Frank Mayo has gathered about him a strong company for the forthcoming production of his new play, "Nordeck," at Haverly's Theatre. It will include Laura Don, Henrietta Vaders, Maggie Williams, Edwin Varrey, Owen Fawcett, Frederick Paulding, Harold Fosberg, Frank E. Aiken, D. Gilfether, and some others.

Mrs. Langtry is coming back to this country again next season. She will not be here early, but intends to come so as to play from the Christmas holidays until the early summer. She will sail from New York for England about the 10th of July. It is her present intention to play in the British Provinces until it is time for her to return to America.

It was definitly settled April 25, by cable from John R. Rogers, who is in London, that Minnie Palmer will come to America next season. Rogers, during his stay in England, has been flooding newspaper offices in this country with puffs of his star, letters of vindication, etc. He is an accomplished gentleman who can bore his victims at a distance of 3,000 miles.

The Cincinnati News says of the Tom Keene "festival": "The performances, as a whole, were the most pronounced and inexcusable artistic failures that Cincinnati has ever had to bear with, and barring Mme. Modjeska, nothing better could have, with reason or fairness, been expected for men and women of 'such feeble temper' do not often get the start of the drama-loving world so as to coin strutting and bellowing into well deserved plaudits."

Mr. Wilson Barrett, it is now definitly decided, will come to this country the year after next, bringing the entire organization of the [illegible] appear in "Claudian," for which the American rights have been carefully reserved with this end in view. It is his present intention to shortly revive "Hamlet" at this theatre, and if it proves successful he will make that also a feature of his American tour.

William Terriss remarks of Daly's company: "As to the Daly venture I feel more than confident. Every mail brings me encouraging words of anticipatory welcome in the English papers. I rely myself a good deal on my own impression when I first saw the company. I thought then and I think now that it is the finest English-speaking comedy company in the world. Miss Rehan, I am sure, will make a hit in London. They will open in "Dollars and Sense," and "She Would and She Wouldn't" is to be the first matinée performance."

Anna Dickinson has been interviewed and announces that she is going to assail the stage again next season. She has been only holding off so long in order to raise money enough to recommence the battle. Anna is too plucky a woman not to have her histrionic vanity excite sympathy. But if the theatre is too fascinating for her philosophy she ought to go in for management, not acting. With her nerve and energy she could pick up a fortune, instead of losing one whenever she tries to do what Nature and experience have set a perpetual and impassable barrier against her for.

This, according to a dramatic journal, will be one of the effects of the Irving season: "We will no longer be willing to doze while the star is not on the stage, or to close our eyes to the transparent identity of the renaissance palace of this week with the centre-door drawing-room of last week, when Josh Whitcomb or Sam'l of Posen meandered over the boards. We will no longer swallow the mixed masquerade costumes of the industrious, but alas not archæological theatrical costumer for the appropriate vestments of the sumptuous and picturesque past. We will want what we paid for and what we know we can get. And we will get it, too."

Mr. Boucicault will not visit Australia this year. He has declined also the engagement offered him to appear in London in May. His recent tour, which closed last week, extended over eight months, including visits to California and Texas. He was preparing to prolong it when his physicians ordered him to suspend work. He reopens his next season in the West, plays in Boston during the Christmas holidays [illegible]

[illegible] by closing up some of those in which popular prices prevail. The high liquor license has reduced the number of saloons by about 600, and it is thought that a high theatrical license may cut down the number of theatres in even greater proportion than one-tenth."

MUSIC.

The Second Biennial Musical Festival.

The program book for the forthcoming May Festival is published, and presents a very tasteful appearance, being an improvement over the one of two years ago. The gentleman who edited the book has evidently given much thought to its arrangement, for the contents are very embracive, and are of such a scope and character as to be of great benefit to the listeners at the festival. In the preface an estimate is made of the musical value of the programs, and also the difference indicated between the extent of this festival and that of the first one. The plan of the arrangement of the great works is well considered and their logical value, from an educational standpoint, made interesting to the reader. Short but well-written sketches of the leading soloists is the next feature in the book. It is very pleasant to know something about the lives of such great singers as Materna, Nilsson, Scaria, and Winkelmann, as well as to realize that our American artists—Miss Juch, Miss Winant, Messrs. Remmertz and Toedt—are to form part of the solo attractions of the festival. There have also been written three very interesting articles upon the symphonies to be performed, in which are given a careful analysis of the works, the division of the movements, with the notes of the prominent themes, and a description of the style of each composer. It will be remembered that Mozart's G minor symphony, Beethoven's "Eroica," and that of Schubert in C are to be given.

The great "Requiem Mass," by Berlioz, has been made the subject matter of an article, and one upon Gounod's "Redemption" also appears. There are also articles on the Wagner music, etc. To the musical listener who is to hear the selections from the great Wagner operas for the first time these interesting articles will be of much value. To rightly understand the scope of the Wagnerian idea some insight into his method of developing his dramas is almost a necessity. The emotional and dramatic idea, unfolded as it is in his circle of works, is not to be comprehended in a passing moment. The sale of season tickets, at $15 each, will begin tomorrow at Central Music-Hall.

The Musical Entertainments for This Week.

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Georg Henschel will give a vocal recital at Hershey Music-Hall. The delightful and most artistic singing of this lady and gentleman has given them a wide reputation, and deservedly so. The program for tomorrow evening is very fine, embracing selections from Carissimi, Franck, Pergolesi, Händel, Beethoven, Weber, Mendelssohn, Schubert, Boieldieu, Massenet, and from Mr. Henschel himself. Every lover of song should avail himself of this opportunity to hear the beautiful interpretations of Mr. and Mrs. Henschel.

At Haverly's Theatre the Bijou opera-bouffe company will produce Offenbach's "Orpheus and Eurydice." They bring all the scenery with them, and it is promised to be very fine. The troupe includes Marie Varoni, who will appear as Eurydice, Laura Joyce Bell as Diana, Ida Mulle as Cupid, Annie Caldwell as Venus, Jennie McNulty as Mercury, Daisy Murdock as Hebe, Digby Bell as Jupiter, E. S. Grant as Pluto, and Harry Pepper as Orpheus. The music of Offenbach is of such a light and sparkling character that it always pleases the lovers of opera bouffe. The representation of the spectacular little opera as now presented to the public has cost the management a large sum of money, and wherever it has been given its beauty is said to have attracted much admiration. A large and effective chorus is promised, made up of fresh young voices. The season will be three weeks.

At Weber Music-Hall tomorrow evening Miss Flora Spencer Colby, a young pianiste, will make her début. She will have the assistance of Miss Jennie Owens, Mr. de Celle, the tenor, the Chicago Quartet Club, and Mr. S. G. Pratt. The program is an interesting one and gives plenty of opportunity for the young lady to show her powers.

At the Chicago Museum the light opera company will give "The Chimes of Normandy" every evening and Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. At the other matinées "The Pirates of Penzance" will be sung. It will be noted that at this house there will be two performances of opera daily.

Home Notes.

Mr. Sternburg, the pianist, will give two recitals in Weber Music-Hall May 12 and 17.

Miss Neely Stevens, the talented young pianiste, is to give a concert in this city at an early date.

An important rehearsal of the Apollo Club will be held tomorrow evening. All members are earnestly requested to attend.

The praise service at the Church of the Messiah this evening offers a program made of sacred music by Costa, Mendelssohn, Cowen, Reitz, and Sudds. Mr. Heimendahl, the violinist, will assist the regular choir of the church.

The Mozart Club will give their closing concert May 13. Jessie Bartlett-Davis will appear and sing Creswold's "Music of the Waves," with 'cello obligato by Paul Stoessling, and [illegible]

Tour's "Angel at the Window." Mme. Huefner-Harken, the German singer, will make her first appearance, singing among other selections Schubert's "Erl-King."

A complimentary concert will be given to the choir of St. Jarlath's Church, Sunday, May 11. Among those who will take part are Prof. Emil Zott, Mrs. A. McGuire, Mr. Alex. Bischoff, Mr. Charles Levinson, Mr. Vilim, the violinist, and others.

The festival rehearsals for this week are appointed as follows: Altos Monday and Wednesday, 10:45 a. m.; sopranos Monday and Wednesday at 2 p. m.; tenors Wednesday at 8; basses Thursday at 8; and a mass rehearsal in Central Music-Hall Friday.

A subscriber writes to know if there has been any musical score written and performed in this city that is founded upon Shakspeare's Othello. There has not been to our knowledge. Rossini wrote an opera called Othello, but it has not been given in Chicago within our remembrance.

The regular Sunday afternoon concert at Turner-Hall will begin at 3 o'clock. A good program has been arranged, consisting of Wagner's overture to "Rienzi," an overture by Adam, a fantasie from the opera "Golo" by Scholz, "Scenes Napolitaines" by Massenet, "The Nightingale Polka" by Mollenhauer, a "Potpourri" by Schreiner, and some Strauss selections.

The Chicago Opera Festival Association has sent a contract to Col. Mapleson to sign for a series of performances in this city next spring at the Exposition Building. It is proposed to have a chorus of 300 voices, who will begin to study under Mr. S. G. Pratt's direction early in the fall. The auditorium will be arranged to hold 8,000 people, and it is the intention to have grand opera at cheap prices.

A benefit concert will be tendered to Mme. Rice, the pianiste, who was hurt by a railroad accident. The entertainment will be given at Hershey Music-Hall May 19, on which occasion Mr. George Riddle, the Boston elocutionist, Mr. Liebling, Mme. Kempton, Mr. Sweet, the baritone, and Mr. Heimendahl, with other Chicago talent, will appear. Miss Amy Fay has charge of the arrangements, to whom the friends of Mme. Rice may apply for particulars and tickets.

Notes from Abroad.

[illegible]

[illegible] He sang some songs by Dvorak at the last concert, accompanied by the composer. American talent is winning a fuller recognition in Europe of late years than ever before.

Herr Goetze, the tenor, had to travel from Cologne to Frankfort and appear the same evening in "Lohengrin." He arrived at the wings just in time to "go on." After vanquishing the villain who aspersed the Elsa of the occasion, he embraced her. As he did not know her, he whispered, while holding her fondly in his arms, "Allow me to have the honor of introducing myself to you. My name is Goetze of Cologne."

Operatic matters in New York are in a bad condition. Col. Mapleson's goods are in the hands of the Sheriff for debt to the stockholders of the Academy of Music. Mr. Abbey closes his season with large losses, notwithstanding his big benefit. He has a suit on hand with Mme. Scalchi for $5,000 damages for not singing at the closing performance of his season. She returns by a counter suit for salary. In the meantime at both opera-houses there has been no manager engaged for next season.

A German journal relates that a celebrated musical director conducted the "Funeral March" from the "Eroica," symphony of Beethoven, in black kids and cravat, while he wore a white tie and gray gloves during the performance of the remainder of the program. This gave rise to a suggestion that in future he conduct the "Pastoral" symphony in knee-breeches, round straw hat with colored ribbons, a shepherd's crook instead of a baton; Mendelssohn's Scotch symphony in a checked plaid and bare knees; Raff's symphony "In the Summer" in a light linen jacket.

CONTEMPORANEOUS WIT.

A statue entitled "Slumber" has just been turned out by a New York artist. He took a policeman for a model.

A poet sends a contribution entitled "Why Do I Live?" This is easy to answer. It is because he sends his contributions to this office instead of bringing them in person.—Evansville Argus.

An inquirer asks: "How can I tell classical music?" That is easy enough. When you hear everybody applaud and look relieved after the piece is finished, then you can know that it is strictly classical.—New York Graphic.

"That's the trouble in this part of the country," remarked a Texas editor, as a bullet crashed through the window and took a piece of his ear off. "You make a paper interesting and newsy, and you have got to dodge around to keep it up."

"So you're engaged to Dr. B. It must be very nice to be engaged to a doctor. Every time he calls, you know—and of course that must be very often—you feel as if you were getting for nothing what everybody else would have to pay $3 for."

An English Nonconformist was once bandying words with a curate about Episcopacy. "I should not care to live subject to a bench of Bishops," he observed. The car was brimful, but it stopped to take on a lady. She had scarcely squeezed her way in when a man squeezed his way out, and as he reached the platform he growled: "Here's a fair sample of the hogishness of the men of Detroit!" "How?" The recent revival of "Lend Me Five Shillings" in this city recalls the reminiscence that when the author of the piece, John M. One day Mark Twain said to the ex-Governor: "See here, Governor, they let you collect the donations, but they would never let me do it." "Oh, yes, they would," said the ex-Governor, adding, "that is, with a bell-punch."—Harper's Bazar.

CROFFUT IN MEXICO.

Some Newly-Built Railways, and Their Prospects of Success.

The Industrial Needs of the Country Considered and Commented Upon.

Various Things Which Are Needed—The Indians and Whites—Other Matters.

CITY OF MEXICO, Mex., April 18.—[Special Correspondence.]—Are the investments of Americans in Mexico likely to pay? This is a question which [illegible]

[illegible] I did not wish any lines of [illegible] interest at all. But the rule that applies to all mining regions applies with peculiar force to Mexico—do not invest a dollar unless you can go to the mine and look after it.

As to the railroads, they are quite sure to be good property in a little while. Just how soon, depends on the progress of Mexican development. Two railroads cannot help being valuable—the Mexican, running from Vera Cruz up to this city, for it has an absolute monopoly, and the National, radiating to various directions from this city and connecting it with the United States by a short-cut across Texas. About 300 miles of the former is finished and 800 miles of the latter. I fear the new Central Road may not pay a dividend till a later period, for the distance from here to the United States border is greater than from New York to St. Louis, and it runs most of the way through a region virtually uninhabited. But it is a good road and will develop the country rapidly.

INDUSTRIAL NEEDS OF MEXICO.

Mexico has other needs, however, which are imperative, which have more profit in them for investors than mines have, and perhaps as much as railroads have. I refer to various manufacturing industries.

Mexico is a great and splendid mine of gold that has never been worked. Though with a population of 10,000,000, its entire annual product, counting vegetables, cereals, fruit, lumber, silver, and precious stones, is less than that of the single State of Indiana—less even than that of New Jersey. And the Americans in business here are few. The whole number of people who came to Mexico last year from the United States was less than the Europeans who land at Castle Garden in one day from a single Guion steamer! This is yet the terra incognita—the land of great possibilities.

Mexico is supplied with an unlimited quantity of the cactus and yucca plants, the best-known material for paper, and yet she has only three or four paper-mills, and these turn out a small quantity and poor quality. She possesses an abundance of cheap labor, and material enough to supply the whole world with paper, yet she imports from across the sea almost all she uses. If, in any of the rural towns, you send out for sugar, it will be handed or sent to you done up in a little matting of woven palm-leaf; if you ask for butter, it will be handed to you wrapped up in a corn-husk from which the ear has been removed. Hardly any wrapping-paper is used outside of this city. There is plenty of clear running water—not on this great plateau but all around the sides of it for a distance of 3,000 miles. A good deal of money is to be made in the manufacture of paper here.

Glass—There are no glass-works to speak of in Mexico. Nearly all of the window-glass is imported and sold here at enormous prices, while every State contains admirable deposits of silica well adapted to the fabrication of glass in all forms. I think there is no bottle factory in the whole country, for medicine is often sent to the patient in beer bottles and beer in medicine bottles.

In half of the twenty-seven Mexican States cotton is cultivated. It grows in all the lowland States, and the land yields at least twice as much as in our own Southern States. Yet the cotton-mills here turn out only the coarsest sort of cloth (the dress for the peons), and most of the calico, of which an enormous quantity is worn, is imported and sold here for 15 to 25 cents a yard.

There is great need of the organization of companies for the purpose of irrigation. Artificial watering of the land (riego) is necessary for more than half of the surface of the country. In the Aztec Empire irrigating ditches were used, and Cortes was astonished to find here a system equal to that which the Moors had established in Spain. Under Spanish rule here, however, this establishment, like almost everything else in Mexico, has degenerated, till now only a small part of the arable land of the country is supplied with water. There is an area of rich land ten times as large as the State of New York that needs only such water as could be easily obtained to be made marvelously productive, yielding a hundred times its present store of wheat. This could be procured by damming up the huge ravines or barrancas in the mountains and economically distributing water from these reservoirs, or by artesian-wells and drive-wells, which the Mexicans at present know nothing about.

There is need in Mexico for a large number of canning establishments. Almost every savory fruit and vegetable known to the markets of the world grows here in abundant perfection, yet no effort is made to preserve it. There is fruit enough grown here to supply the world, but there is not a canning factory in Mexico. Hitherto this industry has been impossible, because transportation was so expensive that it cost too much to gather the fruit at one point, but the completion of 3,800 miles of railway in the country solves the problem of transportation, and enables Mexico to do a large export business in canned staples.

In the State of Cuahuila, in the north, very plentiful deposits of iron have been long known to exist, but the lack of fuel has prevented the building of smelting furnaces. Now, however, coal mines have been discovered in immediate proximity, and it is natural to suppose that some enterprising American will shortly wed the iron to the coal, enabling the whole country to profit from the nuptials. If the coal should prove not to be suitable, Mr. Thomas C. Purdy, Vice-President of the National, tells me that he can now bring coal from Alabama and lay it down at the side of the iron mountain at $7 or $8 a ton. Pig-iron here costs more than twice as much as in New York.

There is a good market here for agricultural implements, but they need pushing. The people are inclined to stick to their old habits. In some States they still reap their wheat with a little hooked clasp-knife, the blade of which is about an inch and a half long; much of the grass is still mown with a sharpened stick; and in Nuevo Leon, adjoining Texas, they plow two inches deep with a forked stick, having dis- [illegible]

[illegible] idea in my head that the office of Americans was to teach the world, and as a consequence I often got left, as the Arabs say. On this occasion I went ashore to spend the night at a native village four or five miles inland, where it was reported that a famous juggler lived. We were a jolly party, all besides myself being sailors, and having a hard time riding on the native ponies they had provided us with; but after many capsizes we managed to reach our destination, where we found the fakir and made up a purse of about $2, without which nothing could be done. Some of his tricks beat anything I ever came across.

"He was a tall, thin, olive-hued fellow, with long black hair caught up behind and tied with a string. He was extremely reticent, and all through the performance neither smiled nor uttered a word. The first trick was to arrange our party about him in a circle of about thirty feet in diameter, and we were so close together that no one could pass out without our knowing it. To prevent such a possibility he gave us a cord to hold. This being done he and a smaller native with a bundle of wood took their places in the centre. The young man arranged the wood in a pile and lighted it, when it blazed up the older man seized him, threw him upon the flames, and held him down. Immediately there arose a dense, suffocating smoke that seemed a mixture of flesh and sandalwood. It rose about their heads and spread about until it completely hid them, and from it came such groans and cries that several of the men called out that we had better take a hand, as the boy was being murdered. But I reminded them that it was only a trick, no matter how realistic. We waited perhaps five minutes, when the yells ceased and the smoke gradually cleared away, and there stood the old fakir alone, the young man having to all intents and purposes been burned. He was scooping something from the fire—evidently ashes—into a flask which was handed to us and passed around—the cremated remains of the assistant."

"But," interrupted a gentleman at the foot of the table, "didn't he slip out in the smoke?"

"There was no place to go to," was the reply, "as we were in a clearing, away from trees or bushes. But the strangest part is to come," he continued. "After passing the flask around he took it back and placed it in the centre of the circle, and, putting some wood under it, lighted it. Almost immediately the flask began to grow before our eyes; the fire blazed, and a rich odor of sandalwood floated about, and in ten minutes the flask had expanded until it was the size of a large keg. The fire was then put out, and we were beckoned to come near and examine. I touched it, and it seemed a jar of earth made of plaster or mud; it had a ringing sound as I struck it with my seal-ring and to the hand was hot. After looking it over we returned to our places; the old fakir took a hammer, waved his hands in the air, uttering some mystic words, and struck the vessel a hard blow that broke it in pieces, when out stepped a boy we had seen—or thought we had seen—cremated, as bright as you please. I should be glad to have the trick solved, but have never found any one who could explain it satisfactorily. Some aver that the old fakir concealed the young man about his own person; but that was simply impossible, as I felt of the fakir myself, and he had nothing on but a shirt open in the back and a pair of trousers.

"These tricks are equally as remarkable," continued the story-teller, "as those Polo claims to have witnessed in China years ago.

"One of these consisted in the conjuror taking a ball of wood that had been perforated in several places, and through which strings were passed, and hurling it into the air. Up it went, dragging the cord after it, and finally disappearing. The head man now instructed a boy assistant to mount, which he did, climbing up the cord, until finally the spectators lost sight of him, or thought they did. The fakir now seemed to be in distress at losing him, and called loudly; then, as if in a rage, he seized the rope and clambered up after him, having a knife in his mouth. In a few minutes a dismembered leg, all bloody, fell to the earth; then another, several fingers, and finally the head and trunk; finally the old fakir himself appeared, his clothes covered with gore, looking like a butcher.

"As soon as he recovered from his evident exertion he went through some mummery, and, collecting the dismembered and bleeding parts, gave the body a push, waved his hands over it, and seizing the body by the hand jerked it to its feet, and off it walked nothing the matter with it.

"In Bangkok a similar feat was witnessed a few years ago by Mr. Ralph Churchill. The juggler tossed a rope ladder into the air, and sent goats, dogs, cats, boys, alligators up one after another. All of them appeared running toward him from a distant quarter ten minutes later. These are tricks that seem almost superhuman, yet are ludicrously simple when known."

MURDERERS IN FRANCE.

The judicial statistics of France for the last five years show that there has been a yearly average of over 300 men tried for murder in various degrees; but, thanks to juries finding extenuating circumstances, and to the leniency which M. Grevy has shown, the average of executions has not amounted to five a year. Over 1,000 murderers have found their way to New Caledonia since M. Grévy became President.

BUSINESS HONOR.

From the French: Little son of a bill-broker to his papa: "Papa, what is business honor?"

"Business honor? Well, Alphonse, my boy, suppose one of our customers sends 1,000 francs too much."

"Yes, papa."

"Well, I give Mr. Ratipean, my partner, 500 of it. Voilà tout."

BOSTON GOSSIP.

How the Delegates to the Chicago Republican Convention Were Chosen.

Cultured Methods of Advertising Which the Police Suppress.

Gov. Robinson's Visit to Tewksbury—Other Matters of General Interest.

BOSTON, Mass., May 1.—[Special Correspondence.]—[illegible]

[illegible] The Democrats send Butler, Abbott, McCafferty, and Delaney, the latter Mayor of the new and thriving manufacturing City of Holyoke, on the banks of the raging Connecticut, where people use quantities of beer and quinine and get the fever and ague when the fresh air of gentle spring begins to blow. Judge Abbott, who accompanies Butler to give dignity to the delegation, was one of the original Faneuil Hall Democrats who opposed Butler when first he put the Democratic party of Massachusetts in his capacious pants pocket; and it is safe to say that Judge Abbott thinks no more of the athletic General than he did when, with Pat Collins, Charles Levi Woodbury, and Charles Thompson, he called him names and said he should never have his allegiance. But now that the ex-Governor is on top the Faneuil Hall men have to give in and swallow very bitter pills with no sign of dislike.

When they cannot resist making up wry faces over them they are obliged to seek out secluded corners and wrinkle their intelligent countenances in private.

The Republicans send Senator Hoar, ex-Congressman Crapo, Chairman Lodge, of the State Central Committee, and Congressman John Virgil Long to Chicago, and the delegation is a strong one—much stronger than that sent by the Democrats in Butler's interest. Mr. Lodge, who has won deserved popularity in Massachusetts through his successful fight against Butler last fall, is in some ways the strongest man on the list. Senator Hoar's faults of temper are well known, Mr. Crapo's fight with Bishop for the Republican nomination for Governor in 1882 inspired hostility which has not wholly disappeared, and Mr. Long is not a heavy-weight, while he is known to be a good man and is generally liked throughout the State. But Mr. Lodge is recognized to be a man of rare ability—vigorous, untiring, and a splendid fighter—one who commands respect as well as votes, and has in him the quality of growth. The strange thing about him is that he should wish to enter politics and become so active a fighter, when he has wealth, choice surroundings, a fine literary taste, and one of the best libraries in the country from which to draw inspiration. However, he does like politics, and has made notable headway in the Bay State. But to the convention. The Massachusetts delegates at a Republican convention are a substantial, able-looking lot of men. The old war horses and the three-year-olds work shoulder to shoulder, and where the former furnish the good advice and calm judgment the latter put in the active work. The gray heads were in the majority at yesterday's gathering, and they carried through the ticket handsomely. All went smoothly until Henry Faxon, the Sage of Quincy, who leads the prohibitory hosts, mounted the stage and proposed to amend the platform reported by the regular committee by putting in strong tariff reduction and prohibitory planks. When he had read his resolutions he proceeded to make a speech, arraigning both the Republican and Democratic parties, and succeeded in bringing down the house. But he went out of his way to attack Maj. E. P. Browne, the lawyer who gained notoriety by defending Tewksbury from Butler's attacks, and when he had finished Browne got up and fairly scourged him. Faxon stood it pretty well under the circumstances and was consoled by hisses from the house and galleries when the Major called him names. But the whole affair was altogether out of place in a Republican convention, and was an unfortunate episode. The audience, which had been wearied by Chairman Long's ponderous and tiresome defense of protection, laughed and cheered Faxon as they do the clown in the circus when the annual show comes around; but they voted down his resolutions without much ceremony, and were glad when the row, which threatened to become serious, was ended. Though the delegates-at-large were not instructed, they are solidly for the Vermont Senator, and will vote for him so long as there is a chance of his nomination. A few district delegates are not stanch Edmunds men, and will desert him in Blaine's or Arthur's favor at the first possible moment, probably voting for him only on the first ballot. However, Edmunds is the choice of the voters of the State, who will not take it kindly if the politicians play a treacherous game.

BOSTON ADVERTISING.

The Boston merchant is a very shrewd man as a rule, and the schemes which he concocts to arrest the attention of the passer-by are something wonderful to behold. A clothier the other day placed a monkey in his show-window and labeled him "The Lion-Slayer." For three days the sidewalk was blocked with a crowd of curious gazers, and a policeman had to be constantly on hand to preserve order. It became such a nuisance to the walking public that some one entered complaint against the clothier and he was hauled into court. The complaint was that he blocked the sidewalks by collecting crowds to attend an amateur monkey-show, and that the monkey, moreover, was an animal of objectionable habits, and did not wear sufficient garments to escape the law. It was all true enough, and the next day the "lion slayer" disappeared; but the clothier had secured what he sought—a free advertisement, for the newspapers took it up, and the public read all about the monkey in the "well-known tailor's" window. In another great store, the windows, deep and high, are fitted up as private parlors, in which life-sized wax figures, resembling corpses disinterred, sit in comfortable groups, clad in garments of the latest fashion. Of course, such a display, free-for-all, attracts the crowd; and the dealer coins money thereby. But the most skillful dodge of all which has now come into general use is the placing of mirrors in the shop windows. Ladies stop to arrange their bangs, and of course they look at the other pretty things as well. Men stop to see if their gloves fit handsomely, or if their neckties are awry, and they are apt to behold some trinket worth buying. The mirror act is a fine one, and the man who first conceived it had a superior head.

A RATHER ANCIENT TALE.

One rainy day last week a plainly-dressed, sensible-looking man stepped off of the train at the neighboring town of Tewksbury, and asked quietly the shortest way to the Tewksbury almshouse.

"Going up there, are ye?" asked the station agent.

"Yes," answered the questioner; "how far is it?"

"Well, it's quite a middling stretch to the almshouse, but you'll have to foot it unless you wait for the team, which is just coming down after a sick man."

"All right," answered the stranger, "I guess I'll wait."

Soon the lumbering wagon appeared, and the stranger who sought the abode of the helpless climbed up on the seat with the driver, and opened conversation. They talked about the weather, the prospects for the season, and about everything else, for the stranger was a capital conversationalist. With many pointed questions the driver tried to find out the name and business of his companion, but the stranger did not take. Finally, damp with the rain, and chilled by the raw east wind, they reached the almshouse gate.

"Nobody ain't allowed in unless he gives his name," said the driver; "and I suppose you want to go in, don't you?"

"Yes," said the stranger, "I think I will go inside. Please tell the Superintendent that Gov. Robinson would like to see him."

The driver stood aghast, but finally recovered sufficiently to enter in a dazed sort of a way and tell the Superintendent that the Governor wanted to see him. His Excellency was not expected, and the manager of the paupers had to take him in without preparation. That was just what Mr. Robinson wanted. It is his habit to present himself at the doors of State institutions without any ceremony, and he is loudly applauded for doing so. He found notorious Tewksbury in good order, and was fully satisfied with the condition of things there. Gov. Butler, who made the grave charges [illegible]

[illegible] of large dimensions, but of course nothing in size compared with the enormous creature of steel to be built for actual fighting. This model will be about five feet long, three and a half wide at the centre, and three and a half feet deep. The material will be tool steel, and small guns resembling the Gatling will be put in place. When all is ready, the turtle will be taken into the country secretly, at some place not yet decided upon, and put through its motions before a few gentlemen who have already been invited to witness the trial. It is suggested by some of the invited guests that, if anything should happen to go wrong, the spectators might be in danger; but the inventor says that all chance of danger will be guarded against. As it will not be safe to throw dynamite shells about, more harmless missiles must be used, which will perfectly answer the purposes of illustration. A small engine, capable of driving the turtle on its rubber-clad wheels, will be placed beneath the shell of steel, and one small man will be inside to work the guns and show the animal off. If it works well, as it is likely to, attempts will be made to have the Government take hold of it and make a few for immediate use in case of trouble. Turtles would be enormously expensive, and the inventor's friends doubt if the Government would take hold of it.

SELF-MURDER.

Shuffling Off the Mortal Coil—Curious Facts—Influences Promoting Felo De Se—Methods of Suicide.

We find in the Chronicle, a New York insurance journal, a full examination of the latest statistics of suicide. These are curious, if not interesting, though necessarily imperfect. It is said, for instance, that during the twelve months ended Feb. 29, 1884, there were 1,409 "noteworthy" cases of self-murder in the United States. What noteworthy suicides are we are not informed. Probably the list includes the greater part of those which got into the papers, and yet it can hardly contain all of them. The doubt about the completeness of the record naturally vitiates the totals published. And yet for purposes of study and comparison the statement is accurate enough.

Physicians, lawyers, and insurance men have long examined statistics of felo de se with painstaking care, inquiring into the age, sex, social state, nationality, and occupation of victims, the cause and time of the act, the means employed, etc. The first conclusion arrived at is, that temperature or barometric state has something to do with inclinations toward self-destruction. There were last year 311 suicides in the spring months, 475 in the summer, 347 in the autumn, and 276 in the winter. This preponderance of deaths in the hot months is not accidental, for it agrees with the facts of the year before, and with those revealed by repeated analyses of suicides in the United States. The nature of the influence of the seasons, however, is yet to be determined.

A similar uniform range of ages comes to light upon the comparison of successive years. "As usual," is the language of our contemporary—"as usual, the greatest numbers at ages after 20 years were at intervals of five years. That is to say, the greatest number relatively occurred at the ages of 25, 30, 35, 40, 45, 50, and so on to the age of 60. A table will show at a glance the sudden swelling in the number of self-murders upon the years ending with 5 or 0, and the equally sudden falling off therefrom:

Age.	No.	Age.	No.	Age.	No.
24	21	36	19	50	45
25	29	39	9	51	11
26	16	40	41	54	10
29	8	41	17	55	31
30	25	44	12	56	25
31	17	45	45	59	7
34	17	46	[illegible]	60	41
35	38	49	[illegible]	61	5

At first glance these figures appear to indicate that there is a climax of suicidal intent every fifth year in one's life. There seems to be a much greater prospect of self-killing at 25, 30, 35, etc., than during the years next preceding or following. We suspect, however, that this conclusion is erroneous, and that the returns for the fifth years are fatally exaggerated. The statistics must come from the newspapers, and any one who has to deal with fresh statements of ages knows the prevalence of guess work. When the age of a victim of crime or casualty is not exactly known, it is morally certain to be reported at or about an even 5 to 10. To say that such and such a man was 50 years old or 60 years old, or "about 50," or "about 60," is a most natural and common expression. No one says "49" or "51" unless he knows that that is exactly the age. In all probability, therefore, the apparent excess of suicides on the 5s and 10s ought to be distributed over the intermediate years. There would seem to be more abundant physical causes for suicides at intervals of five. The tendency to exaggeration on years exactly divisible by five was noticed by the Census Office, which remarks: "In the tables of age and sex there are irregularities at certain ages, particularly at those years which are exactly divisible by five or ten. These are due partly to a well-known law of the human mind which leads many persons to give their ages in round numbers—as 30, or 35, or 40 years, as the case may be—when in fact they are one or two or even a larger number of years older or younger, and partially to the fact that many persons, especially among the illiterate classes, do not know their exact age, and so the age given is simply what it is supposed to be."

In the matter of the cause and means of suicide, and the condition, sex, and nationality of those taking their own lives, comparative uniformity from year to year is to be anticipated. A complete list of immediate causes would be very long, but grouping the principal impelling motives it is found that last year 270 instances were due to (or in connection with) insanity, 170 to family troubles, 149 to sickness, 111 each to dissipation and business troubles, and 24 to love disappointments. As to means, 448 persons shot themselves, while 322 chose poisoning, 238 hanging, 127 drowning, and 109 throat-cutting. Men, it is well known, usually resort to an heroic method, while women, as a rule, adopt some more painless device. Long-continued observation shows that about three men kill themselves to one woman. In this country last year there were 1,083 male and 326 female victims. Little importance must be attached to statistics of occupation or to the distribution of self-murders by States and by the hour of the day. But it is suggestive in several ways that last year 501 husbands and 391 bachelors killed themselves, but only 163 wives and 114 maids. Men and married persons seem to be in the greatest danger. It is remarkable, moreover, that the tendency to suicide is vastly greater among the Germans than among any other European element of our population. The literature of suicide, already voluminous, it may be added, is growing rapidly from year to year.

THEY LOOKED AT HER.

New York Sun: A pretty young woman, with fair banged hair, attracted considerable attention in Lower Broadway yesterday afternoon. She wore a silk dress, which changed to a different color every way it was looked at. Her hat was bell-shaped, and was profusely trimmed with bunches of flowers on which rested several butterflies and beetles. A large bronzed owl, with diamond eyes, fastened a bow at her throat. Stitched on her blue silk parasol was an enormous peacock-feather; and a handkerchief, carried in a tiny belt, was embroidered with birds and animals.

TERRA-COTTA.

Constantly Growing in Favor as a Building Material for Decorative Uses.

Not an Imitation—Its Ancient Origin and the Uses to Which It Has Been Put.

Terra-Cotta Clay Differs from Brick Clay Only in Degree—Imperishability of the Former.

"No, there will be nothing particularly new in the style of Chicago architecture this season, except perhaps an increased display of decoration," said a prominent and experienced architect yesterday in response to the inquiry of a representative of THE TRIBUNE. "The modern ideas of decoration are represented by the use of papier mache, lincrusta walton, ornamental stained glass, and terra-cotta. The advancement in this direction has been so rapid that the finest ancient Egyptian ceiling and carved work is so perfectly imitated that to all outward appearance the original is equaled. This is all the outcome of estheticism. This science has grown to such an extent that in order to decorate, furnish, and complete a residence an expert has to be employed to produce designs and combinations in order to insure harmony and perfect taste, not only with reference to the interior finish of a home but in all the surroundings."

"Of course not. Terra-cotta or baked clay—for that is what it really is—is of very ancient date. It is the oldest building material in the world. Let me tell you its story in brief. We shall have to go back to the mythical history of Greek art. It is there mentioned that Debutades, Rhœcus, Theodos, and others, were masters in works of clay. Homer, the blind poet of Scio's rocky isle, also refers to them, and, on the evidence of Dr. Schliemann, the terra-cotta ornaments found upon the Hill of Hissarlik must have formed some part of the pottery collection of King Priam. The inference is, therefore, that terra-cotta was manufactured fully 3,000 years ago. The origin of this product is, in fact, lost in remote antiquity. The Egyptians have a legend that Hun, the Great Spirit, formed the heavens and the earth, and then made man with the aid of his potter's wheel. If legends can in any way be looked upon as authoritative, they, in connection with antiquarian discoveries, go to prove that the origin of transforming clay into an almost imperishable substance is prehistoric. Mr. Leonard Horner has made some important discoveries in this direction. In his excavations at Memphis, he found some fragments of terra-cotta in good preservation so deep below the deposits of the Nile that he attributes to them an age of 13,000 years. This is, of course, very questionable. There are, however, in the British Museum a number of relics of Egyptian art, such as vases and tablets inscribed with records of the ages covered by the third and fourth dynasties, which would carry us back to periods 2,000 and 3,000 years before the Christian era. The Assyrians used terra-cotta tablets for all the purposes for which we use paper, cards, and books. In the museums of Europe about 20,000 of these tablets are to be found. They are inscribed with the annals of passing events, title-deeds, letters, almanacs, and even admission tickets to places of public entertainment. Although the dates are often indistinct, these relics of a bygone age belong to periods anterior to the destruction of Nineveh. There are also many fine specimens of early Babylonish terra-cotta, chiefly coffins and sarcophagi, with figures in bas-relief, always of a pale straw-color.

Of the antiquity of this art Biblical history furnishes ample proof; also that the mode of production at its origin was similar to what it is today. It is doubtful who first introduced the art of modeling figures in clay. It is claimed that the Corinthians have precedence, although both the Greeks and the Romans challenge their title to the invention. Most of the figures have been destroyed by the barbaric races, so that their origin cannot be followed. The probability is that the terra-cotta life-size figure of Mercury in the museum of the Vatican and some large terra-cotta statues in the museum at Naples are Grecian. The famous torso in the British Museum is also a fine specimen of early modeling in terra-cotta. Most of the Greek works are colored, as they had no red clay. The ancient statues with which the Roman temples were adorned were made of terra-cotta, but the general opinion is that many of them were purchased from the Greeks and Etruscans. The greatest developments in modeling in statues and bas-reliefs appears to have been made by the Greeks, but they probably gave up the production of large works in terra-cotta when they acquired the method of working in marble and bronze. During the Middle Ages very little was done in the production of terra-cotta work. It was worse than at a standstill as an art for it degenerated rapidly. But in Italy, during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries the capabilities of terra-cotta were more fully appreciated than at any time before or since that period, and beautiful examples are afforded in the bas-reliefs by Luca della Robbia and the details of many churches in Northern Italy. Accurate examinations of the different ancient varieties have disclosed certain facts which may lead to results of great advantage to modern art. Some of the specimens were simply dried in the sun, while others were baked. Then again some were baked and colored, but not with fixed colors. Some were varnished and had the colors burned in. There is also a mixed species in which the colors were partially fixed and partially painted on the substance. The most costly of all were those finished with rich gilding. It should not be forgotten that in the world's history terra-cotta has played an important part. It has been a golden key in unlocking much of the history of nations that have been effaced from the earth. Details of events that happened thousands of years ago have been inscribed on these resurrected tablets of terra-cotta, and these tablets have withstood, without change, the wear and tear of centuries of years."

"Is there any difference between the clay used for terra-cotta and that used in making brick?"

"The difference is one of degree only. Clay is one of the results of the disintegration and attrition of the various primary rocks. In other words, it owes its origin to the decomposition of other minerals. It consists chiefly of alumina in combination with silica and a certain amount of water. In its purest form it contains nearly 50 per cent of silica, 40 of alumina, and the remainder of water. Where the original nature of the clay is preserved all its productions come, properly speaking, under the name of terra-cotta. The finest clay is, of course, best adapted for terra-cotta productions, while the coarser clay, with an admixture of sand, is more suitable for brick. The red color in terra-cotta is an accident owing to the presence of oxide of iron. Much of the clay used is snuff-colored, and is sometimes stained red by artificial means."

"Where is the clay obtained that is used in the terra-cotta works in Chicago?"

"Some of it is found right in this city and in the suburbs. This is used for making copings and common chimney-pots. The better qualities are produced from Indiana, while some is brought from New Jersey and other States."

"How long has terra-cotta been manufactured in this country?"

"Only within the last twenty-five years. Among the first buildings in which it was used were the Cooper Institute building in New York City and the State-House in Springfield, Ill. No further efforts were made to bring it into use until it was resorted to for ornamentation in the construction of the Art Museum at Boston, and then it was imported from England, where it was manufactured. It has been employed for the first time in the United States both as a building material and for all decorative details in the recently-erected building for the Long Island Historical Society in Brooklyn, with very satisfactory results. There is also some very beautiful terra-cotta work to be seen in the new Metropolitan Opera-House in New York City, especially in the panels on the façade. Terra-cotta is being very largely employed in England at the present time. Formerly it was not uncommon in that country, particularly about the beginning of the eighteenth century, but after the death of Queen Anne in 1714 its use was discontinued until recent years. A complete revival has now taken place; it is not a mere fashion, and terra-cotta has been applied with very satisfactory results in many of the buildings lately erected, notably in the construction of the South Kensington Museum and the Charing Cross Railway Station."

"Has terra-cotta been a manufacture of Chicago for any length of time?"

"Yes. It is about sixteen years ago since the first works were started here. It was an up-hill game, too. The results were far from satisfactory. Ultimately an owner went to Europe for the purpose of studying the manufacture of terra-cotta there. On his return he not only brought with him the methods by which the material was produced, but innumerable photographs, samples, designs, etc., from an inspection of which the Chicago architects derived much pleasure if not profit. From this time the success of the manufacture of terra-cotta was assured, although the works were for a long time run at a loss on account of the numerous experiments with various clays and the small prices obtained for the products. To the credit of this establishment be it said that it took such pains with the work it turned out that it was not long before terra-cotta obtained favorable notice, and architects began to include it extensively in their specifications. The superiority and the advantage of this material are its cheapness; consequently greater ornamentation can be used in the construction of a building. Just imagine what a tiresome and expensive piece of work it is to carve a long frieze of repeated design in stone, and how cheap and easy it is to make an elegant, delicate model in soft clay or on a plaster-of-paris slab, take a mold from it, and turn out from fifty to a hundred pieces—as many as may be required, in fact—by simple mechanical labor. How much must an artist lose by conveying his ideas through mallet and chisel, while with the touch of his finger he leaves the impression of his soul in the soft, yielding clay, which on being transformed into terra-cotta will last forever. This suggests another great advantage—its imperishability. While stone crumbles away by the action of the weather and cracks with heat, and iron twists into inconceivable shapes with fire, terra-cotta never changes. Heat has no effect whatever on it. It has in truth passed through the ordeal of fire. In the construction of fire-proof buildings architects are coming to the conclusion to employ just as little iron, just as little stone, just as little wood, and just as little galvanized iron as possible, substituting in their places terra-cotta. To dispense with it now would be like losing the telephone or the telegraph. Brick is, of course, a species of terra-cotta, and George Washington, in giving instructions for his tomb, directed it to be built of brick, as it would outlast stone."

"Is any special preparation of the clay necessary to the production of terra-cotta?"

"Not exactly. It is stacked in sheds until it is dry, when it is ground to fine powder, and then mixed with powdered old terra-cotta, or with ground flint, sand, or other vitrifiable substances. A sufficient quantity of water is then added until it becomes a perfectly homogeneous, yielding mass. The different colors are obtained by mixing with it certain oxides of metals and other ingredients. For example, red or brown is produced by oxide of iron and particular degrees of heat; manganese will also produce brown as well as black, the darker color being derived by a higher degree of heat. Cobalt gives blue, chrome oxide green, a small proportion of iron yellow, while this is the natural color of terra-cotta from some clays. White is also a natural color. Terra-cotta is, in fact, the revival of a lost art, and although not belonging to any special style of architecture it is liable to produce one. Its use as a building material is growing so rapidly that no great length of time will elapse before residences will be built entirely of it. It has been very liberally used in the construction of some of the finest residences on Michigan avenue. The first building in which it was tried in this city is the Portland Block, and some fine terra-cotta work can be seen in the Montauk Block, the Calumet Building, the Open Board of Trade building, and the Pullman Palace-Car building."

ART NOTES.

In Payne's studio is a fruit piece lately finished representing an overturned basket of pears and grapes. A portrait of Judge Woolworth, of Omaha, is a strong study of character in color.

Miss Lizzie Tuck is making occasional trips to Lincoln Park in order to sketch the "begging bears" so familiar to the children of Chicago. She has an order to paint a Skye terrier for Dr. Rowe, of the American Field.

Schwerdt has just completed a portrait of E. Goes and another of Mrs. Gerlach, of Milwaukee. A charming piece now on his easel is the picture of a little girl with rosy cheeks, large blue eyes, and glossy, golden hair. The child is pretty enough to have stepped out of Fairyland.

G. E. Colby has finished two small paintings, "Haying-Time" and "Nutting-Time." The former represents a summer scene, with large elm trees in the foreground and cattle standing in the water, while in the meadows is a load of hay drawn by oxen. "Nutting-Time" shows a sunny day in the beech woods in October and a number of boys gathering nuts in baskets. The effect of sunlight in the autumn woods is very striking. The two pieces will shortly be placed on exhibition at Stevens' gallery.

"Found" will probably be the name of a picture on which Gean Smith is now at work. On a bleak seashore lies the body of a girl, and near by her are three dogs, evidently the first to discover the victim of the waves. The attitudes of the animals are quite picturesque. Two are in the act of emitting that melancholy howl which grates so harshly on the ears of the superstitious, and the third, a young dog, is the embodiment of simple curiosity. Mr. Smith has finished a portrait of Mrs. William Kirchoff.

There will be an American artists' exhibition and sale at Stevens' Gallery commencing Monday and continuing till the 20th inst. Such men as the Harts, Arthur Quartly, H. P. Smith, the Giffords, C. H. McCord, the Reams, and Harry Chase, of New York, will be well represented, and L. C. Earle, Rosenberg and Field, Bromley, Ekblad, Colby, Gay, Brooks, and other well-known local artists. A reception will be given early in the week, then the exhibition will be open free to the public one week, after which there will be a public sale.

Messrs. Field and Rozenberg will start May 15 for Paris, intending to spend some time in Belgium, and to winter in Spain. They will be gone at least a year, and having some important orders to fill will be kept quite busy. Five large and showy pictures, the joint work of the two artists, are christened "The Dancing Girl," "At the River," "On the Neapolitan Beach," "Tantalization," and "The Rendezvous." They have been sold, and it is understood that they will ornament the walls of a new Clark street saloon. They are full of the dash that characterizes both of these young artists.

A Vermont landscape is on exhibition in Bigelow's studio, and the work is full of refreshment and repose. The perspective shows the mountains in the distance, wrapt in blue haze, and seeming to connect, as Wordsworth puts it, "the landscape with the quiet of the sky." A stream flowing through the valley in the foreground breaks in ripples over its shallow, pebbled bed, and cattle stand in its running coolness. Among the trees are the roofs of cottages and the white spire of the village church. The sky, which is of a decidedly intense blue, is flecked with fleecy summer clouds.

F. M. Goodman, a druggist at the corner of Van Buren and Wood streets, has painted some twenty or thirty paintings in oil, and as the productions of an amateur they are in many respects remarkable. Mr. Goodman has drawn many of his subjects from the picturesque scenery about Chicago, a fact which in itself is enough to recommend his work to serious consideration. He has also traveled extensively through Colorado and the Rocky Mountains, making sketches of the most striking features of that wonderful region. The sunsets and storms of the rocky fastnesses are reproduced with extreme vigor of execution, elaboration of detail, and richness of color, and the contrasts attained compel admiration even when exception is taken to stiffness or angularity of drawing. The two most noteworthy paintings are "Going to Church" and "Pike's Peak," and it is thought that the former will find a place in the gallery of the next Exposition.

SOLITUDE.

For The Chicago Tribune.

The Sun sinks in the West, the daylight dies,
As onward and alone I wend my way;
And still no goal in sight, no victory won!
Must it be thus forever and for aye?
Must this sad heart, in weariness and pain,
Forever long, and hope, and sigh in vain?

O toiling heart! who from the early dawn
Of Life's long day hath sought in vain to find
Some glorious height to which thy soul could soar,
And find in that enchanted, hallowed spot
A rest for all thy weariness and wo,
Fear not, for thou shalt some day see the goal!

Some day, although it may be long and late,
Thy feet shall stand within the golden gate—
The haven of thy hopes attained at last—
Thy fears, and sighs, and tears forever past!
Thine ears shall listen to the songs sublime
That permeate that grand and glorious clime!
Thine eyes shall see in Heaven's unfading light
The glories of a world that knows no night!

The Churches.

The Bombay Guardian, a religious paper, referring to the sunset afterglow, which has recently been again observed in Bombay, says: "We will not venture to predict that this may be by way of preparation for the final conflagration, but one thing it is safe to say—namely: that it is well for every one to be ready."

Moncure D. Conway, who has made himself quite widely known by the clever work of his pen, is coming from London to America to engage in literary pursuits here. It sounds strange to hear him speak of resigning his London "pastorate." "I have concluded to finally retire from evangelical life," he is reported to have said. His evangelism has been of the rationalistic order.

Evangelist Moody is at work in London, but he seems to have parted company with Sankey. While the meetings have created less excitement than in 1875, they are more successful in reaching the neglected masses. Once, when church-goers were too plenty, Moody asked all Christians to rise. Nearly the whole audience responded, and he requested them to make room for the unconverted waiting outside.

Tuesday, April 8, 20,000 people are said to have been in St. Paul's Cathedral, London. At the midday lecture there were present 4,000. In the evening, when Bach's "Passion Music of St. Matthew" was performed, the immense building was full an hour before service was commenced. The scene from the western gallery was something magnificent; almost beyond description. It was computed that there must have been present not fewer than 16,000 persons. The Bishop of London gave the blessing from the throne.

The Rev. W. C. Winslow, of No. 429 Beacon street, Boston, has issued a circular calling for subscriptions for the proposed excavation of Zoan, the site in Egypt which is supposed to be the richest in buried monuments. To carry out the enterprise it will be necessary to raise the sum of £5,000. Enough has been contributed to give the work a substantial start. It is under the supervision of Mr. W. Flinders Petrie, whose book, "The Pyramids of Gizeh," has placed him in the front rank of practical archæological explorers, and of M. Naville, one of the five most eminent living Egyptologists.

Thursday, June 19, 1884, the celebrated London preacher, Charles H. Spurgeon, will have reached his 50th birthday. Arrangements are being made to give the day suitable celebration. A large memorial building which is being erected in the rear of the Tabernacle for church offices, and which is to be known as Jubilee House, is to be formally opened on the occasion. A large sum of money, it is understood, is to be presented to the pastor, and Mr. Spurgeon is expected to go through the ordeal of shaking hands with his 5,000 members. It is well understood that whatever sum may be presented will be handed over by the reverend gentleman to the institutions which he has created.

Dr. E. P. Goodwin, pastor of the First Congregational Church of this city and a member of the commission on the new creed, publishes his reasons for not signing that document. Among other things he says: "I can only say that by no possibility could I see my way to go upon record for anything less than the infallible authority of the Word of God and expiatory character of the statement of Jesus Christ. If anything is called for in this day, my profound feeling is, that it is a deliverance on these points that can be construed in but one way. True enough, the commission could not be unanimously carried for any such statement. But it seems to me that a ringing, unmistakable testimony for the truth here would be worth far more to the churches and to the cause of Christ in the world than a unanimity secured by an apparently evasive and uncertain deliverance upon what are the most vital points in all theology."

The company appointed to revise the authorized revision of the Old Testament concluded their eighty-fourth session April 2. Among those present were the Dean of Peterborough, Mr. Bentley, Dr. Chance, Mr. Cheyne, Prof. Driver, Dr. Ginsburg, Archdeacon Harrison, Dr. Kay, Prof. Leathes, Prof. Lumby, Mr. Suzee, Prof. Robertson Smith, Prof. Wright, and Mr. Addis Wright, Secretary. Communications were received from Dr. Lindsay Alexander, Principal Douglas, and Dr. Gotch, who were unable to attend. The final review was continued as far as Isaiah, xxx., 18. It will be a somewhat striking coincidence if the revision of the authorized version should be completed in the same summer which is to be made memorable by the quincentennial celebration of the memory of him who first gave to Englishmen the Holy Scriptures in their own vernacular. The coincidence is not likely to pass unnoticed at the Wycliffe celebration.

The churches in Australia, it would seem from all latest reports, are all making satisfactory progress, and benefiting more or less from the steady flow of emigration from the Old World. The report of the late Wesleyan Conference shows that New South Wales and Queensland have had an increase during the year of 468 members. Seventy-six thousand dollars have been expended on church buildings, and land has been purchased for building purposes at an estimated value of $12,000. The conference has ninety-six ministers, nineteen supernumeraries, and thirty-eight preachers on trial. The conference of Victoria presents even a more flourishing report. It has 130 ministers, 760 lay preachers, and 830 buildings. It has also 500 Sunday-schools, 5,000 Sunday-school teachers, and 43,000 scholars. Of 8,000 emigrants received in 1873, 3,727 were members of the Church of England, 1,758 were Roman Catholics, 980 were Wesleyans, 916 were Presbyterians, and 819 were of other Protestant denominations. There were seventy-four Jews and ninety-five of other persuasions. Among the Congregationalists the jubilee has called forth great activity, and subscriptions are very liberally made.

Writing of the Trappists at Gethsemane, Ky., a correspondent says:

When a monk dies

but, wrapped in his circular, with his cowl drawn over his head as in life, he is buried. Each grave is covered with myrtle and has a black wooden cross bearing the name of the cell's dusty inmate. At the foot of each grave is a little stool, where the father who conducts you kneels to pray for the soul of the departed. At the end of the row is a new, open grave, which will receive the next body, and which constantly helps the father to "remember death." There are no qualifications for the Trappist order. Any man who will obey the rules may stay seven years, giving his labor to the community and his thoughts to God, and if he does not like it then he may withdraw. If he concludes to stay he takes the perpetual vow. The sin-sick and the weary are all here. Few desert, while many have been for years buried to the world and all its little convulsions. Some of them do not know who is President, and the echo of Guiteau's pistol-shot died at the outer walls. The abbey contains a fine library of religious works, among which is a Bible printed at Lyons in 1532."

Pious Smiles.

New York Journal: They are going to erect a twelve-story building in Chicago. It's no use: they can't get to Heaven that way. Remember Babel.

A correspondent wants to know if there is more than one religious denomination that believes in feet-washing. It is sincerely to be hoped that there is.

"What shall I do with these spoiled pineapples?" asked a grocer's clerk.

"Look out, don't touch 'em. They are intended for the church festival."

A clergyman who recently held service in Auburn Prison preached from the text, "Go home to thy friends." And for once in their sin-stained, crime-haunted lives the audience expressed a desire to follow a good man's advice.

A racy story is told of an old lady who refused to be comforted by her pastor's assurance that when he left she would have a better pastor as his successor. "Na, na!" she said, "I have seen fourteen changes in the ministers since I attended the kirk, and every one has been waur than anither."

Scene: Village in Stirlingshire, in which two churches—Free and Established—glare at each other from opposite sides of the way. Tourist, to native—"Your people must be very religious! Why, small as the village is, you have a pair of churches." Native—"Deed, mon, they're no sae godly as ye wud think. It's mair spite than religion."

"I don't see why you are so particular about your hair," said a churlish husband. "I don't suppose Eve ever wore bangs."

"I don't suppose she ever did," replied the wife with a quiet smile, "but then there was nobody in the world but her husband to admire her."

The husband became very thoughtful.

The staid Medical Press and Circular, which has been published in London for half a century, cannot resist quoting a light remark from the Cincinnati Lancet, which it gives as follows: "'Faith,' which is generally portrayed as a female figure clinging to a wave-beaten rock, would be better personified by the figure of a bald-headed man with a bottle of patent hair restorer."

An Episcopal clergyman, whose name is a synonym of wit and eloquence, was mentioning to a friend the various difficulties he had encountered in establishing an infant church in a sparsely-settled locality. "I had to go from one house to another," said he, "and borrow from this one and that one the articles that were needed." The sympathizing friend suggested that he should call the church St. Charles the Martyr. "No," was the ready response; "San Carlo Borromeo would be more appropriate."

"Where were you last Sunday, Robbie?" asked the teacher of one of the brightest scholars in her Sunday-school class.

"My mother kept me home."

"Now, Robbie, do you know where little boys go to when they play truant from Sunday-school?"

"Yes ma'am."

"Where?"

"They go fishin'!" exclaimed the boy, letting the whole feline family out of the paper envelope.

BUSINESS REMOVALS.

May-Day Notes—Many Prominent Firms Seek More Commodious and More Convenient Quarters.

J. E. Norton & Co., dealers in cigars, tobaccos, and smokers' articles, have been doing business in Chicago for fifteen years, and for the last five years their store in the corner room of the old Exchange Building, on the corner of Clark and Washington, has been the daily resort of a very large number of people who have found there not only the choicest brands of the weed, but an assortment of everything desirable in that line; but the march of improvement compels them to abandon these familiar quarters, and they move into a more commodious room which they are fitting up in most elegant style at No. 189 Madison street. They will soon have their new place ready for business, and their old friends will find there one of the most handsomely-equipped establishments in the West. Their assortment of imported and domestic cigars and tobaccos will embrace not only all of the familiar and popular brands so long preferred by many of their customers, but many more of the latest and best productions. They especially invite the attention of the public to the great variety of pipes, pouches, and smokers' articles generally in their new and enlarged stock, which will embrace everything that is elegant, unique, and serviceable. Their new room will be twice as large as their old, and will be handsomely furnished and fitted with every desirable appointment for the comfort and convenience of their friends.

HINCHLIFF & OWEN.

Directly after the great fire the firm of Hinchliff & Owen was organized, and their office has been located in the Exchange Building, corner of Clark and Washington (the first office-building erected after the fire) from that time to the present. From this date they will be found at Room 10, 159 La Salle street, where may be seen an array of samples, the production of their extensive works situated at Porter, Porter County, Ind., and Hobart, Lake County, Ind. The annual production of their works amounts to 4,000,000 at Hobart and 10,000,000 at Porter, and of such elegant quality are the brick produced that most of the school-houses of Chicago and Cook County, and many of the elegant residences of the city owe their stability and fine appearance to the brick furnished by this firm. About a year ago the firm commenced the manufacture of ornamental pressed brick, in which they have done a large and steadily increasing trade. They are also the sole producers and patentees of the Hinchliff & Owen bond brick, a brick eight inches square and very desirable. This firm is the only one in Indiana that manufactures anything but common brick, and are certainly deserving of great credit for the fine quality and general excellence of their productions which are so frequently observed being carted through the streets of Chicago in their well-known wagons painted red and uniquely striped off so as to represent their brick as they appear laid in the wall, and bearing the familiar name "Hinchliff & Owen."

A. G. MORAN & CO.,

dealers in carpets, furniture, stoves, etc., are compelled by the demands of a rapidly-growing trade to seek more commodious quarters. The senior member of this firm has been connected with leading houses in this line for more than eighteen years, and is well and favorably known this locality—a fact that is apparent to the visitors at any hour of business. Low prices, fine goods, and unfailing courtesy are the potent factors in the growing popularity of this house. They move from 99 West Madison to 92 and 92½ on the opposite side of the street.

BARTON & HOCH

Mr. Hoch has had a lucrative office and probate business in Chicago for six years and is recognized as one of the most promising young lawyers of the city. Both are young men of excellent reputation, and commence business as partners in a handsome suite of rooms numbered 35, 36, and 37 in the new Commercial National-Bank Building.

STONES FOR BREAD.

For The Chicago Tribune.

I gave the sweetest sweet—
The fairest fruits that in rich natures grow—
Happy to lay the gracious offering so
At your dear feet.

Of gold a goodly store,
In Life's fierce furnace seven times tried,
Whose flame perfected beauty should abide Forevermore.

And myrrh, and frankincense,
And all the treasure I had haply won
From Life's wide fields—for shadow, storm, and sun
The gracious recompense.

Even the leaf of bay
Upon my brow—Fame's little fickle bloom—
If so I could, I would have plucked therefrom,
And given to you straightway.

I gave my best—gave all—
With lavish hand; and then was sad because
All that I gave seemed poor, and full of flaws,
And pitifully small:

So far above,
And dwarfing all—fame, sweetness, fruit, and gold—
Was that great giving which all else doth hold—
An utter love.

You gave me—what?
'Tis just the world-old story quickly told:
Gall for my wine—dross for my gold!
And yet, my lot,

With all its pain,
I would not change for yours. What greater cross
Than to have sought to give? Ah! yours the loss,
And mine the gain!

PLAYED FOR A SUCKER.

"This," said the dealer to the base-ball man, "is a genuine vampire bat."

"Vampire?" said the b.-b. man, handling it gingerly.

"Yes," said the dealer; "it will draw blood every time it catches the umpire."

The b.-b. man took it.

MAY-DAYS.

For The Chicago Tribune.

Sparrows, flying with a rush of song,
Give me their greetings where the sun lies long;
My thoughts go with them, as they journey wide,
Towards gleaming fields and silvery forest-side.
Fair lie the golden floors where cowslips glow
Deep in the meadows; and the clear streams show
A thousand varied smiles, as lingeringly
They wend, and turn aback to longer be
Tranced by the royalty of bloom-bound shores—
Lulled of their tones that fill the great woods' doors.

Like mystic seas the woodlands roll away;
And dandelion-spangled hill-slopes shine
As tho' the stars did on their green recline.
Under the keep of downy forest-boughs
Lift up sweet eyes (rain-voices did arouse)
Of violets, soft-tinged claytonia,
And snowy, saint-like sanguinaria;
For these are emblems of Aquilo's truce
When May-skies take the hue of flower-de-luce.

Like to the birds, our minds seek olden haunts;
Naught but eternal Spring could sate their wants.
"O for Earth's dearest scenes!" they e'er deplore—
"The morning-lands of Youth unchanged—not more!"
Ah! Through these days of bloom, and dreaminess,
And memories, Life, let your doubt grow less;
Thou mayst not know the scenes to come, from these.
If years speak but regrets, their flow'rs disclose
Sweet hopes, as if 'twere from Eternity;
And thus to hearts of destiny decree:
"Look up with love! Be troubleless as we!"

New York exchange was quoted as follows yesterday:

Chicago, 75c premium.
Boston, par to 5c discount.
St. Louis, 75c premium.
Cincinnati, 75@80c premium.
New Orleans, $2 premium.

Eastern exchange advanced to 75c per $1,000 yesterday, and there were considerable shipments of currency. Remittances to the East, however, are not very large at this time, and the period during which shipments will be necessary is not expected to be long. There was a fair demand for money and the counter business was good for these times. A considerable amount of paper came to maturity, which of course added to the work of the day. Some of the bankers are confident of better rates for capital in the near future as a consequence of the exports of gold, the reduction in the reserve of the New York banks, etc. Foreign exchange remained at the prices of Friday. The supply was moderate.

There was only a small volume of dealings in investment securities. The sales at the Chicago Stock Exchange were as follows:

The stocks of the New York list had quite an appearance of strength for some time yesterday, but it was mainly the result of manipulation, and their inherent weakness soon brought them down. Long stocks continue to be thrown overboard freely, and the feeling is decidedly bearish. There was, however, less anxiety in regard to failures yesterday than the day before. The street seemed to be satisfied with the denials of embarrassment by prominent operators. Nevertheless, the belief that persons whose names have not yet been mentioned are likely to go down within the next few weeks is very common. Union Pacific attracted much attention yesterday, as usual. Dillon denies that he has sold his stock, though the chronic bears say they do not believe him. Mr. Dillon does not credit the reports that Ames has unloaded his holdings. The Boston Post says: "There is no doubt that the appointment of a Receiver for the Union Pacific would be one of the best things which could happen. Good authorities doubt whether this road actually earned its dividends during the last year. The Government Directors, if true to their trust, should demand the appointment of a Receiver before the property is reduced to any worse condition than it is in at present." The Wall street friends of the road were busy distributing bull points yesterday, and Gould's brokers bought the stock toward the close of the day. The other stocks showed no new features. The sales of the day were 420,490 shares.

The earnings of the St. Paul Railroad fell off $16,893 the fourth week of April and $23,270 during the month. Northwest gained $63,900 during the week and $50,500 during the month; Omaha $31,100 during the week and $114,000 during the month.

There is very little left of the surplus reserve of the New York associated banks, though the National institutions are quite likely stronger than the statement of the last week would indicate, since there are a number of State banks in the association which are not required to keep a 25 per cent reserve. Another week of gold shipments such as we have been having would reduce the reserves of the banks below the limit required by law, unless stronger efforts than are yet apparent were made to hoard specie. But there is evidence that the outflow of gold has reached its hight. The loan item continues to fall off in spite of the cheapness of money, and the decrease in deposits substantially represents the gold movement. The following are the items of the statement for the last week:

Loans	[illegible]	Decrease [illegible]
Specie	[illegible]	Decrease [illegible]
Legal tenders	[illegible]	Decrease [illegible]
Deposits	[illegible]	Decrease [illegible]

Reserve	[illegible]	Decrease [illegible]
Reserve required	[illegible]	Decrease [illegible]
Surplus reserve	[illegible]	Decrease [illegible]

The report of the Bank of England shows a slight falling off in the specie. The proportion of reserve to liability is 48½ per cent, which is very large. There is an increase of 4,439,000 francs in the gold held by the Bank of France, and of 1,439,000 silver.

The exchanges at the Chicago Clearing-House in April were $199,126,563, against $188,001,655 for the corresponding month of 1883. At the Board of Trade Clearing-House the exchanges in April were $23,718,617. The following were the clearings and balances at the Chicago Clearing-House for the week ending May 3, 1884:

The statements just made by the Chicago National banks of their condition at the close of business April 24, in response to a call of the Controller of the Currency, show that the loans have fallen off from $46,423,491 March 7 to $45,314,202, while the deposits have increased from $62,559,041 to $63,171,965. The capital and surplus remain at $13,730,000, but the undivided profits have risen from $1,397,524 to $1,545,969. The circulation has grown from $769,350 to $812,350. The other changes are without special significance.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 3.—[Special.]—The Herald money article says: Nobody is surprised at what the stock market does nowadays; consequently, when it opened this morning with comparative strength instead of with positive weakness as it should have done to bear out the evil prognostications of yesterday's closing, the unexpected event was regarded as one of those stock-jobbing mysteries which no financial "feller can find out." The early strength was probably due to the report that the Union Pacific managers, having discovered that their reduction in wages had created a widespread strike among the employés of the road, which threatened serious consequences, had canceled the cut in wages as suddenly as they had made it. Upon this news Union Pacific rose to 60. At this price, however, it was met by a further outpouring of long stock, and the quotation fell off to 58¾. More or less closely the general list followed the erratic course of Union Pacific, though its fluctuations were less violent. Prices were considerably influenced by outside rumors and reports, of which there were many. While it was pretty certain that there was no truth in the rumors rife yesterday as to this or that concern being in difficulty, the denial was counterbalanced by statements that trunk-line matters were in a greater muddle than ever and that a grave crisis was rapidly approaching. It was also said that the Denver Road had been forced to sell the $881,000 of bonds recently turned over to trustees in order to provide for the July interest. The general feeling of uncertainty was reflected in a decline which set in after noon, led by Northwest and Canada Southern. The market continued feverish and feeble from this time, and in a general way was influenced by conflicting statements concerning the attitude of the dissatisfied employés of the Union Pacific Railroad. Nevertheless, the early advance in prices was not all lost, and in the latest transactions there was a fractional recovery, so that the general list closed at a slight net advance for the day.

NEW YORK, May 3.—[Special.]—Sterling exchange is dull and a trifle weaker owing to free offering of bills. Total gold shipment this week, $2,744,632; since Feb. 11, $35,867,940. Only $316,260 was taken out today, being the smallest shipment Saturday for some weeks. The original engagements for today were about $1,000,000, but the [illegible]

COMMERCIAL.

The leading produce markets were all stronger Saturday, but not active, some being very dull. Wheat was the leader and gave tone to all the rest. The ostensible reason for the advance was the fact that everybody had expected lower prices, and several leading commission houses had wired their correspondents that it would be a good time to buy. These brought in a sufficient number of purchasing orders to prevent weakness, and then local bulls, who had gone short on the New York weakness of two or three days, turned in to cover. Anything else was accidental rather than causative. The foreign quotations were generally lower.

Provisions were dull and stronger. There was scarcely any trading after the first half-hour, and Liverpool was called 3d lower on lard, which caused a slight easing off at the outset, after which the strength in wheat carried prices upward. The cash demand was smaller than the previous day, though not zero. It was, however, said that the foreign business has recently shown a decided improvement, having grown steadily during the last two weeks, and has enabled the English houses to increase their production, as well as inducing a better demand in our market for lard. Mess pork closed 20c above the latest prices of Friday, at $17.47½ bid for June and $17.60 for July. Lard closed 5c higher, at $8.60 for June, and ribs 7½c higher, at $8.37½ for June. The packing of this city since the close of February includes 312,000 hogs, against 325,000 to same time last year, and 511,000 to do in 1882.

Flour was dull and nominally steady. Exporters were holding off, and the local trade was light. The coarse millstuffs were rather firm.

Wheat was moderately active and very strong, after a little wavering at the outset. It closed 1⅛c above the latest prices of Friday, at 94¾c for June, with 1c more for July, after having sold up to 94⅞c for next month. The British markets were called dull and lower, with another decline of 1d per cental in Liverpool. Our market started in strong in reaction from Friday's tremor, turned down on rather brisk selling as a consequence of steadier weather in the West and the tone of foreign advices, and then started up on good buying on the part of local shorts led by outside buying orders, and also by one or two men who took on a rather large line and sold it out at the resulting advance. It was rumored late in the session that the next statement will show a further decrease of about 5,000,000 bu in the visible supply, and the strength was otherwise sought to be accounted for by the citing of a report credited to a New York paper that the wheat crop of India is seriously injured by drouth. Some parties thought they saw signs of a good investment demand by strong men who have weighed the situation and concluded that the cessation of the export movement is only temporary, as British supplies from other sources are falling off. Car lots of No. 2 spring sold at 92@93c, with No. 2 Minnesota quoted at 2c premium. No. 2 red was quoted at $1.03, and No. 3 spring at 76@81c. On the curbstone seller June was quoted at 94⅛c.

Corn was quiet and strong. It sold down ¼@⅜c early in the day, advanced 1@1⅛c, to 57⅛c for July, and closed at 57⅛c bid, with June at 55⅝c being ⅝c above the latest prices of Friday. The British markets were called by some steady, and by Beerbohm heavy, but our receipts were again very small for May, and the strength in wheat was a reason for small offerings in futures. There was some scalping by big men, who bought early, and sold out on the advance, but some parties bought steadily throughout, Adams taking the lead. There was some buying No. 2 on track, 54½@55c being paid for good color, and the lower grades were a shade firmer. Cash lots of No. 2 sold at 52¾@53⅛c, with rejected at 47c, and 51 bid for new mixed. On the curbstone seller July was quoted at 57⅛c.

Oats were active and stronger in sympathy with the leading markets. Futures opened ⅛c higher, advanced ⅜c, declined ⅜c, and advanced steadily 1⅛c, closing firm at 1@1⅛c higher than the latest prices of Friday at 33⅝c for June and July and 32c for May. There was a fair inquiry for No. 2 in store and by sample, prices ranging higher in spite of quite liberal receipts, No. 2 mixed bringing 33¾@35c and do white 36¼@37½c.

Rye was quiet, with no material change from the previous day. No. 2, cash, 5 cars sold at 61c, and May closed at 61c after having sold at 60½c, with June at 62c and July at 61c. By sample No. 2 brought 62@63c on track and 62½@63½c free on board cars.

Barley was very steady. In-store receipts for No. 2 sold at 74c, and 70c was bid for May, with sellers at 72c. By sample fair sales were made at 73½c for No. 2 on track, and 66@70c for No. 3, and 63@68c for No. 4.

Flax continues firm at $1.70 for No. 1 on track. Timothy was 1@2c lower under liberal offerings and an absence of buying orders, prime being quoted at $1.29@1.30. Clover was unchanged at $5.75@5.80 for prime.

Dry goods were ordered with some freedom by mail and telegraph, but the number of buyers present in person was small. Prices of cottons remain strong. There was continued quiet in clothing and boots and shoes. Millinery and white goods are moving in a liberal way. The grocery market displayed moderate activity, and there was a comparatively steady range of prices. Sugars are still easy, and coffees are none too strong. Jobbers of dried fruits, fish, and canned goods report a fair business doing with few fluctuations in prices. The market for dairy products was as dull as before. Prices still show a declining tendency. Oils were generally steady, an advance in linseed of 1c being the only change noted. Coal was weak. Hay was easy, with liberal stocks and only a moderate inquiry. Hides, tallow, and wool were unchanged. Eggs were a shade easier, the inquiry being less active. Green fruits were in moderate request both on local and shipping account. Broom-corn was rather scarce for the higher grades and firm. Whisky was unchanged. Poultry was rather weak, owing to the large supply. Potatoes were quiet and easy, with liberal stocks.

The cattle trade was quiet, with little or no variation in prices. Only about half of the 2,000 head received were offered for sale, the remainder being consigned direct to dressed-beef shippers. Shipping steers were quoted at $5.25@6.75, stockers at $4.00@4.75, and butchers' stock at $3.50@5.50. Hogs were in fair demand and steady at $5.30@5.80 for light weights and at $5.40@6.10 for inferior mixed to choice heavy. Sheep were in scanty supply and were strong at $4.50@6.50. The receipts for the week were about 29,300 cattle, 104,000 hogs, and 10,300 sheep, against 28,373 cattle, 84,088 hogs, and 13,140 sheep for the corresponding week last year.

The New York report that the wheat crop in India is injured by drouth was variously interpreted here. Some thought it must refer to Indiana, and others to Indigo. Exporters said the report cannot refer to wheat, as the Indian crop is harvested and on its way to market. We believe that the harvest of India and Egypt is usually gathered during February and March, which certainly leaves room for a difference of opinion in regard to the value of the news referred to, if it be news at all.

A party in Indiana wants quotations from the Chicago Board of Trade. He asks for them, and his letter gives as references here certain other men who are recognized as standing at the head and front of the bucket-shop business. He will probably (not) get the quotations.

Hillsboro, Dak., telegraphs that wheat-seeding in that region is about half done, and progressing slowly, with wet ground and very unsettled weather. There is little, if any, wheat to ship from the west side of the river.

The following table shows the range of the day on the leading classes of trade in provisions and grain; also the latest (regular) buyers' prices for round lots, compared with the previous day. A star (*) indicates that sellers asked more than 2½c in provisions or ⅛c in grain above the figures bid:

[The remaining columns — the provisions and grain range tables, receipts and shipments, PROVISIONS AND BREADSTUFFS, BY TELEGRAPH (Liverpool, London, New York markets), DUTIABLE GOODS, ABSENT-MINDEDNESS, "YES, THE BOOK HAD BETTER WAIT," and the advertisements and time tables (INMAN LINE OCEAN STEAMSHIPS; ALLAN LINE OCEAN STEAMSHIPS; STATE LINE; EUROPEAN TRAVEL; Goodrich Steamers, TIME TABLE; ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF TRAINS, WESTERN, EASTERN) — are illegible in this scan.]

Maj. James A. Connelly, of Springfield, United States District Attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, left for Washington yesterday afternoon. While here Maj. Connelly informed his friends that he had concluded to decline the appointment of Solicitor of the Treasury tendered him by President Arthur. His reasons, in brief, are that he does not desire to break up his home and remove from the State, and that as a business proposition he is better off where he is than he would be as Solicitor of the Treasury.

The annual election of officers of the Calumet Club takes place Monday night, and is anticipated by the members with great interest. Besides the "regular" ticket there are ten others in the field, and everybody will have a chance to vote for whom he pleases.

John Nelson, a wife-beater, living at No. 152 Ada street, who has failed to support his family for a year, was sent to the bridewell by Justice C. J. White for 100 days. Although his wife was an invalid she was subjected to frequent beatings, and was compelled to support her children.

The steamer Oregon of the Guion Line, which left New York a week ago Saturday, arrived in Queenstown at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Time six days, sixteen hours, and fifty-seven minutes, the fastest eastward trip ever made. Mme. Patti and other members of the Abbey company were among the passengers.

Thomas Post, No. 13, G. A. R. They arrive here at 7 this morning on the Kankakee Line. From Milwaukee there is coming the whole Robert Chivas Post, No. 2, G. A. R.

C. M. Albenson, agent for the North Side Citizens' League, reports having arrested twenty-eight saloonkeepers during the month for violating the law. Two were held to the Criminal Court under $300 bail each, seventeen were fined by the Justices, one dismissed by the Justice, three were not prosecuted, and five had their cases continued for further examination under $200 bail each.

The Commissioner of Public Works has decided that the large double stone-wagons must take out licenses and that they be restricted to a certain time of day in crossing bridges, as they interfere with public traffic. With a large wagon on a bridge there is not room for another team or street-car to pass, and it frequently happens that great inconvenience is occasioned on this account.

The annual meeting of St. George's Cricket Club was held Thursday evening at the Lincoln Pavilion. There was a large attendance and thirty new members were elected. The officers chosen were: President, J. Lester; Vice-President, H. Taylor; Treasurer, T. C. Thompson; Secretary, A. Cardall; Committee, the Rev. T. D. Philipps, J. Foster, G. Kemp, J. Ramsay, G. Williams, and R. Dowse. The practice-ground is on the south lawn, Lincoln Park.

A meeting of property-owners along Harrison street, between Ogden and California avenues, was called for last evening to protest against macadamizing Harrison street, and to ask that it be paved with cedar blocks. Owing to a misunderstanding about the call for the meeting there were but few present. A committee consisting of M. B. Kinne, Stephen Connolly, and C. A. Blauseke was appointed to petition the Council to have the desired change made.

The American Climatological Association held its first annual meeting in Washington yesterday. Its membership is composed of physicians from different parts of the country who devote especial attention to diseases of the chest and heart. These men intend by collective and exhaustive study regarding the various climates, their effects, and kindred topics to further materially the scientific treatment of these diseases. Chicago is represented in the association by Prof. H. A. Johnson and R. Fletcher Ingalls.

There was a hippodrome wrestling-match at Battery D Armory last night between J. H. McLaughlin, of Detroit, and H. M. Dufur, of Marlboro, Mass. It was a collar-and-elbow affair, McLaughlin taking the first fall and his "opponent" the other two. Ostensibly the match was for $500 a side. About 1,200 persons witnessed the exhibition, and there was much kicking after it was all over from those who had paid a dollar admission. It is not positively known who managed the "fake."

The Old Soldiers' Association met at the Palmer last evening to make arrangements to decorate the graves at Oakwoods Cemetery the 30 inst. The Committee on Ways and Means recommended among other things that subscription-books be issued to members to solicit subscriptions from friends only; that 500 flowers in pots be obtained to be placed on all the soldiers' graves, and also a suitable bed of flowers for the Confederate plat; and that Col. Robert Ingersoll and Maj. Harrington be invited to deliver addresses. Another meeting will be held Saturday night.

The newsboys and bootblacks held another meeting at the Newsboys' Home Friday night to advocate the license. One of the leading spirits of the movement, familiarly known as "Lame Johnnie," made a speech in which he laid down a complete plan for a benevolent society to help the boys, many of whom are virtually homeless, in sickness, and to provide against their being compelled to go to the hospital in case of accident. The boys fell in with the idea and organized at once by choosing the following officers: Charles Curry, President; Arthur Johnson, Secretary; and John Sollick, Treasurer. The members must pay an entrance fee of $1 and dues of 25 cents per month. The boys remain unanimously in favor of the license, which they think will produce a better feeling among them and keep out many young boys who ought to be in school. They will wait on the Mayor again and endeavor to impress upon him the importance of the issue.

The Tenement and Factory Inspectors last week made fifty-six special examinations, examined fifty-seven houses, 148 factories, 228 stores, served forty-six notices, and abated twenty-seven nuisances. The following places were reported in unsanitary condition: Nos. 2879, 2963, 2897, and 2965 Archer avenue, No. 909 Lake street, corner of Thirty-fifth and Iron streets, No. 211 Randolph street, No. 60 Boston avenue, Nos. 1821 and 1829 State street, Nos. 3301, 3303, and 3307 Cottage Grove avenue, No. 433 South Clark street, No. 625 Centre avenue.

Emil Stock, 9 years old, was playing in front of his father's house, at No. 419 West Chicago avenue, when he saw a dog spring upon and bite another. The little fellow attempted to protect the latter animal, whereupon the first one turned upon him and bit him upon the cheek. A mineral-water wagon was passing, and the driver saw that the dog was rabid. He sprang from the vehicle and killed the brute with a pop-bottle. The child was then conveyed to a neighboring drug-store and attended. Officer Owens afterwards shot the dog that had been bitten.

At the St. James Episcopal Church the new surplice choir will begin its service today. It consists of twelve men and twenty boys under the charge of Mr. F. L. Hughes, an English choir-master of much experience, who was especially engaged by the society for the purpose of training the boys and preparing the choir for the work of rendering the choral service of the church. The chancel has been fitted up with new stalls for an antiphonal choir, and a deep interest is felt in the result, which marks an era in the musical services of St. James' Church. The choir gives promise of much good work, and under Mr. Hughes' direction will no doubt prove a success.

Health-Commissioner De Wolf went on a visit of inspection yesterday to the offensive alleys in the rear of Farwell Hall. The Commissioner has received a great many complaints from this quarter, and, as he is now satisfied that they were well founded, he declares his intention to remedy the evil if he has to sue everybody in the block. There is quite a labyrinth of alleyways running through the block at that point, and the filth is scattered through them all down to Arcade court. Last summer a pine board was nailed to a wall at the mouth of one of the alleyways containing the following: "Will Chicago's best Mayor please inspect this alley?"

CHICAGO HANSOM-CAB COMPANY.

The managers of the Chicago Hansom-Cab Company yesterday sent to the Secretary of State a protest against issuing a charter to parties advertising themselves as the Chicago Cab Company on the ground that they are unlawfully assuming their name and in such a manner that it will deceive the public and interfere with their corporate rights. The Chicago Hansom-Cab Company was incorporated in December last and has now everything ready to commence business, waiting only for the completion of their stables, which are at Clinton and Jackson streets. Cabs of this company will be running in a short time.

AMUSEMENT LICENSES.

An amusement license was issued to Haverly's Theatre. Amusement licenses were refused W. F. Connors, No. 75 West Madison street; Augustus Anderson, No. 461 South Clark street; Andrew C. Wilson, No. 129 West Madison street; S. Shirek, the Bankrupt Store, Nos. 184 and 186 State street; J. D. Ryan, No. 469 South Clark street, and Marx Schriedman, No. 405 State street. Adverse reports were received from the police. Louis Stein and Fred Congdon were refused licenses as runners. There were thirteen whisky licenses issued for four months and twelve beer licenses for the same period. The receipts for licenses from all sources yesterday were $3,463. The police have been notified to prosecute tomorrow all saloonkeepers who have not taken out licenses.

THE NEW OPEN BOARD.

There was considerable excitement on the Open Board of Trade yesterday when J. C. Myers, a member of the board, auctioned off the choice of rooms in the new Open Board building. The bidding was lively and M. McKee & Co. paid $110 for the first choice, selecting Room No. 1. E. J. Noble & Co. paid $100 for the second choice, and took Room No. 4. There were twelve other firms who chose their quarters, the amounts paid for the choice and the numbers of the rooms being as follows: J. B. Adams & Co., $85, Room No. 3; W. D. French, $80, No. 2; Powers, Clark & Co., $80, No. 7; T. M. Baxter, $120 (two rooms), Nos. 5 and 6; Beech & Hamilton, $55, No. 20; Burnham & Hansan, $45, No. 21; E. N. Morgan & Co., $37.50, No. 23; J. M. White, $35, Room No. 35. There are sixty rooms still to be selected, the choice of which will be sold by auction some time during the week.

HANDY WITH A TOMAHAWK.

A crowd of boys gathered in front of No. 131 West Lake street yesterday to watch a carpet-shaker who was at work there. The man was annoyed at their presence, and having told them to go away threw a hatchet into the crowd to disperse them. The hatchet struck James Blaren, a boy 10 years of age, in the left thigh, inflicting a wound an inch long and extending to the bone. The Desplaines wagon was summoned to take the boy to his home, No. 14 North Green street, but the assailant had escaped. The proprietor of the place professed not to know the name of his employé, though the latter had worked for him several months. The police are looking for him. The boy is believed to be in a fair way to recover.

Strausser, Dr. E. Andrews, Dr. P. Adolphus, Dr. W. E. Clarke, Dr. H. W. Boyd. There will be four car-loads of delegates from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Dakota, Missouri, Iowa, and from parts of this State.

LORD—BROWN.

The marriage of Mrs. Helena B. Brown and Mr. Henry B. Lord was celebrated Wednesday evening in the Fourteenth Street M. E. Church, the Rev. B. F. Marsh officiating. Mr. Fred Hills acted as best man and Mrs. Donald McLean as bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. De Pinna and Mrs. and Miss Wagner, of London, Eng., were among the host of invited guests present. A wedding supper was served at the residence of the bride, No. 1251 Michigan avenue, and a most enjoyable program of music and dancing occupied the remainder of the evening.

Mrs. Brown occupied a prominent place in society circles in Washington during her eight years' residence there while the wife of State Senator Janson B. Brown. Mr. Lord is well known in business circles in this city, having been connected with leading dry-goods houses since he came here from Boston five years ago, and is now filling the post of Superintendent for Morgenthau, Bauland & Co.

THE HILLOCK CASE.

Nearly all the Aldermen have qualified except Ald. Burke, who was so mysteriously counted in by the Council Friday evening. Mr. Charles Gasfield, the clerk who was writing the returns at the Council meeting as called off to him by the committee, says that he does not know who ordered the change in the Seventh Precinct of the Fifth Ward from 305 to 395 in favor of Burke. He was simply taking down the returns, and did as he was told.

"I don't know what I'll do yet," said James P. Boot, counsel for Hillock, who claims to have been elected. "I'll look the ground over Monday. I think the Council cheated Mr. Hillock out of the election. Ald. Shorey's motion that the Council look at the return from the Seventh Precinct was perfectly proper, and ought to have been entertained by the Chair. The intention seemed to be to put Burke in anyhow. The committee didn't look at the returns at all, but took the tally sheets, and gave Burke credit for the figures on them, never looking to see whether those figures corresponded with those on the certificate which was sworn to. I am going to see that justice is done Mr. Hillock."

ASSISTANT ASSESSORS.

The Committee on Public Service met yesterday but did nothing toward appointing "assistants" to the Assessors. Commissioner Van Pelt stated that there was a doubt about their power to act under the resolution instructing them to make the appointments, and the County-Attorney had better be consulted. Besides, while there had been a number of applications for the places, the men were not the kind wanted. So he suggested that the matter be put over until the next meeting, which will be held some day this week. All the other members were agreeable, and, therefore, no action was taken. It is understood that ex-Assessor Barney Webber has been agreed on for the Town of Lake View, and Robert McClellan, who has been stirring up things out there, for the Town of Lake. Commissioner Wasserman said he wouldn't vote for any one who wasn't all right—that he didn't want any blackmailers. Joseph Chesterfield Mackin was at the board rooms, figuring to work in a man for the South Side, but, so far as known, was unsuccessful, the remark of Wasserman given above being made while Mackin was talking to him. County-Attorney Bliss is understood to be of the opinion that the committee has no authority to do anything in the matter.

THE BUCKET-SHOPS.

THEY ARE RUNNING "WIDE OPEN" AND RECEIVING QUOTATIONS.

It was rumored yesterday morning that the "bucket-shops" had been cut off from their market quotations and that they were running very light in consequence. A TRIBUNE reporter dropped in at a few of the leading ones during the early part of the afternoon to see how matters were progressing, and he found all of the "tickers" hard at work and all of the usual quotations on the blackboard. The clerks and attachés appeared very busy, and it did not look as though the concerns were suffering any inconvenience. At Murphy's place, in "Gamblers' alley," embryo operators were engaged in making petty deals as usual, and the same state of affairs existed in the rooms of the Metropolitan Grain & Stock Exchange across the alley. The clerks in these places declared that they were receiving all of their quotations as usual and expected no trouble.

The reporter ran across one of the managers of the Public Grain & Stock Exchange during the afternoon. This concern has a place on La Salle street and a branch in the Palmer House, and it is the largest "bucket-shop" in the city. The manager said:

"No, we are not cut out, but are receiving our quotations as usual. You know we are running under an injunction at present, and I do not think the telegraph companies will molest us or attempt to worry us before the case is decided. They ordered the instruments from the Palmer House branch—that I don't understand, as they must know both places are run by the same concern. You see," he continued, "the Board of Trade is not fighting us as a body, but it is a select few who are carrying on the war. The only way they can shut us out, though, is to build a Chinese wall around the Board of Trade Hall. It is like a lot of mice trying to sneak out and escape the cat, but the cat is sure to catch them. I will put up $5,000 in any bank, and will wager it that the testimony of people in the country will be to the effect that they get better treatment through the so-called 'bucket-shops' than they do in trading through regular Board of Trade firms. They are charged less, and are not compelled to put up as much money."

"Are the outside 'bucket-shops' running?" asked the reporter.

"I have heard of no trouble and I guess they are having none. There is no danger of any trouble either, for here is Judge Tuley's decision: 'In this case, however, there is no proof that the complainant is engaged in any other than a legitimate business, the only evidence tending at all in that direction being that the bucket-shops always take the deal or trade, and that this complainant does the same, but this is neither more nor less than every member of the board does in every case where as broker he buys or sells on the floor of the board. It is competition—not immorality—which the Board of Trade is seeking to put down. It is evident that if the managers can dictate that the quotations shall not be furnished this complainant, they may cut off from receiving the same every merchant, commission house, broker, banker, or other person outside the board; and might, if they thought proper, dictate that only one man in New York City—say Jay Gould or Keene—should be permitted to receive them by telegraph.'

"And, in conclusion, Judge Tuley says: 'I therefore hold that so long as the defendant telegraph companies are permitted to have their agents upon the floor of the board and gather these market reports or quotations and send them to others, they will not be permitted to discriminate against the complainant.' The companies have removed their instruments, but the Judge says further: 'If they obtain the same—no matter from what source—and send them to others, they must send them to complainant.'

"So you see we have a good deal of law on our side and but little to fear. If the quotations go out of the board hall we are bound to get them."

THE RIGHTS OF JURORS.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM MEN WHO HAVE SERVED.

CHICAGO, May 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—We, the undersigned, having served as jurors in the Superior Court during a recent term, being in a position to appreciate the abuses which your paper has lately been striving to have abated, wish to thank you for the efforts put forth in that direction. While we fully appreciate the necessity of securing better men to act as jurors than those who have often served in times past we also feel that some consideration should be shown by our Board of County Commissioners and Judges of courts for the comfort and convenience of business-men who are obliged to serve as jurors.

In the times when jurymen were secured from the class whose highest ambition was to roost on an iron-railing or sit around a beer-table in some saloon during the day, and who, rather than work, boarded at free-lunch counters and lodged in some dry-goods box or under a sidewalk, the accommodations furnished jurymen were no cause for complaint, as jurors received their $1.50 per day, which was more than they ever earned in any honorable employment, and a very poor seat was found more favorable for a short nap in the daytime than leaning against a lamp-post.

But when jurors are taken from among business-men, who are used to the comforts of life and not in the habit of sitting on the hard side of a board, it is no wonder that they object and try to get out of serving on a jury.

Again, men are kept by Judges while cases are being tried by other jurors or before the Judges themselves, when a proper regard for the rights of others should induce them to allow such jurors as are not engaged to absent themselves from the court-room and spend their time in attending to their own neglected business.

Another abuse which, perhaps, cannot be entirely controlled be either Judge or Commissioners is the custom of attorneys to air their eloquence in long-winded speeches, reviewing the evidence in a garbled manner, with occasional bursts of enthusiasm interesting to none but themselves, and generally succeeding in disgusting a jury, and showing that with their notes and memoranda they know much less of the evidence than the jury who have given their entire attention to the case. If such lengthy effusions have any effect it is only to prejudice the jury against the speaker.

In short, jurymen whose time is as valuable as that of judges or attorneys cannot be made to think it just that because they are to receive $1.50 per day for their services as jurors their time should be needlessly frittered away. Keep up the agitation of this matter until these abuses are remedied, when a man may feel that if he serves as a juror he will be treated like a man who is (aside from the dignity of office) the equal of Judge or attorney.

THE HUMANE SOCIETY.

ITS ANNUAL MEETING—FORMATION OF BANDS OF MERCY.

The Illinois Humane Society held its fourteenth annual meeting at the Grand Pacific yesterday. The report of John G. Shortall, the President, showed an increase of 60 per cent over the work of the previous year. This increase was not due to the greater prevalence of cruelty but to the greater efficiency of the society. The rule of secrecy observed toward informants had proved beneficial. Bands of Mercy to the number of 323 had been organized in the city, with a membership of 53,650. The benefits to be derived from bringing children early under humane influences he regarded as the most important and far-reaching of the year's results. Satisfactory work had also been done at the Stock-Yards. The society, he said, without interference with its other duties, has been extremely active in doing its work of mercy toward the helpless children of the city, and the number of these that require such care is incredible. The increase in these cases was 50 per cent, and much more could be done for them with greater means. In conclusion the President urged the creation of a permanent fund to place the society above the necessity of constantly appealing to the public for aid.

Henry W. Clarke reported the following statistics for the year: Cases and complaints, 2,822; children looked after and their condition remedied, 955; sent to charitable institutions, 251; cases of cruelty to animals, 758; parties prosecuted for cruelty, 251; amount of fines imposed, $3,512; horses laid up from work, 273; overloaded teams relieved, 24; teamsters reprimanded, 432; abandoned animals destroyed, 187; inebriates sent to Washingtonian Home, 3.

George Schneider, the Treasurer, gave the annual receipts as $7,144, and the disbursements as $7,518, leaving an overdrawn account of $374 with which to begin the new year.

The old Directors were reëlected with hardly an exception, the only changes being the substitution of J. J. Glessner, W. P. Rend, and A. N. Eddy for M. D. Wells, Christian Wahl, and Elmer Washburn.

A general meeting of all the Bands of Mercy will be held toward the close of the month.

SUNDERED TIES.

DRUNKEN AND SHIFTLESS HUSBANDS LET LOOSE.

The few divorces that were heard yesterday by Judges Tuley and Moran had little of interest in them. Eight out of the twelve cases were suits which had been partly heard the week before and continued to get more evidence. Judge Moran had seven cases, but only granted three decrees, and Judge Tuley one less than that.

The first case heard by Judge Tuley was that of Anna Moulton against Albert H. Moulton, a railroad contractor. The charge was adultery, and the wife produced in evidence a number of letters written to him by various women which she had found in his pockets. One of the letters was from Mamie Stevens, the murdered wife of Pete Stevens, in which she asked Moulton to meet her at a certain place. Mrs. Moulton also proved that her husband had been living in New Orleans with another woman whom he passed off as his wife. A decree was granted.

Carrie Rosenfeld testified that she was married to Jacob N. Rosenfeld in 1876, and had been obliged to support him and herself the greater part of the time while he devoted his energies to the consumption of whisky. She kept a variety store at South Chicago, and he would steal her goods and pawn them for liquor and then beat her. A decree was granted.

Before Judge Moran Flora J. Nelson told how she had suffered ten years of concentrated misery at the hands of her husband. He never would support her, but spent all his money in liquor and his spare time in abusing her. He had been twice in the Bridewell, twice in the Washingtonian Home, and was an incorrigible drunkard. When he married he was a watchmaker with a good business, but he could not keep it. A decree was granted.

Caroline Loewe was married in 1858 to William Loewe, but after various ups and downs she left him in 1881. When he married he was a shoemaker with more business than he could attend to, but he took to drinking, lost his customers, and then went to picking up rags, because he "could be his own boss." Eventually, however, liquor became his master, and he had become such a drunkard his own relatives would not have him in the house.

Oscar Secrist, a young traveling salesman, said he married Ollie Secrist in May, 1879, and in 1881, his health having failed him, he went out to Kansas City to recuperate and also to find work, leaving his wife here. When he returned in about a month he found she had gone away. He had seen her since, but she did not appear disposed to return. The Judge refused a decree on the ground that Secrist had not proved his wife had refused to return and live with him again, and the young man left much disgusted.

Lena Le May, a pronounced brunet, complained that her husband, John B. Le May, had such peculiar ideas of a wife's rights and duties that she could not live contentedly with him. She was married in October, 1881, and in a few weeks he said she must go out to work again, as he could not afford to support her. She did so, and had worked ever since. But he dictated where she would work, and caused her to lose her place. A decree was refused on the ground that the evidence of desertion was insufficient.

THE CARPENTERS.

THEY GET READY TO STRIKE, BUT LOOK FOR AN EASY VICTORY.

A meeting of carpenters was held at No. 99 West Randolph street last night at which about 400 were present. The meeting was held by Local No. 21 of the brotherhood, which has twelve branches in the city. All of these were represented, and there were also a number of delegates present from other labor organizations. Speeches were made by half a dozen carpenters, and the general drift of the reports received was that the bosses would accede to the demand for $3 per day, beginning tomorrow. Several instances were cited in which the concession had already been made. It was stated by officers of the organization that they did not look for a prolonged strike, nor did they think it would be necessary for many of the carpenters to go out. However, Seaman's Hall was secured for strike headquarters and the statement was made that it would be open daily.

After the adjournment of the general meeting the Executive Committee of the brotherhood held a secret session, at which a Committee on Arbitration was appointed, with President J. P. Maginley as Chairman. On this committee a number of Germans and Scandinavians were placed. It was empowered to appoint a Strike Committee, whose purpose would be to collect and disburse funds. The appointment of this latter body will not be made at once, as the intention was to wait till Monday and see how far the strike would spread and how many bosses would not give in.

This afternoon a meeting of the carpenters on the North Side will be held in Folz's Hall, at the corner of North avenue and Larrabee street.

SIMON POPPER.

DR. MORRILL EXONERATES HIM BY AFFIDAVIT.

Simon Popper, who was arrested in this city April 18 on a charge of embezzlement preferred by Dr. Jesse L. Morrill, of New York City, and was taken to New York for trial, has been liberated and exonerated, Dr. Morrill having filed a lengthy affidavit in the New York District Court tending to show that it was all a mistake. The case was fully reported in THE TRIBUNE at the time. The affidavit recites the operations of Morrill and Popper as joint speculators on Wall street, and sets forth how the complications arose which led to a criminal charge being mistakenly sworn out, the closing paragraph being as follows:

I further solemnly swear that my purpose in making this affidavit is to secure the release from custody of the defendent and his reinstatement in society and business circles, and thus to undo what in good faith I have done in these proceedings, believing as I do that his acts have not been criminal and that a trial of the indictment would necessarily publish this proceeding and cause him damage in many ways though it should result in an acquital. I have not received any promise, or reward, or other consideration of any kind for making this affidavit for securing the defendant's release, nor have I made or negotiated, nor caused to be made or negotiated, any settlement or adjustment of my claim on him.

AN IRON CONSCIENCE.

IT PERMITTED A MAN TO STEAL HARDWARE FOR YEARS.

About a fortnight ago C. H. Barrett, who lived at No. 27 Sheldon street, asked permission of Charles Dunn, of No. 720 West Twelfth street, to store a few boxes of household goods in the latter's barn for a few days, as he (Barrett) was about to move, and the articles mentioned were an incumbrance. His request was granted, and several boxes were taken to the barn from Barrett's house. As they were not called for Dunn became suspicious and reported the matter to the police at the Central Station. Detectives Elliott and Wiley were detailed upon the case. The boxes were found to contain about $2,000 worth of miscellaneous hardware, which was removed to the station in a patrol-wagon. It was ascertained that Barrett had until recently been in the employ of Blair & Co., hardware merchants on Lake street, and this firm identified the property as theirs, it having been stolen by Barrett at various times during the two years he was connected with them. The goods were in unbroken packages, and filled an entire corner of a room at the Central Station. Probably there had not been a night in the two years that Barrett had not taken some article away from the store. He left town about ten days ago, and his whereabouts has not been ascertained.

STORY OF A CRIME.

THE ARREST IN ST. LOUIS OF A CHICAGO MURDERER.

In THE TRIBUNE of yesterday there appeared a dispatch from St. Louis announcing the arrest in that city of a Chicago murderer. The latter gave his name to the St. Louis authorities as Lorenzo Thumm, but his real name is Thomas Lorenz. He is wanted in this city for a brutal murder committed about four years ago in a disreputable house on Clark street, near Polk, the victim being the keeper of the place, a woman with whom Lorenz had consorted for two or three years. She was about 30 years old, had been married several times, and had been known for years as a dissolute character. At one time she kept a bagnio on Polk street where Lorenz was her barkeeper. The Polk street establishment broke up, and the couple were separated for a time, Lorenz soon becoming known as a thief and vagrant, and often getting arrested. In June, 1880, Mrs. Shea started a new place, and, as Lorenz heard, lavished her affections on another man. When he learned this he visited the house. Mrs. Shea was putting down carpets and her old love was received rather coldly. A quarrel ensued, and in a jealous rage Lorenz grabbed up a large pair of carpet-shears which were lying near and plunged the blades through the woman's skull. She died at the County Hospital two days later. Lorenz escaped and went to Milwaukee, thence to Cincinnati, and from there to St. Louis. He was peddling weinerworst there when he was recognized by the keeper of a house of ill-fame who had once "boarded" with Mrs. Shea. She notified the police. Lieut. Duffy will start at once for St. Louis after the prisoner.

SUING THE CITY.

DR. DE WOLF THINKS THAT JOHN DRAKE HAS CAUSE FOR ACTION.

Health Commissioner De Wolf was asked what he thought of John Drake's position in regard to bringing suit against the city for violating its own smoke ordinance, it being a well-known fact that the furnace at City-Hall smoked outrageously.

"I think," replied the Doctor, "that Mr. Drake is entirely right. Both the city and the county ought to be indicted. I always claimed that it was no use for the city to make laws unless it obeyed them itself. I would sue the city myself, but I cannot, as the Corporation Counsel decided that the city could not sue itself, on the same principle that 'the King can do no wrong.' I have, however, endeavored to have the Citizens' Association bring suit against the city. I think Drake has a good cause for action."

"Why is not the City-Hall provided with a smoke-consumer?"

"I have been trying to have Cregier buy one for a long time—he has charge of the building. You better ask him about it."

"In case of an indictment which city official would it fall upon?"

"The law states that an official who does not do his duty may be indicted. You know who has charge of the building."

SUSPENDED ANIMATION.

A QUEER CASE WHICH PUZZLED EVERY ONE BUT THE SUBJECT.

About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon a well-dressed man apparently about 40 years old entered the apartments of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 148 Madison street, walked into a corner of a room, placed his left hand over his eyes, and stood immovable. He continued this attitude so long that it attracted the attention of others in the room, and at length he was spoken to, but made no reply nor movement. He retained this demeanor for three hours, resisting all efforts to arose him, and at 4 o'clock, anticipating something serious in his condition, a patrol-wagon was summoned. The man, still rigid as death, was borne to the vehicle and conveyed to the County Hospital. His condition puzzled the examining physician, and another was called in consultation. It was clearly a case of suspended animation. Restoratives were applied but without effect. Said one physician, "We will have to administer a powerful electric current."

"Don't do that, there's nothing the matter with me, I'm all right." The subject made this reply. He had suddenly regained animation, and his features expressed the alarm he felt at the proposed treatment. The astonishment of the doctors increased.

"Had he no physical complaint?"

"No."

"Nor mental?"

"No. I will tell you about it later." He would make no further explanation of his strange conduct, though subsequent efforts were made to induce him to account for his vagary. He would neither tell his name, where he lived, nor what he hoped to derive from such an action. A memorandum-book in his pocket had "Willie Beck" written upon it. This is the only approach that could be gained towards an identity, as he was an entire stranger to all. The hospital authorities turned him adrift about 10 o'clock.

LAW FINDINGS.

A LEMONT TOWN TREASURER IN TROUBLE—OTHER MATTERS.

Daniel C. Skeely, a Justice of the Peace at Lemont, and since 1882 Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, was yesterday made defendant in two heavy suits. He was defeated for reëlection this spring, and on the installment of his successor he was asked to turn over his books and funds. He did so, when it was discovered his accounts were short to the amount of $4,500. He admitted the defalcation, but explained it by saying he had lent the money to Edwin Walker, one of his bondsmen, but that it would be repaid. The Town Trustees thereupon began two suits, one for $10,000 against Skeely and Edwin Walker and Thomas Brasall, his bondsmen in 1882, and the other for the same amount against Skelly and John Gannon and Augustus Dolan, his bondsmen last year, to recover the amount of the deficiency, it not being known in what year the money was taken.

Judge Woods yesterday concluded the hearing of the motion for temporary injunction in the Chicago & Evanston Railroad bridge case, and took it under advisement. The motion for injunction in the Perew case and for a stay of proceedings in the condemnation case will be argued before him at Indianapolis the 12th inst. The two bridge cases which were recently decided by Judges Gardner and Shepard will be argued before the Superior Court at Mt. Vernon Tuesday.

Justice Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court, will be here on his circuit the 15th inst. A calendar of cases is now preparing for him to hear.

Judge Gardner's calendars for the May term are now ready for distribution. Cases before Judge Shepard for the same term will be found at the end of Judge Gardner's calendar.

Judge Rogers will commence a general call of the common-law docket Monday, May 19, at 9:30 a. m., and call the pending cases from term No. 1 to 500 that morning, announcing the call from day to day, during which all cases will be peremptorily disposed of unless good and sufficient reason is shown to the contrary.

CRIMINAL COURTS.

THE WINNETKA BUTCHER'S TRIAL.

John Van Arman has been retained as assistant counsel for Neal McKeague, whose trial begins tomorrow before Judge Anthony. The prisoner remained in consultation with his new attorney for several hours yesterday. He looked cheerful, and said he was prepared to go before a jury and submit his case. He was a trifle paler than usual and less talkative. Mr. Hardy, of counsel, has made all arrangements to have his witnesses present, and the State is also fully prepared for trial. Superintendent Robertson, of the Pinkerton Agency, was closeted with State's-Attorney Mills during the afternoon, talking over the case. Great precautions have been taken to keep secret the names of witnesses until they are called on the stand. One hundred jurors have been summoned for service.

VAN BEREN'S EXCUSE.

Fred Van Beren was recently convicted by a jury on four charges for selling liquor to minors. Yesterday when he was called up for sentence his lawyer, Harry Rubens, presented an affidavit signed by Dr. S. A. Henni, of No. 567 West Chicago avenue, which set forth that defendant had his leg injured by a fall, and was unable to leave his bed by reason of such injury. Assistant State's-Attorney Anthony insisted on the disposition of the case. Sentence should be imposed, and if Van Beren was too sick to be remanded, the Sheriff would place an officer at the house to watch him. Judge Williamson would not listen to the argument and postponed sentence. The motion for a new trial was overruled.

NOT ON THE RECORD.

A motion for a continuance was made before Judge Williamson in the case of John Dunn, one of the Second Ward Democratic judges of election indicted with Robert Hill, now serving his sentence, for refusing admission to a challenger. The motion was granted, but the fact was not mentioned in the record by Clerk Bell. The reporters were not present during the proceedings, and the matter was kept quiet. Ex-County-Commissioner William Fitzgerald, one of Dunn's bondsmen, is making every effort to have the default of his bond set aside, and a motion was entered some time ago to that effect before Judge Hawes, who ordered the recognizance forfeited. The arguments should have been made in a few days, but somebody brought the matter before Judge Williamson without letting the public know it.

THE LOTTERY CASES.

The cases of the twenty-five lottery and policy dealers who were indicted three months ago are set for trial Wednesday. Mr. Mills has expressed a desire to prosecute them himself, and as he will be engaged in the McKeague trial that day it may be safely said that the cases will be passed again. The defendants may demand the reason why they are not tried and ask to be discharged for want of prosecution according to law, which provides that:

Any person committed for a criminal or supposed criminal matter and not admitted to bail and not tried at or before the second term of the court having jurisdiction of the offense shall be set at liberty by the court, unless the delay shall happen on the application of the prisoner. If such court, at the second term, shall be satisfied that due exertions have been made to procure the evidence for and on behalf of the people, and that there are reasonable grounds to believe that such evidence may be procured at the third term, it shall have power to continue such case till the third term. If any such person shall have been admitted to bail for a crime other than a capital offense the court may continue the trial of said cause to a third term if it shall appear by oath or affirmation that the witnesses for the people of the State are absent, such witnesses being mentioned by name and the court shown wherein their testimony is material.

THE GRAND JURY.

THEIR REPORT ON THE CONDITION OF THE POOR AND THE VOLUME OF TAXATION.

A remarkable document in the shape of a grand jury report was presented to Judge Williamson yesterday by the body which finished its business for the April term. The paper was notable in several ways, and when the Judge read it he smiled significantly. Its contents were made the subject of discussion among lawyers, and one of them remarked: "While it does not name exactly what it is aiming at, this report is clearly in favor of the obnoxious Cullerton, Riley & Co. tax scheme, the insane asylum business being thrown in to emphasize it." After describing a visit to the Poor-Farm, which was found in an orderly condition, the grand jurors report:

In the insane asylum we found 632 patients—294 men and 338 women. The building proper has a capacity for housing 350 patients comfortably, but we found that the institution is overcrowded to such an extent that the health of the inmates must be greatly affected thereby. We further found that about 100 of these unfortunate human beings are penned up in one of the old wooden buildings formerly used as a poor-house, which is entirely unfit for a human habitation in the winter season. This building is a regular fire-trap, with floors nearly worn through and with hardly any ventilation. The patients are crowded in a room which should not contain more than fifty persons, even if the ventilation were perfect. The water supply is insufficient, and something will have to be done immediately to get good, clear, and healthy drinking water. The gasoline and kerosene lamps used for lighting purposes are in our opinion very dangerous, and ought to be replaced by gaslights. The gas could easily be supplied from a small gas-work. The sewer is too small and caves in. It needs constant repairing to such an extent that a new sewer perhaps would be less expensive.

We consider it cruel, inhuman, and a disgrace to Cook County that there are not sufficient and proper buildings for these pitiable human beings, many of whom have had their pleasant homes and been citizens of good standing in our midst heretofore. We found these people crowded together, from two to five in each room originally intended for one occupant, and this being the case the employés have to use extraordinary precautions to prevent murder and suicide.

We felt disposed to censure the Board of Commissioners for this gross neglect, but found on further investigation that although there is a unanimous disposition on the part of that body to remedy these defects, the revenue of the county is not sufficient to meet the demands made on the County Treasury. The population of the county has about doubled in number since 1871, and the number of poor, sick, and insane persons, orphans, jail inhabitants, etc., for whom the community is called on to provide, has more than doubled since 1871; besides, more courts have been established, and the force of employés in nearly every county office had to be increased since that time in order to manage the immense work accruing from the increase of population. The revenue of the county has not increased in the same ratio with the population.

The assessed valuation, as equalized by the State Board in Chicago in 1874, was $303,705,140, while in 1883 it was only $123,230,504. A comparison with the valuation and population of the other eight leading cities of the United States will show Chicago the poorest city of them all. We are of the opinion that the increase of taxable property in Cook County has kept full pace with the growth of its population, and that the shortage in county revenues is due to the following two causes: First, the very low assessment of property; and second, the escape of very much property from taxation which by law should be taxed. Hence the cause of the shortage in county revenues lies with the Assessors of the several towns of the county, and they should be called on to account for their actions. If they do not comply with the revenue laws of the State, as provided in Chap. 120, Revised Statutes of Illinois, we most earnestly beg the honorable Board of County Commissioners to see that this state of affairs is corrected, so that they can provide for the poor, infirm, and demented people in a measure becoming to this great County of Cook and its inhabitants.

A STRANGE CASE.

THE PHENOMENON MANIFESTED BY AN INSANE MAN.

A sad and singular incident occurred yesterday at lower Farwell Hall, immediately after the noonday prayer-meeting for the study of the Sunday-school lesson. Among those present at the meeting was a man about 30 years old, well dressed, wearing a soft hat, kid gloves, polished gaiters, and carefully parted and brushed hair, whose name is unknown. Mr. Howser, the General Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association, had met him twice before, once a year ago, and once six months ago. At the first meeting the stranger said he was a law student from Boston, and that he had come to Chicago to begin the practice of his profession. He was very attentive to the address of Mr. W. B. Jacobs in the Sunday-school lesson yesterday, and remained in the hall some time after the congregation had gone out. He entered into conversation with Mr. Howser, and soon showed that his mind was deranged. He said the whole hour had been as good as wasted, and wanted permission to lead the next meeting himself. He lifted his eyes and prayed the Holy Spirit to show Mr. Howser that he was qualified to teach some new and valuable truths. Mr. Howser left him after awhile, and when the janitor went in to close up the room he found a strange tableau before him. The insane man had started to go out by the door leading to Arcade court, and met in the passage a blind gentleman who was coming in to attend a meeting for the blind in the Chinese room. The insane man caught the blind man by the wrist, hugged him up closely, and conducted him back into the hall without uttering a word. The blind man took it all in good part for a few moments, but when he found that he was held in a grip like a vise, which was getting tighter every instant, and that the man who was holding him would not speak, he became very much frightened, and with a tremendous effort shook off the insane man and regained his liberty. He fell over a chair or two, but picked himself up and felt his way back into Arcade court in a hurry. The insane man then sat down in a chair, folded his arms, closed his eyes with his thumb and forefinger, and sat there like a statue for two or three hours. At last Mr. Howser's attention was attracted to him, and, after trying in vain to arouse him, the patrol-wagon was summoned, and the officers satisfied themselves that the stranger was deranged. They tugged on his arm with all their strength without being able to remove his fingers from his eyes and without eliciting the faintest symptom of sensibility. Then they lifted him out to the wagon and carried him to the County Hospital. The surgeons of the hospital examined him and found that he was insensible to the prick of a pin anywhere except on the soles of the feet. They, too, concluded that he was insane. His pockets were searched for papers, and were found to contain nothing except a pocketbook, in which were a dodger for the services at the Railroad Mission on State street and nine visiting-cards, each having the name of "Mr. Charles M. Morton," the pastor of the mission, engraved on one side, and the name of "W. B. Young" engraved on the other side. It is not known of course whether W. B. Young is his name or not. The only W. B. Young in the city directory is William B. Young, salesman at No. 148 Market street, and boarding at 1024 West Monroe street. The insane man's hand dropped from his eyes when he reached the hospital, leaving deep indentations in his face, but he has not yet spoken a word.

MANITOBA.

ITS ATTORNEY-GENERAL SAYS THERE IS NO REAL TALK OF SECESSION.

Attorney-General J. A. Miller, of Manitoba, passed through Chicago Friday on his way to London, Eng., where he will appear before the Privy Council of the British Empire in regard to the boundary dispute existing between Ontario and Manitoba.

Speaking with a reporter for THE TRIBUNE at the Grand Pacific, he said that he had fair hopes of a settlement in favor of the claim of his province, which would make the eastern boundary of Manitoba end at a line which, running north and south, would about strike the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers.

Mr. Miller characterized the talk about dissatisfaction in the Northwest with the Ottawa Government as mere newspaper sensationalism. There were a few restless spirits in Manitoba, as there were in every country, who, finding themselves flat broke, wanted a change, hoping to thereby better their condition. But there was no real sentiment in favor of secession from the Dominion. Sir John A. Macdonald had been so busy with the Canadian Pacific Railroad and other matters that he had pursued his usual policy of "putting off," and Manitoba's interests had perhaps not received requisit consideration, but that could be attended to in time.

In regard to the projected railway from Winnipeg to Hudson Bay he said that Hugh Sutherland, who had a charter granted by the Dominion Government, was about to start to London to try and float a loan, and he was confident he would succeed.

The Telephone Wires and the Roofs—Suggestions as to a Public Library Building.

"I have recently been paying some attention to this telephone-wire question," said THE TRIBUNE'S Washington street observer yesterday afternoon, "and think that it is time for owners of buildings to come to an understanding with the company, for, while the network of wires has to a great extent been replaced by cables, the liability of the danger I have in mind has not been done away with except in those cases where the company and the owner have come to a definit agreement. After the lapse of the legal time, which may be from seven to twenty years—I don't know exactly the time—the company can claim possession of these roofs by the right of prescription. I noticed a day or two ago that a case of this kind had been brought before a Vermont court, and that a decision had been rendered against the owner of the building, the company having been permitted to occupy the roof for a length of time that constituted right of possession. The majority of people would probably decide that no such trouble could occur in Chicago. But my idea is, that it is imminent, and that owners of property would do well to look to their interest on this in this regard. Any one versed in real-estate matters knows how hard it is to dispossess a person who has been in possession of real estate in this city for seven years. And if such difficulty is experienced in instances of that character I do not think it difficult to imagine that such a danger exists as I have cited. At least I can't see why owners of property should not be aroused to the necessity of placing these wires underground. If they are a nuisance today on the buildings and in the streets, what will they be twenty years from now? The weight of the wires on many roofs is dangerous now, and, as they must perforce increase in number each year, it will not be long before their removal will become absolutely necessary. When that time arrives owners of roofs will be confronted by the fact of continued possession, and a long and expensive litigation will be the least serious result possible.

"I was told the other day that some men were seriously contemplating the formation of a company for the purpose of leasing all the prominent roofs down-town from the owners who did not object to the wires on the roof, and then compelling the telephone companies to pay a certain sum for the occupancy of them. Whether the scheme will be attempted I do not know, but if it is I do not think an owner of a building who knows what damage the wires may do will consent to leasing the roof for any such purpose. While it might be all proper enough to carry out such a scheme, it would simply operate to postpone the day when the wires are placed underground.

"It looks very much as if the site of the present City-Hall would be as much of a bone of contention as the Lake-Front property has been. I notice in a German paper that Mr. Gurney is in favor of retaining the property and erecting upon it an eight-story building. He argues that it will not be long before the City-Hall, now being completed, will be too small for the accommodation of the city, and that additional quarters will be required. That the building being erected will be required by the county for its enlarged business, and that more can really be made out of the old site by keeping it than by leasing it for $35,000 or even $40,000 a year. While I can't see the necessity of putting up another building for the accommodation of the city, I do not think that the ground should be retained, and a Public Library built upon the site at the earliest possible date. The value of the property will constantly increase, and there is no reason why the people of the city should not be benefited by it. The location will become more central as the South Side develops, and there is no reason why some of the men who have previously threatened liberality in this direction should not be requested to help the city out in erecting a creditable monument in the shape of a library on the site.

"The prospect that all the large building projects that have been from time to time mentioned in THE TRIBUNE during the last winter will soon be carried out is hourly increasing, and as soon as common brick puts in an appearance there will no doubt be great activity among builders. The Chicago Opera-House Company, I see, has put Joe Dixon, ex-Warden of the County Hospital, in charge of the old Exchange Building, which is now about vacated, and as soon as they get somebody to buy the old material it will be taken to pieces and removed. The Pecks have obtained a bill of sale of the premises, and the company has accepted it at the appraisement. Bids have been advertised for and the entire outfit will be lumped off to the highest bidder. Cobb & Frost are hard at work completing the plans, and no time will be lost in letting the contracts and commencing the work of construction.

"I see the old Tivoli Building at the corner of Dearborn street and Calhoun place is vacated, and I understand the contracts for material are being let. Mr. John Quincy Adams, the owner of the ground, and the projector of the improvement, is expected home in a day or two, if he has not already arrived, and the ten-story structure will go ahead and be finished by fall. Mr. Adams, who, by the way, has been active during the last few years in improving his down-town real estate in a most substantial manner, has been at Rome most of the winter, and I understand he will return much improved in health.

"Messrs. Burnham & Root, the designers of the new nine-story building to occupy the John Mason Loomis lot on La Salle street, I am told are completing the plans for that structure, and, as noticed last Sunday, the building will go ahead rapidly as soon as started, which will be in a day or two.

"My informant also says Mr. Beman is as busy as a bee on the plans for Mr. Field's eleven-story structure, corner of La Salle and Monroe, and that he is sure to make it equal if not eclipse the Pullman building.

"I heard just awhile ago that a syndicate was figuring for a lot in the vicinity of the Post-Office upon which was to be erected a building for stores and offices that would be little smaller than the Armour-Kent projected building. But I can't give you any facts just now. They will develop later, I hope.

"About the only building project of importance that I hear won't be carried out just now is that of the McNeill estate, that I spoke to you of the other day. There is a chance, however, Mr. Malcom McNeill says, that the work will go ahead next fall."

The Demand for Small Houses.

During the last few years it has been a great puzzle to house-hunters to find small houses and low rents in desirable localities, on the North and South Sides especially. Some years ago it was very easy to find small and comfortable dwelling-houses and cottages in first-class neighborhoods and in easy reach of the business centre, but most of these have been crowded out by stores and finer residences, and it is almost impossible to discover at the present time a combination which shall embrace a rental of $25 a month, a good neighborhood, and a close proximity to the heart of the city. Of course this forces the men of limited means to accept rooms or flats in some large building or to go out into the section where desirable cottages and dwellings may be secured at a comparatively low rental. After the fire the extension of business up Wabash avenue crowded many of these small habitations out, and on the North Side the growth of business south of Chicago avenue has effected a like result. All of this has its disagreeable side to some, but it testifies to the growth of the city.

What Shall Be Done with the Rookery Lot?

Nothing has been done in regard to the proposed lease of the old City-Hall since the Council defeated the resolution providing that the Mayor and Controller should take the matter in hand and endeavor to effect a lease of the property. During the week Controller Gurney has suggested that, in view of the fact that the new City-Hall would in time be too small to accommodate all of the city officers, an office building be erected on the old City-Hall site by the city, so that the city could occupy rooms in the building when necessary and obtain a good rental from offices and stores not used by the city. He suggests, also, that the basement of such a building could be used as a store-room for city goods, records, etc. Mr. Jacob Weil, the real-estate man, who has taken quite an interest in this proposed lease, said yesterday that he had heard no new plans regarding the property excepting Controller Gurney's suggestion, which he thought was much better than a lease for ninety-nine years at a rental of $30,000 without revaluation. He did not know what the city authorities would do, and he thought they were rather afraid to do anything at present. He intended to await developments.

A Heavy State Street Sale.

Yesterday afternoon Jacob Weil & Co. negotiated one of the largest sales of down-town business property that have been made this spring, it being the lot, with building, at the southeast corner of Adams and State streets. The lot is 80 by 140 feet in size, and the building is of the same size and four stories and basement in hight, constructed of stone and iron. It was erected by the McCord estate soon after the fire, and has been now sold for it to Mr. Henry J. Willing, late of the firm of Field, Leiter & Co., for $252,000. It is said that Mr. Willing will put several new stories on the building, which now pays a good percentage on the money invested.

The Market.

The real-estate market for the last week was active and values were even better than previously this spring. There were as many or more sales above $10,000 than during any former week of the year, and the aggregate of transactions is better than was expected in view of the not too pleasant weather. There were no very important features to note, but dealers were unanimous in the belief that the market would continue to improve until far into the summer.

The Master in Chancery sold to the Connecticut Mutual Life-Insurance Company a lot at the southwest corner of Hurlbut street and Webster avenue, 551 by 125 feet for $23.985.

Peyton R. Chandler bought of the estate of Mittie C. Strong the premises Nos. 332 to 336 West Washington street for $25,000.

The southeast corner of North Clark street and Garfield avenue, 60 feet to Franlin street, was purchased by Augustus Bauer from R. A. Bower, for $24,000.

The Union National Bank sold to F. and J. Frieberg a lot on Twenty-second street, 132 feet west of Wabash avenue, south front, 48 by 200 feet, for $84,000.

A. E. and S. A. Kent sold to Kate S. Foster a lot on Clark street, 247 feet south of Harrison, 25 by 100 feet, for $18,000.

Raspin B. Cherry sold to Samuel P. Parmly a lot on West Madison street, 131 feet east of Crawford avenue, 165 feet running north to Kinzie street, for $22,000.

Richard B. Clancy sold to Lucille Loeb the premises No. 2684 Prairie avenue for $10,550.

George W. Farwell sold to B. P. Cheney a lot on the southwest corner of Langley avenue and Thirty-eighth street, 84 by 112 feet, for $11,000.

Thomas D. Cook and others sold to Florence H. Durand the improved lot on West Lake street, 119½ feet east of Paulina street, 80 feet to alley, for $28,000.

Abel B. Smith sold to Christian Scheffel the improved lot on La Salle avenue, 71 feet south of Oak street, 28¾ by 114 feet, for $11,000.

George Webster sold to William M. Devine a lot on the northwest corner of Ohio and St. Clair streets, 50 by 100 feet, for $10,000.

Charles P. Dupee sold to George Rump a lot on Wabash avenue, 142½ feet south of Sixteenth street, 37½ by 182 feet, for $19,500.

The improved lot on the northeast corner of Dearborn avenue and Goethe street, 50 by 130 feet, was sold by Richard T. Whipley to Gerhard Becker for $24,000.

Chandler & Co. report the following sales made last week: Dearborn street extension, 300 feet south of Van Buren street, 40 feet, east front, extending through 67 feet to Fourth avenue, $20,600, all cash, or $515 per front foot; Dearborn street extension, 210 feet north of Polk street, 20 feet, east front, running through to Fourth avenue 67 feet, $7,500, all cash, or $375 per front foot; Langley avenue, frame houses on brick basements, Nos. 3800, 3802, and 3804, each renting for $420 per annum, $11,000, all cash; bought for an investment; Vernon avenue, new brick dwellings Nos. 3221, 3225, 3229, $6,000 each, cash and time payments, to three different parties; Twenty-fourth street, No. 38, brick dwelling, $4,000, half cash, balance time; Johnson place, No. 3828, brick dwelling, $4,500, cash and time, for homestead; Montana street, Lake View, near city limits, 164 feet, south frontage, $4,920, or $30 a front foot, one-quarter cash and time payments, to five different parties to erect homesteads; North Western avenue, No. 171, a brick dwelling, $2,500, one-third cash and time, to a homesteader; West Huron street, vacant lot, running through to Bismarck court, $1,300, all cash and special assessments; Temple street, vacant lot just north of West Huron street, $1,050, one-third cash and time, for coal-yard.

Building Memoranda.

For some time past a rumor has been afloat to the effect that Eastern and local parties would erect a large coliseum at the corner of Wabash avenue and Congress street, but it could not be learned that the scheme had assumed any definit shape. It is true that a certain man has attempted the formation of a company for such an object, but as yet it has not got beyond his mind.

The plans for the new building intended for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union are being prepared, and will be ready in a few weeks, so that other arrangements for the proposed structure can be made.

Something over a year ago there was completed a row of pressed-brick stores and flats on the west side of Wabash avenue, running from the railroad track to a point about 100 feet from Sixteenth street, for Maj. Huntington. The structure is three stories in hight and has proved a good investment. It is now proposed to complete the block to Sixteenth street, making the front and interior to correspond with the portion already up. This will necessitate the removal of the building at the corner so long occupied as a drug-store by E. H. Sargent. Mr. Sargent will, however, return to the corner as soon as the building is completed.

A company has been organized for building and operating a skating-rink on Washington boulevard, at the corner of Curtis street, in which Messrs. Willoughby, Hill & Co. are interested. At a meeting of the Directors yesterday Mr. C. L. Willoughby was elected President; F. H. Stanwood, Vice-President; Jay J. Read, Secretary; and David K. Hill, Treasurer. The plans and specifications for the building are being prepared by Messrs. Burnham & Root, and the structure will cost about $50,000. The size of the building will be 125 by 200 feet, and the designs of the architecture insure an important and attractive addition to this fashionable thoroughfare. This place of amusement will be conducted to meet the approval of the respectable amusement-seekers of the West Side.

Building Permits.

The prospect of the early arrival of a new crop of common brick tended to stimulate building operations considerably during the week, and the Building Department was kept quite busy in consequence. Following are the most important permits granted during the week:

A Busy Moving Day.

Chicago has probably never witnessed a more thorough observance of "moving day" than during the last week. In fact the observance of the custom extended over several days of the week, it being noticed that for several days before and the day after the first of the month the work of transferring goods and chattels was going on all over the city. The changes of location in the better residence districts were fewer than in the less pretentious quarters, where the cheaper grade of flats have unfortunately come to abound. This class of abode was given the cold shoulder on every hand, and the result is that there are now more "To rent" signs in second-class flat windows about the city than have ever been seen before. Even the precautions of the landlords of reducing rents did not serve to save many of them. A general reduction was the order of the day, however, and it is not unlikely that the shading of prices will have to be carried beyond the point already reached. As a rule, the decline in prices did not amount to more than from $2.50 to $5 per month, which in a great many instances was not potent toward inducing tenants from removing from them to cottages and modest residences in outlying neighborhoods. Renting-agents were besieged from every quarter by applicants for cottages and two-story houses, and it was estimated by one man that at least one-half as many more of such houses could have been rented than were in the market this spring. Every one of such houses that was in anything like decent repair was rented, and there were many applicants for each particularly good one. A great many people also enjoyed the pleasure of moving from illy-ventilated and poorly-plumbed flats, for which they were compelled to pay large rents, into their own homes, built last year or during the winter. And withal Chicago people who were able to move the first of the month are much better provided for than last year, and owners of cheap flats are correspondingly despondent.

Affairs in Gotham.

A New York correspondent writing to his paper on real estate in the metropolis, and the recent heavy failures of dealers, says: Right in the midst of the real-estate boom that some of the papers have lately been writing up comes the failure of another speculative builder—the leading one, too, Mr. John H. Deane. This is the third failure of the same kind in a few months. Mr. Deane is a lawyer, but he went into building several years ago, believing he could get rich faster that way than at the law. He has built over 1,500 houses, and was credited with having cleared about $1,500,000. All his ventures were in the upper part of the city, and latterly most of them have been in Harlem. It was the Harlem speculation that brought him down. I have been predicting a smash in Harlem for some time, and the failure of Mr. Deane may be the beginning of it. Property in that section has been carried to extravagant figures since the elevated railroads were opened. Whole blocks of lots have been bought at high prices—in many cases higher than prices in the heart of the city—and whole rows of buildings rushed up. The speculators thought everybody would rush to Harlem because they could go in half an hour less time by the elevated roads, and houses would go off like hot cakes. But now there are hundreds of houses up there without tenants, and hundreds more only partly occupied, and many who moved to Harlem within a few years are now moving back to the old neighborhoods, most of them trying to get down as far as Union Square. Why a house in Harlem should bring a higher price than one just as good within ten minutes of Union Square I have not been able to understand, but a good many such sales have been made. The buyers are now getting sick of their bargains. Much of what is said about a real-estate boom is mere bosh. The market is strong for the moment, and there has lately been a great deal of buying, as there always is in March and April, but prices are too high for anything like a general boom to work. There will be more failures among the speculative builders, and I look for lower prices rather than higher when the spring is over. New York can't go on building at the rate of $45,000,000 a year without a set-back now and then."

The World says: The great activity which characterized the market for real estate during the present spring season was somewhat modified last week by the adjournment of several important sales, notably of the apartment-houses known as the "Newport," "Strathmore," and "Adelphi," and of real estate belonging to the corporation of the City of New York. The property offered from day to day under legal orders and in the regular way at auctions was of fairly desirable classes and in the main found ready purchasers, but outside buyers, who are generally numerous just previous to the 1st of May, were fewer and there was not so much competitive bidding. The foreclosure sale of the eleven first-class, brown-stone dwellings held by James L. Wells was, however, fairly successful, as, under the most favorable circumstances, the houses would not bring in open market more than $45,000 each, and they brought, under the stigma of foreclosure proceedings, an average of $40,000 each.

The total amount of city realty disposed of at public action at the exchange during the week amounted to $1,260,460, and the total amount of Brooklyn realty sold during the week amounted to $219,765, or about the same as disposed of in the two cities during the corresponding week of the previous year.

The Astors for some time past have been buying up a great deal of unimproved property on the west side of New York in a quiet way. During the last four years, according to the official record, their total purchases have amounted to $5,200,585. Their latest venture is the purchase of three four-story brown-stone fronts, Nos. 8, 10, and 12 Thirty-eighth street, and No. 415 Fifth avenue, for which they have paid $298,000.

The builders are moderately active, plans for twenty-five first-class dwellings, twelve apartment houses and flats, and about twenty tenement-houses having been filed within the last week; also for several first-class stores, and several for stables and other structures of minor importance, and many more are projected, plans for which are in course of completion by the architects.

Building at the Capital.

A correspondent says of building operations at the National Capital this year:

A large number of handsome residences are being built in Washington this year. Dr. W. A. Hammond, of New York, formerly Surgeon-General of the army, has bought a lot on Columbia Heights of Don Cameron, and he will begin at once to build a handsome home for himself. It will be of a rather unique style of architecture for this latitude, and will be modeled upon the plan of a Mexican house, with an interior court. It will be eighty feet square, and the court will be covered with a glass roof, and so arranged that carriages can be driven into it. There will be balconies running around the court, into which the rooms in the second story will open. Dr. Hammond estimates that this house will cost between $50,000 and $60,000. He has also purchased for his son a lot in the same vicinity. Another house, also in the Mexican style of architecture, is being built by Col. David Ferguson at the corner of Twenty-fourth and M streets. It will be 103 feet long and seventy-five feet wide. It will be only two stories in hight, and will, like that of Dr. Hammond, be built around a court. It will be one of the largest residences in the city. Maj. David Porter Heap is building two handsome houses on Rhode Island avenue, near Fourteenth street. Prof. C. V. Riley is also putting up two fine houses on R street. Mrs. A. M. C. Brooke is building a handsome residence on K street, adjoining the residence of Commissioner Edmunds. The house will be elaborately finished in hardwood. The hall and library will be finished in oak. The drawing-room will be finished in mahogany and the upper floors in California redwood.

BAD QUARTERS.

Those Which Fall to the Lot of the Fire-Laddies.

The following communication was received by THE TRIBUNE yesterday:

Send a reporter to Chemical Engine No. 4, which is now quartered in an old barrack in the rear of No. 238 Chicago avenue, two doors west of the station, if you want a good bit of news. Write up the old shed. The men all have the rheumatism from sleeping there last night. Write it up good, and the boys on the department will appreciate it.

A reporter called at the rear of No. 238 Chicago avenue and found there an old dilapidated barn, a miserable barrack indeed. The holes in the sides and in the roof gave evidence of its old age and that it was fast decaying. The rain of the night previous had dampened the floors, and in several places miniature lakes had been formed. This rookery was formerly occupied by a beer-bottler, who moved away because he was afraid the roof would tumble down some day. He paid $15 rent monthly for it. The city, however, is obliged to give $18. It is in the rear of Bailiff Hansbrough's saloon, and its surroundings are anything but inviting. There were at least two trunk-loads of dirt in the place, which the firemen removed and threw onto the accumulation of garbage lying in an adjoining empty lot. It appears that this latter place has been used as a dumping-ground by the neighborhood, and the heaps of unesthetic compounds which have been piled up there add to the picturesqueness of the scene.

The ground-floor of the ricketty structure will be used to stable the horses, and the hay loft must serve as a sleeping-apartment for four men. Several oval-shaped holes in the boards indicate that it was formerly used to house pigeons. The proximity of the alleged bedroom to the stable and to the dumping-ground will make it almost unbearable during the summer time. The company formerly was quartered on Dearborn, near Huron street, in a comfortable building. This will be torn down to make room for a house to be erected there. Notice was given six months ago that the place was wanted May 1, but very little effort seems to have been made to get a suitable house, since the men were compelled to move into an old shed unfit for human habitation.

NEW DISCOVERY.
TO HORSEMEN:
I have, through a practical experience and study for years, a recipe for the cure of corns on horses that I can warrant to be absolutely certain. I myself have used it up to the present time successfully, in several cases, and have never had a single failure yet. By the use of this, my "New Electric Corn Cure," horses afflicted with corns can be cured permanently, and also so that they can be used with all-open shoes, as I will positively guarantee, no matter to what kind of work they may be subjected, without the possibility of the reappearance of the corn. By my remedy I can cure the worst of cases in less than two weeks, and effect the cure without the use of surgical instruments.
